

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but It Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me."

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, that is nothing that will."—Mrs. JANETZKI, 2565 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit. Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Properly Thankful.
Clark Howell of Atlanta tells of the sad case of an elderly dandy in Georgia, charged with the theft of some chickens. The negro had the misfortune to be defended by a young and inexperienced attorney, although it is doubtful whether any one could have secured his acquittal, the commission of the crime having been proved beyond all doubt. The dandy received a pretty severe sentence. "Thank you, sir," said he cheerfully, addressing the judge when the sentence had been pronounced. "Dat's mighty hard, sah, but it ain't anything what I expected. I thought, sah, dat between my character and dat speech of my lawyer dat yo'd hang me, shore!"

HAPPENINGS IN THE CITIES

Seeking Wives for Titled Noblemen

NEW YORK.—American heiresses who may be pining for alliances with Austria's titled youth need pine no longer. The way is open to them, and the method of acquiring a prince or a count of either the Bohemian or Tyrolean variety is so simple that it is within reach of all. There is no mystery about it. Miss Yrma Bleyer of Vienna has arrived here to arrange it all.

"We in Vienna know," says the pretty matchmaker, "that in the United States there are many daughters of millionaires who have had every possible luxury showered upon them since their birth, but who long for what has always seemed to them unattainable, namely, pride of family and social position. I can give them both.

I have on my list two princes, brothers, one twenty-three and the other twenty-five years. Both are officers in the Austrian army, and their regiment is stationed at Vienna. Their family is of ancient lineage and they own two castles in Bohemia. Each has a fortune of $3,000,000. A condition which must be met in the case of both my princes, should I find wives for them, is that the American girls must bring them fortunes equal to their own.

"Another of my clients is a Bohemian count. He is thirty-eight years old. He has traveled extensively and is familiar with American customs. Then there is a baron, a Tyrolean nobleman, whose social rank is so high that only an archduke precedes him at social or official functions. He is thirty-four years old.

"There is one of my clients of whom I can speak freely because he has returned to Austria after a visit to this country, during which he made journeys to several American cities, including St. Louis, Chicago and Cleveland. I refer to Count Hugo Christalnigg. His family estate is at Ysterela, Austria.

"Count Christalnigg, who is about thirty, visited America on a furlough of two months and returned to Austria about six weeks ago after meeting several heiresses. Two of them he found to be impossible. One was very pretty of face, but so fat that her fortune of many millions possessed no attraction for the count. Another parrot of fried potatoes with her fingers, which may or may not be good form here, but which is abhorrent to a well-bred Austrian. But he has hopes of finding one that will be possible."

City of Winnipeg Owns Its Utilities

WINNIPEG, Man.—Before the close of the present year this city will be looked upon as the greatest exponent of public ownership on the American continent. Its investment in public utilities is now more than $30,000,000.

It is nearly a quarter of a century since the city council laid the foundation of municipal ownership by buying out the Winnipeg Water Works company and establishing a municipal plant. So successful did the venture prove that when the city decided to lay asphalt pavements some years later it was decided to install a municipal asphalt plant and the many miles of pavement in this city have been laid by it.

Trouble with the Winnipeg Electric company, which controls the street railway franchise, gas, electric light and power franchises, resulted in the city voting $3,000,000 for a municipal power plant. Out on the Winnipeg river, 65 miles from the city, a plant is now nearing completion. The near completion of this plant and the prospects that the city would build its own street railway system, led the Winnipeg Electric company to sell out to the city. The purchase price is $18,000,000.

Winnipeg's telephone system is also conducted under public ownership, for

SHE KNEW ALL ABOUT SILAS

Mrs. Hopkins Well Understood the Frugality of Her Esteemed Fellow Townsman.

Mrs. Wiggins had "run in" for a minute to talk over the latest news of the village with her friend, Mrs. Hopkins.

"Do you know," she said, "they tell me that Mr. Magee didn't subscribe but 50 cents to the minister's salary. That doesn't seem possible, does it?"

"To anybody that knows Silas Magee real well, it does," replied Mrs. Hopkins. "You haven't lived in this town all your life, Miss Wiggins, and you don't know what Silas is capable of. Why, I remember once when he was a young fellow, going to singing school with the rest of us, we got up a picnic.

"One of the girls spoke up and said she'd bring some chicken sandwiches. 'I'll bring some frosted cake,' says 'I'll bring some frosted cake,' says another.

"'I'll bring some sliced ham,' says another.

"'I'll fetch some jelly and cookies,' says somebody else, and so it went on till we had most everything we could eat, promised. Then one of the boys who had no sisters said he would bring the coffee. That gave Silas his chance. He'd been sitting by, listening to it all, and now he spoke up real brisk, and says he:

"'I'll bring the water for the coffee!'"

"No, Miss Wiggins, I ain't surprised a mite at his subscribing only 50 cents. The only surprising thing is that it wasn't a quarter."—Youth's Companion.

THREE CURED OF ECZEMA

"When a child, I suffered eight years with eczema. I could not sleep at night, and had sores all over my chest. We had doctors and none could do any good, until my mother saw the advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies in the paper. We used Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent, and they cured me of eczema. I also used them on my five children. Two of them had eczema very badly. When my children had eczema, I was not worried at all, as I knew the Cuticura Remedies would do their work. They had sores all over their heads, their hair would fall out, and they would scratch all night and day. They had it on their heads, face, and in back of the ears so that I thought their ears would drop off. I washed their heads and bodies with Cuticura Soap and they are as clean as the driven snow. Cuticura Soap and Ointment also cured my children of ringworm. I would not be without the Cuticura Remedies. They are wonderful." (Signed) Mrs. Violet Cole, 26 S. Redfield St., Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 29, 1910.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole purveyor, Boston, for free book on skin and scalp diseases and their treatment.

YOUTH LIVES IN THE PAST

Wisconsin Boy—Reared by a Talented Recluse Is a Most Accomplished Latinist.

Hayton, Wis.—Gustave Bauman of this place is so complete a Latinist that, could he be transported to ancient Rome, his language would be entirely familiar to him. Aside from his unique knowledge of Latin he is altogether untaught. He has never attended school a day, can speak English not at all and German only in the colloquial form common here. He is 18 years old.

When he was three years old he was adopted by Henry Bauman, a talented recluse who has lived here in a hotel that was once a stable, for many years. Disquieted, he said, by everything pertaining to modern life, Bauman determined to rear his foster son in the atmosphere of a bygone age. The classic tongue of Rome was the only language taught to the boy by his eccentric parent, who was well able to follow his part, he having been a noted Latin scholar in Europe.

When the lad was ten years old he possessed a knowledge of Latin that the school taught youth of twice his age could not hope ever to equal. Now, he speaks the ancient tongue so well and reads and writes it with such fluency that he may well be said to have revived a dead language.

The elder Bauman's desire to bring up the boy in an atmosphere of aloofness from all that is modern has been well carried out. The youth has never ridden on a train, used a telephone or in any way mingled in the life of the village, which, narrow as it is, represents to him the great outside world, full of evils and temptations.

BIBLE THAT BROUGHT $50,000

Rare Book Which Henry E. Huntington Bought from the Robert Hoe Collection.

New York.—This Gutenberg Bible, from the Robert Hoe collection, was sold in New York City at auction to Henry E. Huntington, nephew of the late Collis P. Huntington, for $50,000.

The Gutenberg Bible was printed some time between 1455 and 1465. The value of the copies of the Gutenberg Bible lies not alone in their beauty, great as it is as an example of the bookmaker's art, nor in their rarity, for there are thirty-four copies known to be in existence.

The Gutenberg Bible is the first book known to have been printed from movable types. The catalogue of the Hoe auction says of the copy recently sold:
"Printed on vellum of the finest quality, it is in remarkably clean and fresh condition, the bold gothic characters standing out with undiminished grandeur. Whereas all copies vary slightly, the above is one of the few known to exist with headings at the commencement of the Epistle of St. Jerome, and the First Book of Genesis printed in red, it being presumed that on account of the difficulty encountered in printing in a second color this undertaking was discontinued. In the British museum copy these spaces were left blank. The other chapter headings throughout are written in red in a contemporary gothic hand, thus preserving the symmetry of the page, while the beautiful illuminated initials and decorations, taken in conjunction with the antique and massive appearance of the binding, contribute to make this a truly magnificent example, if not one of the finest in existence. The two leaves, Fo. 269 and 640, which are in facsimile, contain the only defects."

1,800 Foreign Girls Lost.
Indianapolis, Ind.—Eighteen hundred immigrant girls were lost track of after having been received at Ellis Island, and put aboard trains for Chicago and other points in the west, in the last year and a half. Miss Grace Abbott of Hull House, Chicago, said in discussing in the biennial convention of the Young Women's Christian association of America, the problem of caring for immigrant girls. Miss Abbott advocated a federal immigration bureau in Chicago, "as a check on the work of the 'white slavers.' Immigrant girls deserted the quaint shawls and aprons of their native lands for the hobble skirts all too quickly. Miss Abbott said:

Australia Rich in Libraries

Victoria's (Australia) five hundredth free library was opened lately. One and all of the older libraries are well patronized.

The gross revenue received by them in the aggregate from halls, members' subscriptions, and grants is about $340,000. There are about a million books in these libraries, and it was claimed that something like 3,600,000 visits are paid to them in the year. While works of fiction are read to the greatest extent, general literature and history receive a good deal of attention.

"All right," said the judge. "Officer, take this man over to the island and tell them to give him a credit of 30 days."—Harper's Weekly.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

It is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants. THE ONE REMEDY so good that its masses are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine or known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possessions—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.
