MONSTER PIKE A "PIRATE"

English Villagers Feasted on Fish Which Had Been Cutting Anglers' Lines for Years.

A pirate was caught and killed recently in the little old English village of Beeston St. Lawrence, Norfolkshire, and his remains were cut up and shared between the old age pensioners, who voted him very tasty, an exchange reports. The good people of Beeston St. Lawrence are not cannibals, and for the benefit of those not acquainted with the legendary tore of that part of England it must be explained that this pirate was a monster pike which terrorized the waters of the lake in Beestone for upward of thirty years.

The pike, which had the reputation of being the most artful fish in the world, earned the name of "the pirate" because of his predatory raids on fishermen's lines whenever they hooked anything. Anglers came from miles around to try and cutch the freebooter, but the fish was too clever for the most expert piscator.

According to stories told over mugs of ale at the village inn the "pirate" was hooked only once, and in a vicious rage he broke the line and escaped. Yet the honor of catching him goes to a young ex-soldier who had been pike fishing only four times in his life.

The night of the capture they held guessing contest in the village as to the actual weight of the "pirate," the prize being the fish itself. He weighed 26 pounds 1 ounce, measured five feet and had a girth of two feet.

JUST PULLED UP IN TIME

Timpkins' Abrupt Change of Subject Hardly to Be Wondered at Under the Circumstances.

The shaded lights, music in the dislance, sweet perfumes from the costly flowers about them—everything was just right for a proposal, and Timpkins decided to chance his luck. She was pretty, which was good, and also, he believed, an heiress, which was

"Are you not afraid that some one will marry you for your money?" he asked gently.

"Oh, dear, no!" smiled the girl. "Such an idea never entered my head!"

"Ah, Miss Liscombe," he sighed, "in your sweet innocence you do not dream how coldly, cruelly mercenary some men are!"

"Perhaps I don't." replied the girl calmly.

"I would not for a moment have such a terrible fate befall you!" he said passionately. "You are too good, too beautiful. The man who wins you should love you for yourself

"He'll have to," the girl remarked. "It's my cousin Jennie who has the money-not I. You seem to have got me mixed. I haven't a penny myself." "Oh-er"-stammered the young man-"what pleasant weather we are having, aren't we?"

Gone Lower.

Several of our Hoosier school build-Ings are named after noted Americans of a generation or more ago. Recently at a community meeting at one of these buildings the speaker spoke of the spirit of the man, whose name the building bore, hovering over the school. The children seemed much impressed then but it took the next day to show how deeply some had been moved.

The principal sent two youngsters to the basement to see to the furnace in the absence of the janitor. They came rushing up a few minutes later saying that they had heard a "terrible noise" down there. The principal laughed at them but another boy arose in their defense. "I bet I know what it is," he said. "I bet it's that man's spirit around here again. Only this time instead of being on the roof it's down in the cellar."-Indianapolis News.

Changed His Mind.

He was well up in the sixtles and always got a lot of pleasure out of walking. He would always say: "You city people don't get out enough and

In his short stay in the city he stepped into his son's downtown magazine shop and said: "I just walked down from Thirty-fourth street." With pride he added: "That's not bad for a young fellow like me! And, by the way, your wife gave me this note and said for me to stop and get these things. Where is this store?" "That's the department store just a square up the street—this street," replied his son. "A department store! Where is that errand boy you have around here? I'm too tired to walk up there," replied the old man.

Slow to Learn. "This newly made millionaire is an uncouth fellow." "So he is. Yet he, frequents the most fashionable restaurants." "That's why I think it strange that he is so backward in acquiring a polish. The mere contemplation of a faultless head waiter ought to give him some ideas of deportment."-Bir-

FLOUR IS FUEL

Flour contains the elements that the body turns into heat and energy. Bread is the fuel that our bodies need to keep them warm and healthy. The amount of energy and heat that any food will produce is measured in 'calories' contains more calories than 90 cents worth of beef or mutton; 60 cents worth of milk or $1.25 wodth of eggs.

Bread is the cheapest of foods, and it is the healthiest, the most wholesome and greatest of energy-producers as well. You should use more bread and biscuits on your table. Let them take the place of some of the more expensive dishes. It means better health and greater economy.

Nothing could be more delicious that the bread, biscuits and cake made with these famous products of the Piedmont Mills. They have stood the test for more than 50 years. Make their acquaintance today.

Big Value in Tires for The Smaller Cars

Back of the manufacture of Goodyear Tires for the smaller cars is the same purpose to supply high value in the product that is behind the manufacture of the Goodyear Tires that equip the most expensive automobiles built.

This purpose is expressed by the enormous resources, extraordinary skill and scrupulous care applied to the manufacture of Goodyear Tires in the largest tire factory in the world devoted solely to the 30x3-, 30x31/2-, and

The effect of this endeavor is noted in the fact that last year more cars using these sizes were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

It is also noted in the fact that if you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car requiring one of the sizes mentioned, you can secure Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes at the nearest Goodyear
