The church was artistically decorated, the altar being flanked with ferns, smilax and yellow chrysanthemums, with tall pedestals holding candelabras filled with burning tapers. As the audience awaited the bridal party Mrs. R. H. Long, sang "At Dawning" and "Because." Mrs. O. S. Brock, of Union, accompanied on the piano. As Lohengrin's wedding march rendered by Mesdames Brock and Long peaked out, the ribbon girls entered. Sadie, Grace, Evelyn and Ethel Jeter. Their costumes were gold cloth with tulle drapery and turquoise ribbons, next the ushers, George W. Thomas, Rowland Glenn Hill, I. P. Jeter and Hamilton Hill of Bishopville and Pine-wood.

The bridesmaids and groomsmen entered in the following order: Miss Mary Ratchford, as first bridesmaid, in green satin with overdress of tulle and pearl trimmings, with Sap Sowell of Camden, coming down opposite aisle, crossing in front of the altar. Miss Polly Jeter, in pink satin and silver lace, with John Langford, Miss Ethel Sowell, in apricot shaded with gold, with Gene Pearce. Miss Elizabeth Jeter in pink pussywillow taffeta and silver lace, with Charley Sowell. Miss Sara McKown, in yellow satin with gold lace and pearls, with Tom Humphries. Then came the maids of honor, Miss Natalie Autrey wearing turquoise satin, with gold and silver trimmings. Misses Nancy, and Victoria Jeter, turquoise satin, silver lace and tulle. Dames of honor, Mrs. George W. Thomas, sister of the bride, and Mrs. W. T. Jeter, opposite her in the other aisle, these wearing costumes of gold cloth with overdress of lace tulle and gold flowers. Maids and dames carried yellow chrysanthemums tied with pink tulle, all forming a beautiful rainbow. Ruth Jeter, Elizabeth Hammond, Louise and Clara Mae Sowell, in dainty costumes of frilled yellow organdy and tulle bows, carried white tulle baskets filled with rose petals which they scattered in the path way of the bride. Preceding the bride the ring bearer, little Mary Fleming Jeter in blue tulle over gold cloth, carried the ring in a large yellow chrysanthemum.

The bride entered on the arm of her father and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Luther Sowell, of Camden. The bride was lovely in an elegant gown of white duchess satin over cloth of silver with pearls trimmings. The long court train was elaborately embroidered in silver and the veil was caught to the head in coronet fashion with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of bride roses showered with lilies of the valley. As the bridal party left the church Mendelssohn's wedding march was used for the recessional.

The guests proceeded to the home of the bride where a brilliant reception was held, the bridal party and the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Jeter, in the receiving line. After a bridal trip Mr. and Mrs. Sowell will be an acceptable addition to the social circle of Camden. Mrs. Sowell is one of Carlisle's most popular and attractive young women. She has made her home here all of her life and has scores of friends who regret that her marriage will take her away from her home town.

LEE COUNTY NEWS NOTES
Items of Interest Gathered From the Leader and Vindicator.
The Presbyterian church was the scene of a beautiful wedding Tuesday evening, November 9, when Miss Anita McCutchen became the bride of Mr. James Montgomery Nelson of Summerton, S. C.
Last Sunday afternoon J. I. Parrott and Miss Minnie F. Berry were married at the Baptist parsonage by the Rev. J. W. Guy, the ceremony being witnessed by a few invited friends.
The report, as published in the Leader and Vindicator, stating that Bishopville was to have only one train a day, was an error. The old schedule on the Coast Line is still in force, except that the night train will not go to Lucknow, but stop at Bishopville, so Lucknow is the only point that will have only one train a day. The Leader and Vindicator regrets that this error was made and is very glad indeed to make the correction.
The death of George W. McKnight, an unmarried man of about 40 years of age, which occurred at his home at Lynchburg on Wednesday night of last week was a shock to the entire community. Mr. McKnight was in his usual good health and had eaten a hearty supper when he stated that he was going out to see about the next day's work, when in a few minutes a negro ran to the house, telling them he had fallen in the road. He died shortly after being brought to the house, a stroke of apoplexy being the cause of his death.
The funeral over the body of James Irby Register, who died in France of pneumonia, February 23, 1919, was held at Savannah chapel Friday, Nov. 19, the service being conducted by Rev. W. D. Grantham.
The home of Mrs. J. A. Berry, about 8 miles from Bishopville, in the Bethany community, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday afternoon. The loss on the building was about $3,000 and was covered by insurance. The furniture and furnishings were not insured and was a complete loss, except the piano which was saved. The family was away from home and it is thought that the fire started from an oil stove which probably was left burning.
On Saturday, November 20, 1920, Mr. John T. McCants, after an illness of little more than a week died at his home surrounded by loved ones. He took his bed Wednesday a week ago complaining of severe headache accompanied with a bad cough. His family physician was called at once, but he grew worse and then Dr. Du-Rose was called in consultation, but pneumonia developed so rapidly that he never responded to medical treatment and the spirit of this promising young man and excellent citizen left its tenement of clay and passed over the great divide. Mr. McCants was about 40 years old and leaves a devoted wife, one little girl about 7 years old and an infant son.

M. M. Benson, of the Camden Baptist church.

THE VAULT OF VETCH AND OATS AS A COVER CROP.
Mr. E. Lee Gaines, a young farmer of Townville who farms in Anderson and Oconee Counties, has secured some remarkable results with vetch and oats as a cover crop. According to a recent report of George R. Briggs, Oconee County Agent, Mr. Gaines will average over a bale per acre on upwards of 100 acres of cotton. One field will average probably 1 1/2 bales per acre. A tenant share-cropper made 22 bales on 16 acres in 1919. On still another field 16 bales were harvested as compared with a harvest of only three bales from the same field just four years ago. Vetch and oats made the difference.
Mr. Gaines turned under vetch and oats four feet high last spring, and his neighbors thought he was crazy, but he told them to wait and see. And they did see. Mr. Gaines sows vetch and oats in the cotton fields in the fall, and while there is slight damage to the cotton he does not worry over this damage for he is repaid for it a hundred fold in benefits from the cover crop. His farm is becoming a sort of mecca for other farmers who visit it to see what he is accomplishing, and what they see is more eloquent than words.
