

SAWYER'S KID

When something becomes wrong with your stomach, look out! It is the seat of many troubles. If you have gas on your stomach, heartburn, and a heavy, tired feeling, BEWARE. Much so-called heart disease is only STOMACH disease. Gas in the stomach causes a pressure against the heart, makes a palpitation and often causes death. We can supply the medicines your doctor prescribes.

Why would Jack Spratt's wife eat no lean?

Simply because she didn't lean that way!

Fat or Lean?

Jack Spratt would eat no fat, his wife would eat no lean! so this between the two of them they'd eat a meat shop clean! The long and short of it is, that we have the fat and lean of it! Is, your choice, fat or lean?

HERO LOSES LIFE

Skin Grafted on Girl Who Was Terribly Burned in Accident.

Gary, Ind., Oct. 18.—"I guess I turned out to be some good after all," sighed Bill Rugh, this morning, then he turned his face to the wall and died. It was Rugh who a few days ago submitted to the removal of a withered leg that material might be provided for a skin grafting operation that saved the life of a young woman he never had seen.

Physicians said that pneumonia was the cause of Rugh's death, but the ailment resulted directly from his self-sacrifice, having been due to irritation of the lungs by the ether that was given him when his leg was cut off.

Rugh had no relatives and since coming to Gary a tramp several years ago had made his living selling newspapers on the streets.

The girl, Miss Ethel Smith, for whom he sacrificed his leg and later his life, had been horribly burned in a motorcycle accident. It is just two days since her recovery advanced sufficiently to permit her removal from the hospital in which Rugh died.

A Genuine Service.

"I believe," says an old subscriber, "that every time The Youth's Companion enters a home it does that home a genuine service." That describes the purpose of the publishers exactly. The paper is not filled with mischievous or idle thoughts to fill an idle hour. It provides healthy pastime, recreation that builds up. It is to the minds of eager and impressionable young people what sound athletics are to their bodies.

At a cost of less than four cents a week The Youth's Companion opens the door to a company of the most distinguished men and women in America and Europe. Whether they are revealing the latest discoveries in science, or describing great industrial achievements, or telling of their wanderings in strange corners of the world, or feeding the imagination with rare stories, they are giving Companion readers the best of themselves.

Seven serials at least will be published by The Companion in 1913, and nearly 200 other complete stories, in addition to some 50 special contributions, and a treasure-box of sketches, anecdotes, expert advice as to athletic sports, ideas for handy devices round the house, and so forth—long hours of companionship with the wise, the adventurous and the entertaining. Announcement for 1913 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address on request.

Every new subscriber who sends $2.00 for the fifty-two weekly issues of 1913 will receive as a gift The Companion Window Transparency and Calendar for 1913, the most exquisite novelty ever offered to Companion readers; also, all the issues of the Companion for the remaining weeks of 1912, free.

The Youth's Companion, 144 Berkley St., Boston, Mass. New Subscriptions received at The Chronicle Office.

"Mutt and Jeff."

The best of all cartoon plays, "Mutt and Jeff", will be the next attraction at the Opera House on Monday, Oct. 28. In fact the mere announcement of this sterling piece of laughter and mirth should occasion considerable pleasure for it is a rarity now-a-days to witness a play that can really tickle one's risibilities, but in this instance we know whereof we speak for the offering has been tried and not found wanting. In the production Manager Gus Hill has mustered a capable and efficient company. Everybody connected with the organization is a well seasoned performer and they all combine to make the production one of infinite joy. The leading characters are known from one part of the world to the other. They are always in the public eye, so to speak, and their escapades and adventures are apparently of just as much moment as the doings of some of the prominent politicians or of our greatest men. "Mutt and Jeff" were created to make this gloomy mundane sphere of ours happy and contented. That they have accomplished this is evident if the phenomenal success of the piece is any criterion. That they will make many hearts glad and satisfied during their stay in town goes without saying. Nothing has been overlooked to make the play worth while in every respect and if you have never seen "Mutt and Jeff" on the stage, don't fail to see them now. You will surely like them.

School Day at County Fair. Friday, November 8th, has been selected for School Day. Also on this date the Boys' Corn Contest and the Girls' Tomato Contest will be held. Interesting programs have been arranged for each of these features.

SORDID TALE OF T. R.'S FUND

Treasurer Sheldon and J. P. Morgan Tell of Millions Subscribed in 1904.

BIG FAVORS IN RETURN

Frick, Gould and Morgan Gave $100,000 Each—Corporations Gave 73 1/2 Per Cent. of Entire Amount Received.

John D. Archbold's statement that the Standard Oil company contributed $100,000 to Mr. Roosevelt's campaign fund in 1904 was confirmed by George R. Sheldon, who succeeded Cornelius N. Bliss as treasurer of the Republican national committee.

Not only did the Standard Oil company give $100,000 to elect Mr. Roosevelt president, but J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. gave $100,000, H. C. Frick gave $100,000 and George Gould gave another $100,000. Mr. Sheldon testified that 73 1/2 per cent of Mr. Roosevelt's total campaign fund was contributed by corporations.

Naturally these people gave their money freely to the Roosevelt campaign fund. Testifying that he had contributed $150,000 to the Roosevelt campaign fund in 1904 because he was "especially interested," Mr. J. P. Morgan added, "The only interest we had was in the welfare of the public."

Mr. Morgan emphasized his devotion to Mr. Roosevelt's political fortunes by the further statement that J. P. Morgan & Co.'s usual contribution to Republican campaign funds was only $100,000; that he never heard of any donation by his firm to the Democrats; that when Mr. Taft was a candidate in 1908 the sum subscribed was $30,000 and that this year neither he nor his banking house had subscribed a dollar.

How It Was All Done.

To grasp these pregnant facts we have only to recall a little modern history. In 1904 Mr. Roosevelt had his bureau of corporations in working order. Mr. Cortelyou, lately in control of it as secretary of commerce and labor, had been made chairman of the national Republican committee. He and Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer, were collecting money. As George R. Sheldon, Mr. Bliss' successor, says, 73 1/2 per cent of the funds received came from the menaced corporations.

If we do not find in these disclosures a sufficient explanation of J. P. Morgan & Co.'s "special interest" in Mr. Roosevelt's election, it is possible that later events may reveal it.

Mr. Roosevelt never prosecuted J. P. Morgan & Co.'s steel trust. He emphatically stopped the proceedings instituted by others against J. P. Morgan & Co.'s harvester trust. When the panic of 1907 was at its height he turned the resources of the treasury over to J. P. Morgan & Co., who used them and made money and reputation by the process. He met Gary and Frick, representing J. P. Morgan & Co.'s steel trust, before breakfast one morning and licensed them, in violation of law, to absorb the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, thus giving J. P. Morgan & Co.'s steel trust a monopoly of high grade iron ore. He put Mr. Bacon, a partner of J. P. Morgan & Co., into the state department and the diplomatic service. He made Herbert Satterlee, J. P. Morgan's son-in-law, assistant secretary of the navy. In a letter to Attorney General Bonaparte he testified feelingly to the virtues of the "Morgan interests" which have been so friendly to us. Never before was the "public welfare" so cheaply protected.

Extent of Morgan's Interests.

The "Morgan interests" are not confined to J. P. Morgan & Co. by any means. The Morgan interests comprehend life insurance companies, banks and trust companies, railroads and manufacturing enterprises. If the parent house increased its regular Republican contribution in 1904 because of its "special interest" we may easily imagine that the policy was widely imitated by affiliated corporations and individuals. Perhaps in this almost unexampled favor by the Morgan interests we shall find an explanation of the Roosevelt administration hostility to the Standard Oil interests, which have not always agreed with J. P. Morgan & Co. concerning "the welfare of the public."

It may be that the senate committee will be able to throw more light on this point, but it can hardly add anything to the scandal of the Morgan-Roosevelt alliance. It was Mr. Roosevelt who opened up to J. P. Morgan & Co. the possibilities of government by big business. It was Mr. Roosevelt who persuaded J. P. Morgan & Co. to plunge deeply into politics. It was Mr. Roosevelt who, consulting "the public welfare," registered the decrees of J. P. Morgan & Co. in the White House. Not until Mr. Roosevelt had lost control of the Republican machinery and the law providing for publicity of campaign contributions had gone into effect did J. P. Morgan & Co. disappear from the list of regular contributors to the colossal corruption funds of the Republican party. Are J. P. Morgan & Co. now operating politically under cover of their recent partner, George W. Perkins?—New York World.
