The young people of the neighborhood gathered at the home of Mr. L. L. Young Sunday afternoon and enjoyed a singing. It is suggested that the young people meet at different places every Sunday afternoon to enjoy these singings.
Mr. J. W. Young was in Kershaw Saturday last.
Messrs. Lewis and John Hornsby visited Mr. J. M. Catoe Saturday.
Mr. R. W. Mitcham, of Camden, spent several nights with Mr. L. L. Young while surveying the estate of the late Col. L. C. Hough.
Mr. Alex Workman and sister, Mrs. Mary Sims were visitors at the home of Mr. J. M. Catoe Saturday.
Mr. W. C. Pace, of Cantey, and Mrs. Laura Vincent, were married the 20th inst. we wish them much happiness.

Porter Military Academy.

The following under date of January 25th has been sent us with the request that we publish. The letter explains itself:
"The Scholarships given by the State supported institutions are awarded to the contestants receiving the highest mark in a competitive examination. That is, the one for whom the State, through its public school system, has already done the most, (as a rule the one living in the larger towns), wins the scholarship while the one from whom the State has heretofore done the least and for that reason the most deserving of aid—the boy from the backward community is left at home.
"On the death of Dr. Porter the Porter Military Academy had to be re-organized that it would secure its support from its students, but the policy was continued, as far as limited means would allow, of aiding worthy boys who could not aid themselves and whom the State supported institutions, as indicated above, did not reach. The first method tried was to reduce the rates. This failed because not enough funds were provided to maintain the standards previously set up. Then it was decided to increase the cost to $250.00 and by scholarships to aid the class of boys mentioned above. Certain scholarships are controlled by the Board of Trustees; others by private individuals; still others, and it is about these that I write you, called County Scholarships, worth $50.00 a piece—the amount of the increase—were given, one to each County with the understanding that where any county did not use the scholarship it could be transferred to any other county applying for it.
"There are now but 20 of these scholarships in use. The pro rata part of any of the others would be available for the rest of this scholastic year. They are limited to those unable to pay full rates and the preference is given to those from the localities having the poorest school facilities. There are other ways also of reducing the cost. Full information can be secured by writing to the Porter Military Academy, Charleston, S. C."

"HUMAN HEARTS"

The Attraction at the Opera House Monday, Feb. 3.
The story of "Human Hearts" is one of love, pathos, and devotion, skillfully intermingled and yet serious, and sublime as the theme may be, the play contains many laughable scenes and situations controlled by the quaint characters of Jem Mason the tramp, and Mose, the faithful old negro, who bring out a smile or a good hearty laugh just at a time when some pathetic scene or line of the play is about to bring out handkerchiefs from many in the audience and the childish logic of little Grace Logan brings a tear one moment, and a smile the next. It is such plays as "Human Hearts" that are the most successful and seemingly will live forever. A complete production is carried for the piece, the scenery being handsome and striking in appearance making a befitting frame for the author's story. It is promised that the performance will be worthy of the play and that the performance of "Human Hearts" will be first class in every respect. Its simple story, with the fine character contrasts, have made it a play replete with those elements, which establish popular success, leaving a most pleasing impression at its conclusion. It is plays of this kind that best please the general public, and that is why "Human Hearts" has always been such a great success and will always be in popular demand.
