Ohio Man Buys Historic Plantation at Georgetown.

Georgetown, June 19. — "Greenfield Plantation", embracing some 900 acres of land, located on Black River, near this city, has recently been purchased by Hunter Glover of Cleveland, Ohio, for the purpose of raising high grade hogs on a large scale for commercial purposes. Mr. Glover is enterprising young business man and capitalist whose eyes have turned to the South for profitable investment. After a thorough investigation of the lands and advantages of Georgetown County, Mr. Glover has become an enthusiastic believer in its wonderful natural resources, only

GOOD HOUSES AT LOW COST WHY?

Because—We do a large amount of work with special modern machinery and skilled labor instead of by hand.
 Because—It is much cheaper to build 100 houses and all alike than to build 100 different houses.
 Because—There is no expense for plans and specifications.
 Because—We get lumber direct from the forest, and other supplies in car lots, and we are satisfied with a reasonable profit.
 Because—We eliminate waste to the smallest piece and use material to the best advantage.

awaiting capital for its highly profitable development.

J. M. Campbell of New York, who is associated with Mr. Glover, and will have in charge the management of the hog farm, is already at work making his arrangements and plans for improvements along generous lines. No stock will be put on the place until everything is in readiness, the necessary houses and sheds built, the fields prepared and planted to forage crops and flow of artesian water secured.

Mr. Glover contemplates erecting a handsome residence and nice outbuildings on the beautiful bluff overlooking the waters of this finest of all South Carolina rivers. The house site is adorned with a magnificent grove of oak, hickory and magnolia, on the very spot where once stood the ante-bellum mansion of the John Julius Pringle, rice planter of note and man of letters, and of his son, who last occupied it, the Lynch Pringle, who was United States consul to Turkey during President Cleveland's first administration.

State Farm Sells Cotton.

Over $300,000 worth of cotton, property of the State of South Carolina, was sold by Col. A. K. Sanders, superintendent of the State penitentiary Friday morning. One lot of 55 bales of long staple was sold to J. W. Maynard, Greenwood, for 40 cents per pound. Another lot of 605 bales of short staple was sold to Hollowell and Walker for 30 cents per pound. The combined amount of the sales reached around $300,000.

The cotton was raised on the two State Farms, one in Sumter County and the other in Kershaw County. — The State.

At the convention of the South Carolina Bankers' Association at Tybee Island last week resolutions indorsing the work of the American Cotton Association and pledging the cooperation of the bankers were adopted. The formation of the Export-financing corporation was strongly indorsed.

WILL NOT PAY FINE

Noted Judge Will Go To Jail Rather Than Break Faith With Boy.

Denver, Col., June 16. — Ben B. Lindsey, judge of Denver's juvenile court, will go to jail before he will pay a fine of $500 for contempt of the criminal court here, he has announced. The Colorado supreme court, on June 2, denied Judge Lindsey's petition for a rehearing. The judge had 15 days to pay or to go to jail, if the court insisted.

The fine was assessed when Judge Lindsey, in May 1915, declined to tell what Neal Wright, 14 year old ward of the juvenile court, had told the judge about the shooting of Neal's father. Neal's mother was on trial charged with murder. Neal was the only eye witness. Mrs. Wright was acquitted.

Judge Lindsey refused to testify at the trial, insisting that whatever information he possessed regarding the killing had been given him by the boy in confidence and he could not, and would not violate the boy's confidence. Soon after the trial, John A. Perry, then judge of the criminal court, found his fellow judge guilty of contempt and assessed the $500 fine. Judge Lindsey appealed to the supreme court. The fine was upheld by a majority of the justices—three of them, however, dissenting. On June 2, last, the Colorado supreme court denied Judge Lindsey a rehearing.

Judge Lindsey announced that in refusing to pay the fine he is not acting upon a personal point of view but considers that as the Denver juvenile court is one of the oldest in the United States, all other courts look to it to uphold its rights. And one of these is that a relation of circumstances given in confidence to a juvenile court judge is not to be used in any other proceedings.

The judge has received letters from many of the judges throughout the United States urging him to maintain his stand. Various children's agencies have offered to pay the fine for him.

"No matter what the supreme court decided, I still believe and will always believe that what Neal Wright told me was told in strictest confidence and that I would have been unworthy to hold the position I now hold if I had testified," said Judge Lindsey. "The fact that four justices of the supreme court say I was wrong does not make it so. I am not going to pay that fine, because if I did I would admit I was wrong."

Neal Wright, the boy involved, enlisted in the army at the beginning of the war and now is serving in France.

While driving a truck loaded with children near Spartanburg Sunday afternoon, M. A. Jennings had his teeth knocked out and is probably internally injured; Blanche Jennings was killed outright. It is likely that her neck was broken. Joe Hart suffered a dislocated shoulder. Other occupants of the truck received many bruises and suffered from shock. Four children of Mr. Jennings escaped with few bruises. They were M. A. Jennings, Jr., Florence, Kathlene and J. B. Jennings. Frank O'Shields and Adam Ballenger were not injured. The truck left the roadway, turned over on the mountainside and landed on rocks. Some of the occupants were caught underneath and were taken out by rescuing parties.

Four Great Records

Only a small part of the story of the unusual performance of the Overland is a matter of record. In the last few weeks, however, from Oklahoma City, Boston, and Los Angeles have come reports of remarkable tests that prove the power, endurance and dependability of Model 90 cars.

Now comes Harrisburg with a new world's record of 702.5 miles a day for 5 1/4 days without motor stop, soaled in high gear. A Model 90 stock car performed this remarkable endurance feat. Let us show you a duplicate of this car.

 Quality Goes Clear Through

The soundest reasons for your owning a Dort are furnished by the actual experiences of Dort owners.

They will tell you that the car travels smoothly and comfortably.

They will speak in the same satisfied terms of the mileage it gives in gas and oil, and on tires—longer mileage per gallon, you will find, than what is commonly regarded as good mileage.

They will tell you, also, that it requires a minimum amount of service-attention to keep it in fit condition and continuous service.

Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey Boyce of West Palm, Beach, Fla., are spending several days at the home of Mr. Boyce's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Boyce of Atkins.

The friends of Mr. L. E. Wood, the efficient court stenographer, were delighted to see him in his accustomed seat before the court. He limps a little yet from the effects of his injury by being knocked down by an auto on Main Street in Sumter.

Mr. J. W. Jones, a well known contractor and road engineer formerly of Athens, Ga., but for the past year or two of Orangeburg, has bought out the McLaughlin Hotel and already has had it re-furnished with other improvements added.

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Miller on May 31, 1919, and claimed for his own their oldest child, Arthur Miller, 11 years of age. He leaves a father and mother, one sister, one brother and a lot of relatives and friends to mourn his death.

Mr. Hazel Parrott returned Monday night from Fort McPherson, Ga., to which place he had been sent on his arrival from France. He has been over here several weeks, but not having fully recovered from a case of pneumonia contracted in France, he was sent to the hospital for a while before receiving his discharge.

Mr. T. E. H. Stephenson returned from Brooklet, Ga., last Saturday. He says the farmers in that section, about 40 miles from Savannah, planted their cotton very early so as to get a pretty good crop before the boll weevils could put in their work, but the mild winter and continued spring rains caused the weevils to start a month earlier. He says he never saw such destruction; that cotton from knee high to waist high is being plowed up and put in corn and hay, because every square is already punctured. In Jasper and Bamberg counties the weevil has appeared and already done much damage.

Robbers entered the office of Dr. F. D. Kendall in Columbia at some hour Thursday night and stole $1,450 in Liberty Bonds. The thieves forced an entrance through a side window and removed the bonds from a drawer in the office.
