CAMDEN, S. C., MAY 5, 1911

Why Not Camden?

Dr. Herman B. Baruch of New York City is investigating desirable points in this State with a view of placing a charity hospital costing $1,000,000. No town or city in South Carolina can offer better advantages for this hospital than Camden and we trust that no efforts will be spared to get it here—and we are sure there will not be.

It was stated in the Columbia State of Wednesday that Dr. Baruch formerly resided in Georgetown. This is a mistake. Camden was the Carolina home of Dr. Baruch. For about twenty years he practiced his profession here in Camden, owning and residing in the residence now belonging to Mrs. A. A. Moore on upper Main street. Furthermore Dr. Baruch has a nephew now residing in Camden—Mr. Manassah Baruch, of the firm of Baruch-Nettles. These facts in connection with the many other advantages Camden has to offer should at once place her far in advance of any other point in South Carolina.

Make Our Office Your Headquarters.

Many hundreds of visitors will be in Camden next Wednesday May 10th. To each and every one of them we extend a warm invitation to come to see us. The doors of The Chronicle office will be wide open to them all. If you are thirsty (before the fountain is unveiled) come and drink; if you are tired come and rest. The strength of all no doubt will be put to a severe test, and especially the old veterans will grow tired before the day is over. In The Chronicle office they will find plenty of room and chairs, also a lounge upon which they can take their mid-day nap should any of them feel so disposed. Again we say our doors are wide open to all. Come to see us. Make our office your headquarters.

Our Two Fountains.

The two fountains to be unveiled in Camden next week are fitting tributes to the memory of those for whom they are erected. Generations yet unborn they will tell the story of the valor and patriotism of these sons of Kershaw county. That their memory should be thus perpetuated is just and merited and those who were instrumental in securing them deserve high commendation.

Bloss Perry, professor of English literature in Harvard university, formerly editor of the Atlantic Monthly, entertains a high opinion of the historical value and even of the literary merits of the average newspaper. He believes that the newspaper is a true reflection of contemporary life.

In a recent lecture on "Literature and the Community" Professor Perry said that the English of the newspaper is often of a higher standard than that of books and suggested that it surpasses in quality the speech of everyday life. He praised the newspaper as a historical source and cautioned librarians to beware of disregarding its value as an essential element in the study of current events and life.

There will be an army of 5,000 young men of the rural districts of South Carolina to enlist in the boys' corn clubs this year and several hundred girls will be enrolled as members of the tomato club.

The census of last year shows that the three Pacific coast states, California, Oregon and Washington, now have a larger population than that of the entire thirteen colonies when they started the Revolution.

Teachers Examination.

The regular spring teachers' examination for 1911 will be held in the Court House at Camden Friday, May 5th, commencing at 9 A. M. The questions on Pedagogy are based on McMurry's "How to Study and Teaching how to study," one of the leading classic texts for the current year. The examination in Agriculture is based on "School Exercises in Plant Production" and "School Lessons on Corn," two bulletins issued by the United States Dept. of Agriculture.

Carolina Publishers' Exchange

Baton, April 15.—A number of publishers from different towns in the Piedmont belt met in the office of the Belton Times yesterday and after discussing advertising rates, proceeded to formally organize the Carolina Publishers' exchange, and to formulate plans whereby the publishers of weekly newspapers in South Carolina may demand a more equitable advertising rate. Numbers of other things of interest to weekly newspaper publishers were taken up, and it was decided to make an effort to get all the weekly publishers in the State to come into the organization. A personal letter will be written to each publisher in the State, explaining the purpose of the organization, and its proposed advantages, and another meeting will be called at an early date, at which it is hoped all the publishers of weekly newspapers in this State will be present. Those present were: Ed H. D. Camp of the Gaffney Ledger, J. A. Steek of the Kershaw Courier, W. H. Wells of the Lenoir News, C. T. Martin of the Early Progress, M. L. Rhodes of the Greens News Leader, Geo. B. Moore of the H. H. Path Chronicle, J. A. Willis for the Belton Times.

J. A. Willis was elected president of the exchange, Ed H. D. Camp was elected vice president, and J. A. Steek secretary and treasurer.

YOU are going to see this Spring—and wear, we hope—some of the smartest Clothes ever offered to the well dressed men of this town. You'll see them in our store now; and a little later you'll see them on the men who know what good clothes are.

Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

we're talking about them—are made for men of the most critical taste and discrimination. Everything about these goods is exactly what you would have it, if you were to specify all the details of your own garments. They are clothes made for the wearer, and in his interests; not simply made good enough to sell.

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX use only all-wool fabrics, that's what you want in your clothes; the more you know about the advantages of all-wool the more certain you are to insist on having it. The shape keeping, the service, the quality of the tailoring all depend on that.

Diversity of Style

is one of the many good features of our Spring Millinery. Scarcely one out of a score of customers is unable to find here a shape which seems designed especially for her.

Many of our hats are copies or adaptations of imported pattern hats. They possess all the exclusiveness of the originals, yet the prices are surprisingly small.
