Picnic at Millbank, On last Friday morning a bevy of Camden's pretty girls boarded a wagon and hied away to Millbank for a morning entirely their own. Like a beautiful bouquet represent ing every flower of their own native clime, were the girls that morning. As modern Priscillas with their dainty needle work they looked quit demure and innocent, and no one would have guessed that they were noir, Nancy Lindsay, Lucretia Ba"on mischief bent," but according ker, Ellen Boykin, Catherine and to the Camden correspondent to one Elizabeth Wallace, Wregnie Boykin of the daily papers, it was a suffragette picnic. Ah, well, "appearances are sometimes deceitful," you know. Those attending were Misses Lillian, Vivian and Ethel Yates, Hallie and Elizabeth Corpient lie and Elizabeth Carrison, Jean Clara Wallace and her guest, Miss Ann Strohecker, of Char-leston, Harriett Shannon, Mary Lenoir, Virginia and Minnie Taylor,

On Wednesday afternoon the hom of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haile presented a gay scene. The occasion was in celebration of the birthdays of their two charming little daughters, Elizabeth Jumel, age five, and Virginia Hamilton, who was just 3 years old. About thirty five or forty little girls and boys had been inwere appointed, and other mat- vited to come in and make merry, discussed. The Younger Set Trips the Light Fantastic,

Miss Elise Kirkland was the attractive hostess at a very enjoyable dance Wednedays evening. The handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Kirkland in Kirkwood, was briliantly lighted to shine a welcome to the happy young folks.

The rooms were thrown en suite and cleared for dancing, and the young couples glided over the young smooth floors to the inspiring dance music, given them by Mrs. Bratton deLoach, Mrs. John Cantey, Mrs. L. A. Kirkland and Misses Bessie Le-noir and Jim Eldredge.

Those enjoying the occasion were: Misses Eulalie Yates, Rhetta De-Loache, Nau DeLoache, Margaret Leand Kershaw, Teddy and Toonie de-Loach, Chas. Villepigue, Nettles Lindsay, Scott Strohecker, Deas Boy-kin, Whit Lenoir, Wm. Stoney, Ca-leb Whitaker and John Heath.

A CARD

Some people who do not know, have an idea, that my billiard room is a rough and dangerous place. This is a great mistake. The games are perfectly harmless and as legitimate pastime as a baseball game. I cater only for the business of gentlemen, others are not allowed.

My billiard room is not a pool room, as commonly called, which is explained in a reproduced letter below:

"MR. BILLIARD MAN:"

Can you afford to have your billiard room classed with the gambling outfit, 'race course pool rooms, which have created the impression in the minds of most women and many men of the country, that billiard rooms and betting pool rooms are of the same character. Can you blame the women for this mistake? Certainly not.

"Who then is at fault for bringing a perfectly harmless and legitimate pastime in disrepute?

"The answer is, nobody but the billiard room keeper. Why? Because he calls his place a pool room. "ROOM KEEPERS, wake up-kill the word "pool"-take it from your signs and do not let your customer use it. "All of your tables are 'BILLIARDS' whether they are for caroms or pocket games. Do not permit them to be called anything else.

"Pocket billiards" are the words you should use. You have got to come into line and elevate the tone of your room."
