LEE COUNTY NEWS

Interest Gathered From Bishopville Vindicator.

On last Wednesday afternoon, October 1st, at the Baptist parsonage was the marriage of Miss Leona Smith, of Providence, to Mr. Elie Kenneth Brown, of Manville, Rev. R. S. Fountain performing the ceremony.

Messrs. E. L. Harris and B. Frank Harris, of Monroe, N. C., are on a visit to their sister, Mrs. N. J. Laney. Mr. Frank Harris has just returned from France, where he has seen hard service for 15 months, but is in fine health. Mr. E. L. Harris was at Camp Jackson preparing to go overseas when the war came to a close.

Mr. Vaughan, the miller at the roller mill, was badly scalded yesterday when one of the steam pipes at the roller mill burst. He was horribly scalded from his chest down. Mr. Rustin, the manager, rubbed him down to the drug store where he received prompt attention and then was taken to Mr. Rustin's home. While seriously, he is not considered fatally burned.

Mrs. T. B. McLendon got back this week from Florence where she had taken little Tommie, Jr., for treatment at the hospital. The little fellow seems to be getting on very well now.

Mr. Marion Dulkant had to come home last Saturday from the Wofford Fitting School on account of his health. He hopes to be able to return in a short time.

DROVE CLEMENCEAU TO FIELD

Former Paris Cab Driver, Now in America, Tells of French Premier's Dueling Days.

Running a chicken ranch near Tacoma, Wash., is a man named Nicholas Thien, who, in his younger days was cab driver to Clemenceau, and who has accompanied the French premier to many a combat on the "field of honor."

"No one in any country," he remarked the other day, standing among his chickens, "has fought so many duels as M'sieu Clemenceau. They came from what he wrote in his paper. But he was so strong. He always won. No adversary could hold a sword against him."

"It was against the law, of course," added the old Frenchman, seventy-two now, in a whisper, "so we always slipped out of the city for these fights."

M'sieu Thien's cab stand used to be in front of L'Intransigeant, Clemenceau's paper. Almost nightly, he says, the present premier would come out of his office and hall cab 8088.

"He got the name 'Tiger,'" M. Thien explains, "because he was always the boss, like the big striped cat is the boss of all animals."

"Ah, my friend, those were the happy days! Of course I will not insult my chickens. They are good ones, as chickens go. But it is a tame life here. I dream often of the old days when M'sieu Clemenceau would hail me 'long about two o'clock in the morning and we'd be off.'"

KEPT SHOES AS ORNAMENTS

American Footgear Considered by Unfortunate Serbian Woman as Altogether Too Beautiful to Wear.

Anything that will keep the feet from the ground is considered a shoe in Serbia.

In the remote rural districts of the country it is said that many of the people live and die without owning a pair of shoes. In the bitterest weather they travel through mud and snow without adequate foot covering. They consider themselves fortunate if they can secure old gunny sacks or heavy cloth, which they tie about their feet with twine in winter.

The first American-made shoes that were distributed by the American Red Cross created a tremendous stir among the people of the distant villages. One old woman who had never owned a pair before took the shoes that had been given to her to her home and put them on a shelf above the fireplace. She was as pleased as a child to own them, but nothing could induce her to wear them. She said that she intended to save them for fetes, or perhaps for her burial. They were "much too beautiful to be worn," she said.

Gem's Romantic History.

Truly romantic is the story of the Braganza diamond, a stone of 1,600 carats, and "as large as a goose's egg," which, for more than a century, has been the proudest possession of the Portuguese crown. This amazing stone, which Mr. Streeter, the great authority on gems, has valued at $58,000,000, was picked up by three Brazilian outlaws in the half-dried bed of the Abate river, in the province of Minas Geraes.

The outlaws took the stone to the nearest village priest, who obtained access for them to the governor, into whose possession it was given. The diamond, the largest and finest hitherto found, was dispatched to Lisbon, with the result that the three outlaws received the royal pardon and a rich reward, while the padre to whose friendly offices they owed their good fortune was given high preferment in the church.

Flower Gardens of Holland.

It was only after the fall of Constantinople in 1453 that Holland became such a gay land of flowers as it now is. Many Dutchmen went to the East during the years of the great crusades, and those of them who loved beautiful things brought seeds with them. When these were planted in the rich soil of Holland such wondrous flowers appeared as had never before been seen in that country. The people became wildly enthusiastic over the new colors and scents and foliage brought to them from the East, and in Holland there sprang up a great love for gardening.

Orchid Hard to Secure.

Nearly all the orchids found in Burma can be grown with a little care and attention in private gardens. There is one exception, a sweet-smelling species called tazin by the Burmese, and which is usually brought to market in Christmas week in Rangoon. It only seems to flower in the most malarious and least frequented localities, and at a time of the year which is the tigers' mating season, and when they are most dangerous to human beings. It is in great demand by Burmese and sells for its weight in silver.

What Mother Wanted.

I heard a knock at my door the other morning and on answering it found my neighbor's small son.

"Mother wants to borrow your lemon-lemmon—" I at once knew he wanted my lemon squeezer, but as he always finds some way to express himself I did not offer to help him out.

Again he started and, with suggestive motions of his hands, said: "She wants your lemon—O, I know now—your lemon squeezer."—Exchange.

"FRIENDLY ENEMIES"

To Be Seen At Camden Opera House Next Tuesday Evening.

Few plays in theatrical history have created so great and wide a stir as "Friendly Enemies," the famous comedy success which A. H. Woods will present at the Opera House on Tuesday October 21st, for an engagement of one night only, direct from a year's run in New York City. "Friendly Enemies" is undoubtedly the most emphatic popular success of the last decade. It has been an overwhelming hit not only throughout the United States, but in London and the British provinces. The number of people who have seen it runs into millions, and there is no doubt that millions more will see it before its extraordinary career comes to a close. The play is the work of Samuel Shipman and Aaron Hoffman, both of them among the foremost American playwrights. The story is too familiar to need recounting here. It concerns the relations of two German Americans, one of them intensely loyal to America; the other still harboring a passionate affection for Germany. Both of them are human, humorous, delightful characters. During the play the clash of these two characters, such close friends in everything but the matter of patriotism, furnishes the brightest, cleverest entertainment since the palmy days of Weber and Fields. But "Friendly Enemies" has also a timeliness and vigor of theme, a pathos, a romantic interest and a humanness which the Weber and Fields shows never attained. The play has become so vital a part of contemporary dramatic history that no playgoer can afford to miss it. The production is said to be a splendid one. The notable company includes John K. Newman, Leo Greenwood, Lucy Warner, Stanley Edwards, Ellen Mahar, Leo Chalzel and Emma Bailey.

This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the Commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.
