HONOR OLD FRIEND

Black Hills Pioneers Name High Peak for Roosevelt.

At Its Summit a Cairn Fifty Feet High, Constructed of Bowlders of Native Granite, Has Been Erected.

On July 4 the Black hills pioneers honored the memory of the late Colonel Roosevelt by naming for him the highest peak in the Black hills. Timed to take place during Home-coming week for Deadwood and other Black hills communities, this ceremony was a manifestation of the affection which all the residents of that section of the country felt for Colonel Roosevelt.

The peak which will henceforth be known as Mount Theodore Roosevelt was called Sheep Mountain or Round Top. It is a detached eminence with an elevation of 6,000 feet, three miles from Deadwood, 15 miles from Wyoming and 35 miles from the Montana state line. It is on the Black Hills forest reserve, and will be the center of a bird and game refuge also dedicated to the memory of the ex-president.

All that section of the country has been intimately associated with various periods in the life of Colonel Roosevelt. The peak which now bears his name overlooks the foothills and valleys of the northern Black hills where the colonel hunted buffalo. In sight from the summit are his cattle range and his trail to Deadwood, as well as sections of Wyoming and Montana where he trailed cattle in his cowboy days. Glimpses of the Belle Fourche, the Redwater and other streams flowing down the valleys attract the spectator. The peak and the territory around it are now embraced in the Belle Fourche Irrigation project which Colonel Roosevelt advocated when president. This is making an arid prairie over into fertile farming country.

The people of Deadwood built at the summit of the mountain a cairn 50 feet high of bowlders of native granite. T. A. Brown of Spearfish, one of the colonel's associates of years ago, obtained the permission of the local committee to place in this monument a stone with the cattle brands of his old friend chiseled thereon. The dedication of this monument took place on Independence day, when a tablet inscribed "In Memory of Theodore Roosevelt, the American," was fastened to one of the bowlders.

Some Logic in His Protest.
A good story was published in Le Figaro in connection with the news that a monument is being erected at Tarascon in memory of Alphonse Daudet, the French novelist who has immortalized that quaint town by his "Tartarin." It seems that the town still numbers among its inhabitants persons almost, if not quite as eccentric as the renowned Tartarin. The story is that a Tarasconnais recently arrived at the local railway station with a mule, and after purchasing a couple of tickets, gravely led the animal up the forty steps by which the platform is reached. On attempting to enter a first-class compartment he found his passage barred. He waved his two tickets into the face of the guard and tried to force his way in but the official proved inexorable. Exclaiming indignantly: "So many asses travel first class that I fail to see why a mule should not," the muletter stalked away from the train.—"Flan-cur," in Indianapolis Star.

He Knew About It.
The other evening while doing homework the small son of a minister was arguing and trying to convince himself that "congregate" and "collect" meant the same thing, for that was what his teacher had told him. Into the argument, which the minister father could not help but overhear, the said father broke: "What's that you are saying? That congregate and collect are the same word?" "That's what teacher said." "Quite wrong," replied the father. "You tell the teacher she is quite wrong. There is all the difference in the world between a 'congregation' and a 'collection.'"—Columbus Dispatch.

What He Wanted.
He had a hard day and was grouchy. Besides, through a long and varied life he had come in contact with so much loquacity on the part of barbers that he was always on the defensive when on this particular morning as he entered the shop for a shave and settled himself down he remarked in an irritable tone of voice: "I don't want a haircut, a shampoo, a massage, a bal-tonic, a hair singe or a manucure. Now can you guess what I want?" "Yes," replied the barber, softly, "manners."

Great Hawaiian Honored.
Hawaii, a few days ago, paid tribute to the memory of Kamehameha the Great, founder of the Kamehameha dynasty, who, in a series of wars, brought all the islands of Hawaii under his rule more than 100 years ago. Kamehameha's burial place is unknown, the few aged Hawaiians who held the secret having died. A great street parade was a feature of the centennial in Honolulu, with floats illustrating his heroic events in the life of the "Napoleon of the Pacific." There were ceremonies in front of the statue of Kamehameha which faces the capitol.

An Attractive House Is Easily Rented

At all times the artistic dwelling is in demand, whether large or small, expensive or inexpensive. An attractive, inexpensive house, however, is an exception. QUICKBILT Bungalows combine beauty and economy.

QUICKBILT

thoroughly covering the needs of the average renter; is especially built for renting purposes. It is well built, cozy, convenient, well lighted, well ventilated, attractive both inside and out, and small, but cozy. It is inexpensive in construction, but will bring a good rent. A house too large is as much a drawback as a house too small. This one is just the right size. Bungalows are always in demand. QUICKBILT Bungalow No. 43 is neither cheap nor elaborate. It is especially designed to make the best investment from a rent standpoint.

In erecting this bungalow you will SAVE

WASTE—All the material is already prepared and the large every foot of lumber is used. You buy no surplus material.

TIME—Every piece of material has its own place. Everything is numbered and systematized. The instructions to the carpenter are complete and the order of erection is simple. No time is lost in looking for material. The time ordinarily required in preliminary cutting and trimming is saved. As a large portion of the house is built in panels, just that much time and cost is eliminated in construction.

LABOR—With the entire process of erection systematized and complete, the great building "Bugaboo"—preliminary preparation—eliminated, the labor in the erection of a QUICKBILT Bungalow is reduced to a minimum and therefore, a minor consideration. A carpenter of average speed and experience with two laborers can erect the house in 7 days. The ordinary house will take almost as many weeks.

MONEY—A saving in waste of material, time and labor, is a saving in money. With the QUICKBILT Bungalow the expense of erection is cut in half, but that is not all. You need not pay a contractor's fee. The erection is so simple and systematic that any carpenter of average intelligence can erect it with ease. Many owners build them themselves. You pay no architect's fee. The complete plans with all specifications and instructions are furnished FREE. And yet the plans are made after careful study by the best and most experienced of architects, with a view to eliminating waste and gaining the greatest possible convenience, economy and strength. The cost of the material is further reduced by the fact that you buy it from the mill, manufacturer and forest in one. Our complete plans cover the entire process, from the tree to the completed house. You pay no middle-man a profit. You buy direct from the source of material. The price is therefore rock bottom. In our complete plans in which hundreds of houses are built simultaneously every short cut to perfection is used and every waste avoided. As the houses are made in great quantities, you gain the advantage of the low cost of quantity production.

GOING AFTER PROFITEERS

Secret Service Men Put on Trail of Food Gougers.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Tangible results from the investigation of hoarding and profiteering initiated by Attorney General Palmer are expected to develop in the immediate future as the result of an order today directing the entire secret service of the bureau of investigation to assist the forces now at work trying to uncover instances in which the public has been gouged by the illegal control of prices.

Officials of the department of justice said reports from many sections of the country showed the search for evidence of extortion in the necessities of life was proceeding vigorously and it was indicated that many prosecutions might come very soon.

Announcement also was made today that Congress would proceed promptly with legislative measures recommended by President Wilson in his address yesterday as necessary to stop the "vicious practices" which have been largely responsible for the rising cost of living.

Republican Leader Mondell stated in the house that appropriations would be made at once to enable the government departments to attack the problem, and Chairman Haugen announced the agricultural committee would begin hearings Monday on legislation to control the time foods could be held in cold storage. The senate interstate commerce committee discussed suggestions of the President that interstate shipments of necessities be controlled by a licensing system, and Chairman Cummins announced that he would appoint a sub-committee Monday to recommend such legislation as it should decide was necessary.

There were indications at the White House that President Wilson might let the high cost of living share with the league of nations in the speaking tour which he soon is to make. The President has been devoting virtually all of his time recently to the economic situation and has come to believe that the importance of the question demands discussion equally with the big international problem, to explain which was the prime purpose of the tour.
