THE FELLOW WHO WORRIES.

HERE'S to the fellow who worries. The brother who lingers for the strife, the eager, hard working who hurries each day to the duties of life, with his mind on the post where he's needed. His thoughts on the work to be done, his chafes when his pace is impeded and halted, he longs to get on. The fellow who worries is never contented to idle and rest, his duties are calling him ever, his soul is alive in his breast; his quick desire of honor is spurring him on to the work he must do; his paucity his action are stirring; and he has a goal to pursue.

RESTRAIN THE FELLOW WHO WORRIES WITH ILLNESS.

Restrain him for days on his bed, and he'll think through the dreary night's stillness. Of those who by him must be fed, about him his duties will hover. And add to his torment of pain, they will shriek, "There is ground to recover. Get back to your labors again."

WHEN HERE'S TO THE FELLOW WHO WORRIES.

The fellow of spirit and grit, who faces life a feverish flurry. And boldly refuses to quit. Despite all the ills that assail him. Unwilling, you find him, to shrink. The fellow who worries! I hail him, the man who has pride in his work. —Edgar A. Guest.

Miss Lucia Yates as Hostess.

The Maids and Matrons bridge club was delightfully entertained Tuesday afternoon at the Yates home, with Miss Lucia Yates as the agreeable hostess. Miss Jane Hankssett was the honor guest of the occasion, and after dainty refreshments were served.

Robertson-Cantey Engagement.

The engagement of Miss Helen Robertson to Edward B. Cantey was announced a few days ago by Miss Robertson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Vales Robertson, on the eve of the departure of the family for their summer home at Kennebunkport, Me. No line has been set for the wedding. Capt. Cantey, who is a prominent insurance and military man, is captain of the recently recruited Columbia machine gun company and is now in Camp Styx with the expectation of being sent to the border with the Second Regiment to which his company is attached.

The announcement of Miss Robertson's engagement follows closely upon that of her elder sister, Miss Evelyn Robertson, which was made a fortnight ago, the latter's fiancé being J. Berry S. Lyles, of Columbia. —Sunday's Columbia State.

For Miss Cartwright.

A beautiful function of Saturday morning was the card party given by Mrs. Ralph Stevenson in honor of her guest, Miss Mary Cartwright, of York. The rooms were bright and attractive with the brilliant flowers of mid-summer and after cards a delicious salad course was served. The score prize, a deck of cards, was won by Miss Lucia Yates, and the guest of honor also received a lovely prize as a reminder of a pleasant morning.

MOONLIGHT PICNIC

Chartered by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Whitaker and Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Kerrison, a number of the younger set enjoyed a moonlight picnic at Millbank Monday evening. Boating and swimming were in order, and a bountiful lunch enjoyed before returning to town.

Dance For Visitors.

The dance given at the Lindsay home Tuesday evening was charming and delightful in every particular. The affair was a compliment to Misses Perry Belle Bennet and Estell Milling, of Lancaster; and Roddy Milling, of Rock Hill, who have been for the past ten days guests in this home. The parlors and hall were thrown open and cleared for dancing. Huge bowls and ribbon-fied baskets, filled with pink crepe myrtle made a pleasing decoration and everything was rosetinted from the lights that fell from the shaded chandeliers. On a prettily appointed table in the dining room, which had as a center decoration a crystal punch bowl, dainty refreshments were served throughout the evening. A smooth floor, good music and a merry crowd of thirty-five or forty (consisting of the younger dancing set, made the hours from 9 to 1 o'clock fly on winged feet.

FAIR STREET SEWING CLUB

Mrs. Ralph Stevenson was the agreeable hostess to this club Monday afternoon. A number of invited guests enjoyed the occasion with the club members, and after work was laid aside the hostess served dainty refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake.

CAMDEN GIRL ON DELIGHTFUL TRIP

Miss Jen Taylor after a visit of three weeks to her uncle, Mr. Louis T. Clyburn, of Midville, Ga., is touring Florida, the guest of the president and treasurer of the East and West Coast Railway. From there she will visit New York and Washington, going for a few days to Charlestown, W. Va., to visit her grandmother, Mrs. G. W. Taylor.

For Miss Cartwright.

Mrs. T. Lee Little was hostess at a lovely affair Thursday afternoon with Miss Mary Cartwright as guest of honor. The rooms were prettily decorated in greens and quantities of sun-flowers that nodded a cheery welcome to guests that composed the three tables of bridge. The score prize, a pair of embroidery scissors, was won by Mrs. E. H. Kerrison, and the honor guest was presented with a lovely hat brush. After cards, the hostess served delicious ice cream and cake.

"The Spell of the Yukon."

"The Spell of the Yukon," a new Metro wonderplay produced by Popular Plays and Players under the direction of Burton King, will be seen at the Majestic next Thursday. "The Spell of the Yukon" is another picture adapted from the poem of the same name, by Robert W. Service, whose "Shooting of Dan McGrew" proved to be such a good film. The new picture reproduces the rough, wild life of the Alaskan gold-fields, the devil-may-care spirit of the dance halls and gambling dens, and then, as a foil to all this, the culture and refinement of New York's smart set. There are thrilling scenes of the stock market, when fortunes are won and lost in an hour, and then there is the wholesome influence of a girl and boy love affair. Edmund Breeze is the star of the production, and Christine Mayo is his leading woman.—adv.

Married.

On July 11th at the home of Mr. H. W. Barnes, Miss Juanita Davis and Mr. Dalton Trimmel were married. Notary Public Barnes officiating. Only a few relatives and friends were present to witness the ceremony. Both young people reside in the Antioch section.

The steamer Devon City, a British vessel, took on a cargo of eight thousand tons of coal at Charleston.

PASSING OF HOOP SKIRT.

Skirts Are Full and Short, But Limp and Graceful.

New York, July 10.—The hoop-skirt scare has entirely passed. There is no denying the charm of the hoop, but in this day and age it has no place except in the most frivolous of dance and evening gowns, and even then, it is being ripped out. This does not mean, however, that we are going back to the narrow skirt; no indeed, merely limp skirts. The dainty mid-summer volles and organdies are as full and bouffant as ever, but their fulness falls softly about the figure, and their bouffancy is induced by their width and the nature of the material. Having finished with skirts as far as width, shortness and trimming are concerned, Fashion has now turned her attention to the bodice, laying especial stress on collars and sleeves. Any little becoming idea which strikes one may be used in both of these, affording charming possibilities of showing individuality. From the dainty, pleated turnover or frill on the dark taffeta frock, the collar ranges to the deep broad collar extending to the waistline and below. There are many of us who favor the high collar, even in summer, but this is fashioned of net or organdy, and is open in front, so it is really not a high collar after all, but a very becoming detail of frock or blouse. The wide, cape-like collars are most popular this summer. For summer evenings, with light frocks, there are becoming ruffs of net, chiffon, or malines, and the chic little shoulder capes of Georgette trimmed with fur or marabout. Sleeves are transparent, or semi-transparent, of crepe, net or chiffon to match the color of the material of the frock; and are both long and short. The closely cuffed sleeve is favored, and also the flowing sleeve. These latter are very easily made, being finished around the lower edge with a bias fold, or the effective pleot edge. Although not as conspicuous, equally as important as the frock are the dainty underfittings designed to complete it. Combinations, envelope chemises, camisoles, petticoats and knickerbockers are being fashioned of pale pink or blue cotton crepe or voile, the barred and striped cottons, wash satins, and the daintiest possible of sprigged silks with pale toned grounds. The pink or blue crepe or voile is usually finished around armholes, neck and lower edges with bias folds of contrasting color attached with hemstitching. The flowered silks are also bound with white, or a plain color, or are finished with lace. The envelope chemise is one of the most popular of garments, being shirred, smocked, tucked or box-pleated. For general wear glove-silk knickerbockers and a plain camisole are most practical.
