Making Over the Koreans

TRAFFIC DOOMS ANCIENT GATEWAY

MODERN WATER SYSTEMS IN THE CITIES

ONE MIGHT easily have made himself believe he was on Fifth avenue, had it not been for the crowds of brown-faced, sailor-hatted, white-clad people about. A hurdy-gurdy was grinding out the latest tunes. The streets were brilliantly lighted, and the great newspaper building in front of which we stood was ablaze with hundreds of electric lights, writes F. Herron Smith in the Christian Herald. Even as we looked a gigantic sign in a strange language flashed before our faces. Our eyes wandered to the right to behold one of the most beautiful illuminations imaginable; the venerable and picturesque South Gate of Seoul outlined with hundreds of incandescent lights. It is doubtful whether ever before an illumination has followed such unusual and graceful lines.

To our left was another great gate delineated in electricity against a dark mountain, and clustered about it and in front dozens of glittering towers. On the tallest, another searchlight was located; and above, a Zeppelin-shaped captive balloon, gay with colored lights, proclaimed the merits of a popular brand of tooth powder and cosmetics.

At every station in Japan and even on the steamers we had seen the gorgeous posters of a Korean dancing girl advertising the Chosen Industrial exhibition, celebrating the fifth anniversary of the annexation, and we needed no guide to tell us that we were in the midst of it. It is five years since old Korea died and Japan as coroner took charge of the remains. Japan is unique. Most countries would have cremated the corpse and gotten what they could from the ashes. Japan decided on resuscitation, and a veritable with its aid some 20,000 people each day are viewing their modernized capital and the exhibits showing what has been accomplished in the past few years.

People Well Treated and Contented. General Terauchi takes more pride in what the Koreans have accomplished than in what is done by the Japanese. He looks on them as his children and has instilled into the Japanese the feeling that they must treat the Koreans as younger brothers and sisters. Where a few years ago it was not unusual to see a Japanese beating or kicking a Korean, nowadays one can travel from one end of the country to the other, as the writer does, without seeing a single case of cruel treatment. A friend from Tokyo expressed surprise at the contented appearance of the people and at the rapidity with which they are acquiring Japanese and adapting themselves to the new conditions.

It is a fact that while there may still be apprehension in the hearts of some, the only Koreans who are greatly dissatisfied with present conditions are the officials whose graft has been stopped once and forever, and a small number of really patriotic young men who are grieving that their country has disappeared from among the nations and who would rather be citizens of a mean and insignificant but independent Korea than part of a great Japanese empire. The Prince Yi household, as the former imperial family is called, receives 1,500,000 yen a year from the government. At the time of the annexation an imperial donation of 30,000,000 yen was made from Japan to Korea, of which 13,000,000 yen went as a solatium to the nobles, ministers and other officials of the former re-resurrection is taking place. Only the other day Dr. Robert E. Speer, at a luncheon given in his honor by the governor general, Count Terauchi, said that Japan's policy toward Korea was unique in two respects.

What Japan is Doing for Korea. Japan is the only country that is subsidizing its colonies to any extent (from four to six millions, gold, a year), and Japan is the only strong and virile nation that has offered and is trying to assimilate a weak nation over which it has secured control. Doctor Speer was filled with amazement at the changes that had taken place in the eighteen years since he had visited Korea, and even we who live in Chosen are amazed at the miracles that are constantly taking place before our very eyes. The great X of the railroad is constantly being extended till it now totals more than 1,000 miles, and the upper right hand is rapidly stretching toward Vladivostok. Were it not for the railroad the exposition would be an impossibility, but gime, and 17,000,000 was made a foundation fund for giving work to Koreans, spreading education and relieving people in distress.

It is doubtful whether in any country in a like period such tremendous changes have been introduced. Exports have increased from 18,000,000 yen in 1910 to 34,000,000 yen in 1914, while imports advanced from 39,000,000 yen in 1910 to 71,000,000 yen in 1913. Even the population is increasing rapidly, having advanced from 13,000,000 to 15,000,000 under the new regime. This is largely due to the strict sanitary measures taken and to the activities of the eighteen great charity hospitals and the scores of dispensaries scattered through the country. Vaccination is still enforced at certain times, and opium users are arrested and forced to take treatment for their evil habit.

Arbor day is observed even more zealously than in Kansas or Nebraska, and this year on that one day as many as 15,000,000 trees were planted.

The Slim Princess at Majestic.

Ruth Stonehouse, who takes the leading part in "The Slim Princess," a George Ade photoplay filmed by Essanay, takes issue with George Bernard Shaw, who in a London address said motion pictures made the people discontented with their lot.

"I don't know what kind of photoplays Mr. Shaw has seen," said Miss Stonehouse, "but 'The Slim Princess' is a beautiful, cheery picture that would delight any audience. It makes one forget the cares of the day, rests the tired man and puts him in a frame of mind to fit him better for his work next day.

"If any discontent is stirred by motion pictures it is to make people long for better and higher things, than which I can imagine nothing having a greater effect for good."

"The Slim Princess," featuring Ruth Stonehouse in the title role, will be seen at the Majestic Theatre on Monday night.

Reliability

OUR absolute faith in the Maxwell car is due to two reasons:
 First, we have known that the Maxwell Company uses nothing in the entire car but the very best that money can buy. We have known that the steel is scientifically heat treated, that the car is built under the supervision of able engineers, that every car is rigidly tested many times before it leaves the factory.

Second, we have known that the big and well established company behind the car is building for the future, that they value a satisfied owner above everything else.

Now that the Maxwell has set the World's Motor Non-Stop Mileage Record, by travelling continuously for 44 days and nights—averaging 500 miles per day—you will understand the benefits you personally may derive from the Maxwell policy. Did you ever hear of any car going 22,000 miles without once stopping the engine, without any repairs or readjustments, with only one gallon of gasoline to every 22 miles?

There is no reason why you shouldn't have a reliable, serviceable and economical Maxwell car. The first cost is low, the operating cost is low and our pay-as-you-ride plan makes the purchase easy for everyone.

Let us see you about this now, before our allotment is exhausted.
