School Work Succeeding.

Clemson College, Dec. 30.—Assistant State Demonstration Agent W. H. Barton is now compiling reports the demonstration school work that been received from county agents. Thus far the reports from the schools in which agriculture was taught under the direction of Clemson College have been better than was expected by the most enthusiastic. Indications are that Clemson's method of having the rural schools teach agriculture to children lessons written on the ground in growing crops has established itself successfully. Details of the report will be published later.

ALCOHOL MADE OF SAWDUST.

Products Used in Manufacture of High Grade Explosives.
Georgetown, S. C., Dec. 28.—A local manufacturer plant that is working to full capacity is the alcohol distillery of the A. I. DuPont de Nemours Powder Company, of Wilmington, Del. It may be that the great war in Europe has something to do with the activity at the alcohol works, since the product of the gigantic distillery is used in the manufacture of smokeless powder and other high explosives. By this it is not meant that the DuPont people are supplying explosives to the belligerents, there have been many rumors that the United States government is stocking up with powder in its various forms in anticipation of eventualities.
Be that as it may, the fact remains that the Georgetown alcohol plant of the powder company is capable of turning out one thousand, five hundred gallons of alcohol per day, and it is actually turning out just that many gallons. Moreover, there is talk of an increase in capacity.

Buzzards Spread Cholera.
Buzzards are active agents in the spread of hog cholera. They visit any place in which there is carrion of any sort and they have been known to transport hog cholera germs for long distances. In fact, in many cases there is no other source of a cholera infection except the buzzard. All hogs that die should be burned or buried. This will do much to check the spread of infectious swine diseases.

It is time to construct that hot-bed frame. No structure about the garden or yard will give more value for the same time and cost than a hot-bed.

To Coach Carolina.

Sid Smith, of Camden, a member of the Pittsburgh National league team, and a former star in football and baseball at Carolina, has been signed as head coach in baseball at his alma mater for the approaching baseball season. Mr. Smith, will not be able to stay the entire year, but will be here for about six weeks. He will be given a very able assistant who will be assistant coach while Mr. Smith is here and will be head coach after his departure.
Carolina is fortunate in securing one of its former students and especially one with such a brilliant record. Sidney Smith is a baseball player who knows the game in every department and who is able to impart his knowledge to others. He specializes on the development of material and he is expected to make several valuable finds in the Carolina student body and to develop a very strong club.—Thursday's Columbia State.
