For The Epworth Orphanage.
 The Ladies Aid Society of the Lytleton Street Methodist church have just completed six beautiful quilts for the Orphanage. The quilting was done in the spacious rooms of the handsome home of this church, and the social feature was exceedingly pleasant, as their tongues were as nimble as their needles. And then, too, it was a pleasure to see on their faces that blended so beautifully, as only the most delicate pastel shades were used in making the quilts that are destined to warm the lads and lassies who have bright, silken threads running through the gray homespuns of life.

A Marriage of Interest.
 We clip the following from the Asheville Citizen.
 The many friends of Mr. Osborn, in this city join in congratulations. He has brought his bride to Camden, where she will be pleasantly received. They are stopping at the attractive home of Mrs. John Mc-Smyth on Lytleton Street.

The many friends that Mr. Osborn has made during his stay in this city will guarantee a hearty welcome to his bride.
 The marriage of Miss Sue Agnes Carland, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Carland, of Fletcher, and Mr. Julius Hamilton Osborn, of Camden, South Carolina, occurred yesterday at the Methodist church of Fletcher. The ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. Henry J. Grose. The church was beautifully decorated. The colors were yellow and white, the flowers used being principally chrysanthemums. Miss Kathleen Elena Jones was maid of honor, and the ring bearer was the four-year-old little Miss Margaret Johnstone. Mr. Eugene Carland, a brother of the bride gave the bride away. Miss Bertha Caslins, of Tampa, Fla., sang charmingly, "All for You," prior to the entrance of the bride party. "O Perfect Love" was sung by Miss Caslins after the prayer. Miss Carland wore a traveling gown of green and carried white chrysanthemums. The gown of Miss Jones was yellow and she carried chrysanthemums of corresponding shade. The wedding marches were played by Mrs. J. F. Bailey, of Canton, N. C. After Nov. 1st Mr. and Mrs. Osborn will be at home at Camden, S. C., where Mr. Osborn is superintendent of the Southern Cotton Oil company. The wedding was attended by the relatives and a number of the most intimate friends of the principals. Miss Carland, who is a most attractive girl, is related to a number of prominent North Carolinians and has many friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham Return.
 Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Cunningham have returned from their wedding trip North and are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Black on Academy street until their new home in Woodland is completed.
 Mr. Cunningham was married to Miss Nell Thompson, of Liberty Hill, last Thursday, the wedding being a very quiet one, and they left immediately afterward on a trip from which they have just returned.
 This wedding came as quite a surprise, but on account of Mr. Cunningham's popularity his bride will receive a hearty welcome among the Rock Hill people.—Rock Hill Herald

CURRENT WIT and HUMOR

Wearing Apparel.
 They sat by the seafaring sea. Some waves danced the turkey trot, and other waves murmured. But they were thinking only of each other.
 "May I kiss your scarf?" ventured he.
 "No," said she.
 "Perhaps the hem of your jacket?"
 "Speaking of wearing apparel, why not kiss my coat of tan?" she suggested.
 Then he got wise.

The Folly of Women.
 "Women are the slaves of fashion," he grumbled.
 "Yes, dear," his wife replied, "I know. We are an awfully silly lot. By the way, I found your last summer's straw hat yesterday, and it's just as good and as clean as new. Shall I get it for you?"
 "What! Do you want me to make myself ridiculous by wearing that thing? It isn't the right shape for this season."

No Time for Trifles.
 "Have you ever stopped to consider the fact that if you had $1,000,000, the interest on it at the safe rate of four per cent. would amount to $40,000 a year?"
 "No, I've been kept so darn busy earning my three dollars a day that I haven't had time to pause and consider fool things like that."

Has His in Bunches.
 "I don't believe my husband has a single fault," she said.
 "I congratulate you," her friend replied. "He is the only perfect man I have ever heard of."
 "He isn't perfect. I said I didn't believe he had a single fault. The word single means only one, doesn't it?"

MUD IS BENEFICIAL.

Grudge—Do you think mud baths are beneficial?
Smudge—Certainly. Whenever insurance and political grafters begin slinging mud at each other, the truth very quickly comes out.

The Summer Widower.
 He eyes the sink, forsaken sink; He thinks of wife and wishes That she was here to wash and wipe Those 7,000 dishes.

A Long Jump.
 A political orator, evidently better acquainted with western geography than with the language of the Greeks, recently exclaimed with fervor that his principles should prevail "from Alpha to Omaha."—Christian Register.

An Exclusive Dame.
 "Lucille," said the haughty lady. "Yes, madam?" said the maid. "Look out of the window and see if any other lady is using the ocean. If not, I may take a bawth."

The Last Resort.
 "What do you think? Miss Oldgirl says she is thinking of going on the stage."
 "H'm! It must be the stage of utter hopelessness, then."

The Wretch!
 Young Lady—Guard, will I have time to say good-by to my friends?
 Guard—Afrid not, miss. This train leaves in two hours and a half.—Sacred Heart Review.

Easy Judgments.
 "Solomon was a wise man."
 "Oh, he had it easy. There were no technicalities in his day, nor did he have to decide cases with the alienists evenly divided."

Consistent.
 Wigwag—Have you congratulated the bride and groom?
 Henpecke—No, sir, I have not. I may be lots of things, but I am no hypocrite.

Another Bridge Club.
 Like a tiny speck on the social horizon has appeared the "Four Leaf Clover" bridge club, beginning with only one table of bridge, and its membership composed of four winsome maids of the younger set—Misses Clara Wallace, Minnie Craig Taylor, Jean Lindsay and Ethel Yates. The club is to meet every two weeks, on Friday afternoons. They serve refreshments and at the end of the season will give a score prize.
 The "Four Leaf Clover" will take its charms, good luck, and fulfillment of wishes, to the home of Miss Clara Wallace, who is to be the hostess next Friday afternoon.

In The Woods at Bloomsbury.
 Tempted by the beautiful day that brought back the gold of the summer sunshine and made the October evenings more desirable than the merry month of May, the Cherokee Camp Fire girls went out last Saturday for a lark and a picnic. In the woods at "Bloomsbury" they found an ideal spot. The hectic fever of the dying year kindled gleams of fiery red, orange and golden yellow—over all, a gorgeous blazonry of riotous color was toned down by the deep shadows of the woods, and the rich, dark restful green of the polished magnolias. The happy Camp Fire Girls spent a delightful noon and stayed until the sun had gone down in the green sea of far off pine tops and the western sky glowed like some vast altar of topaz, gold and vivid rose that cooled their flush in the blue of the darkening sky. And then one more day of happy memories was added to the evergreen garland of life.

Mutt and Jeff.
 A large audience greeted this popular musical comedy on last Monday evening at the opera house. None that we have heard of were disappointed. The stage settings were attractive, the girls pretty, the songs catchy and Mutt and Jeff irrepressible. For three hours the packed house was highly entertained, showing their appreciation by good hearty laughter and continued applause. The scene on board the ship was particularly attractive, the girls and boys in "fetching" costumes, the songs bright and "breezy" and Mutt and Jeff ever present to weave in a bit of fun.
 The managers of the opera house have certainly done their best so far to amuse and entertain the theatre goers of Camden and they have some fine attractions booked for the season. Liberal patronage will bring good shows to our town, and people need recreation and amusement. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."
 The next attraction is "Introduce Me," tomorrow night.

New Dental Firm.
 Dr. A. A. Patterson and E. H. Kerrison, of Allendale, have purchased the office and equipment of Dr. L. W. Alston and have moved to Camden for the practice of dentistry.
 Their offices are located in the second story of the Mann building on Main Street. Dr. Alston will locate in Atlanta, Ga.
 If you know of an item of news telephone it to The Chronicle. We will appreciate it and it will enable us to give you a much better paper.

WHOLESALE ATTRACTIONS CARRIED BY JOHNNY J. JONES

The Fair Committee in selecting attractions for their Fair to be held here next week determined to procure a clean wholesome entertainment or none at all and in this they have succeeded.
 All the creations of the Johnny J. Jones Shows are new and utterly unlike the attractions of the old style traveling Midway.

Instead of repulsive monstrosities, snake eaters, muscle dancers, suggestive pictures, living and other performances that are offensive to all persons of refinement and subversive of the public morals, the visitors will see only clean wholesome high class entertainments that will in no way offend the most fastidious.

Information from other cities in answer to inquiries vouch for the truth of the foregoing statement.

The Newburg New York (News) said of these Shows: "There is no use mincing words. The Johnny J. Jones Shows are the finest in regards quality, moral tone, and good measure for the money spent that this city has ever seen."

As to quality, those of the public who may feel skeptical can rest assured that each and every one of the Johnny J. Jones exhibits are all that the various agents claim for them, no matter to which tent the foot steps lead.

From the quantity point of view they consist of more individual attractions, a greater number of meritorious features and infinitely more marvelous free acts than any other aggregation and all are wholesome."

Sugars and Syrups

MUCH of the taste and pleasure in eating good food depends on the sugar and syrups used.

Think of the finished delight given to your morning meal when the syrup used with your cakes is pleasing to your taste—note that deliciousness when you drink well-made coffee with the right kind of sugar in it. Small matters—yes—but it is just those small matters that make life a complete success or a round of annoyances. We have studied the question—we pride ourselves on our attention to details of the kind.
