Advertising in Country Weeklies.

Time was when the county newspaper was glad to get any old price for advertising space. That day, luckily for the publishers, has passed. It is now coming to be recognized that the best possible medium for reaching the people is the one time despised country weekly. This fact has brought the newspapers to a realization of its value to the advertiser, in other words, the country paper thinks more of itself than formerly, and having come to realize that it is of value as an advertising medium, it began to come to demand adequate returns for its space. Come to think of it, a newspaper has no source of income save advertising space and subscription. This latter source of income is, at $1 a year subscriptions, rather limited. The chief source of income is that of space at an unprofitable rate is to journey down the road to destruction. And the poorer the rate the speedier comes the destruction. The county weekly affords a good advertising medium at a minimum cost. It does more; it reaches the spot, for it is limited in number of pages; it goes to many homes into which no other paper goes, and it is read more for those very reasons. Within the next few years the country weekly will be adjudged yet more highly as an advertising medium. It will come fully into its own.—Union Times.

The Colored Fair.

The Kershaw County Colored Fair Association is making great preparations for a successful fair this year to be held Nov. 20-21-22. The association takes this medium to thank all the friends both white and colored for their many favors in the past which helped the fair to be successful. We will appreciate any favors shown this year by our good friends, especially along the line of articles which will be used as premiums.

Mathilda Davis Dead.

Another of our faithful colored citizens passed away at twelve o'clock Sunday night, when "Tildie" Davis died suddenly of heart disease at her home in Kirkwood.

She was a faithful member of the Mt. Moriah Baptist church, and her funeral services took place from that church at eleven o'clock Tuesday morning, conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. W. Boykin. A large concourse of relatives and friends attended.

She had been in the service of the von Tresckow family for over twelve years and except for a short illness two years ago, had never missed a day from her duties. For honesty, integrity and faithfulness she was a credit to the town and a shining light to her people.

Accident at Fair Grounds.

While driving a very spirited horse at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon Mr. R. B. Elliott accidentally ran into little Laura Ada McCaskill, the six year old adopted daughter of Mr. A. M. McCaskill, knocking her down. At first it was thought that the child's leg was broken but her injuries are not considered serious.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Matters of General Interest Secured by Our Reporters.

Miss Joe Hamlin, of Mt. Pleasant, is visiting Mrs. W. R. Zemp.

Mrs. W. P. Bennett, of Lancaster, was a visitor at the fair.

Mrs. D. J. Hamrick and Mrs. J. W. Cash, of Bolling Springs, N. C., are the guests of Mrs. J. C. Nicholson.

Miss Kate Nicholson and Mrs. Joe Hough, of Bethune, were here today.

Misses Sallie and Jessie Boswell, of Columbia, were fair week visitors.

Miss Alma Holden has been selected to teach the Broom school, near the Lancaster line in the northern section of this county.

Her school will open Monday morning.

Mr. Walter Schrock, who is now a linotype operator on the Columbia Record, was a visitor at the fair yesterday.

Mr. William Deas, a good citizen of Kershaw, was among the visitors here Wednesday.

Mr. E. C. Zemp, who has been at Booneville, Ind., for the past several months, was among those present for home-coming week.

Details of one of the most cold-blooded homicides in the memory of any living man in Chester county were brought to light early Monday-morning, when Deputy Sheriff S. W. Hindeman and J. G. Howse returned from the Stover neighborhood with Ed Sibley, who is charged with the killing of J. Ross Younge with an axe Friday evening, near home of Sibley's son. After the affair Dr. C. C. Crosby was summoned and seeing the frightful condition of Younge's cuts hurried him to the Magdalene Hospital. Everything possible was done for him but he passed away Sunday night.

DEFIANCE FROM A DISTANCE

Discomfited Bully Certainly Gave His Adversary What Might Be Called Fair and Proper Warning.

Many of the best Pennsylvania stories come from the lumber camps. This bit of rough-and-ready history was told in a hotel lobby by a visitor to Philadelphia from the great West Branch valley of the Susquehanna:

"Paddy Wood was the porter at the Glinricky house in my town. He was a mark for mischievous boys who found that he would chase them if properly baited. He had a board about five feet long which he promised to use on his tormentors, thus adding to the spice of danger to the sport.

"One summer evening Paddy Wood sat on a bench in front of the tavern, his board leaning within easy reach against the building. Paddy Plank, a swaggering woodsman, with numerous raw or "natural" whiskies under his belt, hove in sight. He stopped in the road, fumbled for his woodstock pipe for several minutes and was a longer time lighting it. The woodstock pipe was a cavalier affair usually smoked with the bowl turned down by men who affected bravado. It was not the pipe of peace, however, for the moment Paddy Plank's orbs sighted Paddy Wood he discovered that his system craved a little Killenny fun and he began to hand Paddy Wood some choice compliments, such as are usually set afloat when one is looking for trouble.

"Paddy Wood deliberately arose from the bench, picked up his board and smote Paddy Plank on the jaw, knocking his pipe across the lot, the sparks from which described an arc of fire like a rocket.

"Surprised at the speed of Paddy Wood's response—he didn't expect it by wire—and seeing his disadvantage, he started to run, with Paddy Wood trying to lift him off his feet with every jump.

"As soon as he reached a safe distance from his pursuer, Paddy Plank turned around and uttered this piece of defiance:

"Kape away from me! Kape away from me! or you will have your heart's blood on me hands!"

Brazil's Rubber.

A large part of the world's supply of crude rubber comes from the republic of Brazil, which has hitherto paid little attention to the manufacture of that commodity. Another day is coming. Brazil is about to engage intelligently in the manufacture of rubber, an enterprise which, in the course of time, may affect the manufacture of that material in the United States and Europe, by bringing in a new and formidable competitor. Le Brezil Economique of Rio de Janeiro says that under favorable conditions offered by the government refineries of caoutchouc (rubber) will be established in a number of states and factories for the manufacture of rubber articles in the cities of Manaus, Belem in Para, Recife and Bahia. There will be special exemptions in the way of duties upon articles imported for the carrying forward of this enterprise.

er American novelists, with the assistance of Elsberrry W. Reynolds, has made a dramatization of his most widely read novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills." Its initial production in this section will take place Friday night, Nov. 28th, at the Camden Opera House.

Mr. Wright is a man with a mission and a message—he is a story teller, and when the story ends we begin a better life "along the sunlit fields—where the light lingers even when the sun is down." We start this journey of "The Higher Trail Among the Hills" because the gifted writer puts into our hearts the benediction of a renewed faith in men and women, a vital love for truth and beauty, and a deathless hope in the good outcome among the mysteries brooding where our Pilgrim-way meets horizon shadows. He calls his story a very old story. This is true, indeed, for have not Good and Bad been in ceaseless conflict since the dawn of human life? Have not toil and love gathered their blossoms and fruit since the time when men and women first learned to weep and sing? The story is old if age comes with the portrayal of the elemental and eternal forces of our human world; but it is new—wonderfully fresh and sweet with the morning light and dew of virgin hills and valleys—for these age-long forces of the soul find expression in the characters to whom we have never been introduced until now. Yet these people of the Ozarks are real flesh and blood folk; some, it is true, reach the heroic; still we feel in them the throbs of kinship to all who live outside their almost enchanted land.

Here is a play worth seeing in this day of multitudinous and insipid drama. Here is a plot. The movement is ever onward—there are no retrograde and meaningless eddies in this stream of happenings. The current of events seizes you and takes you on and on, and when the end comes you are glad and sorrowful—glad because so good a play ends as it does, sorrowful because it ends so soon.
