

"THE CITY WITH A SOUL"

Powerful Sermon Delivered By Pastor of Baptist Church.

"Camden—The City With a Soul" was the subject of a most powerful sermon delivered by Rev. M. M. Benson, pastor of the Camden Baptist Church on last Sunday evening. The special sermon had been previously announced and had attracted much attention, due to the fact that the sermon was in keeping with the slogan of our Chamber of Commerce, and the auditorium was well-filled long before time for the service. An added feature in connection with the sermon was the music rendered by the choir which was well in keeping with subject, and at the close of the sermon "The City With a Soul" was sung as a solo by the secretary treasurer of our Chamber of Commerce. All the directors of the organization, together with their families attended the service and occupied reserved seats.

After reading Psalm 126 and 127, Rev. Benson announced that the text for the evening would be found in Acts 9:6. "Arise and enter into the city and it shall be told thee what to do," which was spoken by Christ to Saul of Tarsus when he was on his way into Damascus to persecute the Christians. In expounding the sermon in his forceful manner, Rev. Benson declared, "Criticism is good sometimes. Speaking of 'Camden—The City With a Soul' the speaker declared that we must really enter into Camden, and instead of persecuting and tearing down, we must revive, build up, and preach for Christianity. If we do get this spirit of revival, people from all sections of the State will sit up and take notice of what we are doing."

"We have not entered into the city of Camden. If we will, we will find its wonderful possibilities. We can reveal to the state that Camden is a city with a soul that is alive. When we speak of 'Camden—The City With a Soul' we are not speaking of Camden of years ago, not of Camden today, but of Camden to be—a city with a soul that shall live."

"Enter into the work of the city and receive instructions from the voice of authority. We can't live a life entirely to ourselves. The cities will have to labor, or the state will perish. We want a city whose institutions are well founded, and whose homes are those in which God's name is known, revered and honored—whose commerce is founded upon truth and righteously. We must measure up to the ideal which God holds up."

In the course of his sermon, Rev. Benson praised very highly the work of one Chamber of Commerce, declaring that they were doing more to really build a city with a soul than ever before, and that as a result of their efforts, we would within a very short time realize the great value of an organization of this character.

The speaker declared that the citizens interested in the reorganization of the present organization displayed a greater wisdom in the way they went about it than perhaps any other organization in the country, referring to the fact that when our Chamber was reorganized all barriers were thrown aside that the rich, the poor, the strong and the weak were all put on equal basis to work together for a common good that meant the building of a city that shall have a soul. He declared that an organization bound together like this would stand as a beacon light for other cities that when they were bound together like this, everything done by them would be square, upright, loyal and true.

"With this great cooperation and the wonderful advantages offered by Camden, the speaker declared that Camden could be made a great industrial city, as well as an agricultural city, and at this point made a plea to the citizens to give the unbridled support and cooperation to the organization that really built Camden so completely at least."

At the close of the sermon, Rev. Benson read a poem by Robert J. Barrette entitled, "Keep sweet and keep moving." The Chronicle suggests that they have to omit this poem, for it is necessary on account of lack of space. It also regrets that they have not space enough to give a more detailed account of the sermon.

Youth Kills Himself.

Greenville, March 14.—Disappointment over the refusal of his parents to permit him to go to a school entertainment is believed to have been the motive that prompted Cecil Chandler, aged 13, to end his own life with a shotgun tonight at the home of his father, R. E. Chandler, prosperous farmer of the lower section of the county.

HILL MAN KILLS SELF*Warren L. Thompson, of Greenwood, Had Been in Ill Health.

Greenwood, March 14.—Warren L. Thompson, 38 years old, superintendent of Grendel mill No. 2, committed suicide today about noon by shooting himself once through the heart. He left no note or explanation for the act. Worry over ill health and depressed business conditions are the causes which led to the suicide, members of the family believe. He had been superintendent of the mill since it was organized 11 years ago, coming directly home from the mill office. Mr. Thompson went to his bedroom on the second floor of his home and shot himself with .32 caliber revolver. Members of his family found the body lying partly across the bed with the pistol lying on the floor. Prior to the shooting members of the family suspected nothing wrong with him. He had been in ill health for several weeks and had worried over business affairs, but seemed as well as usual today, spending most of the morning at work in the mill office.

Mr. Thompson was very popular with the mill employees and was regarded as an efficient cotton mill executive. He was well known throughout this section and had hundreds of friends who were pleased to learn of his tragic end. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

WATSON APOLOGIZES*Charges Against United States Senator-Elect Withdrawn.

Indictments against Senator-elect Thomas E. Watson, growing out of the incident in Miss S. E. Wiley's hotel at Buford, Ga., on April 18, last, during the senatorial primary campaign, have been settled out of court. It was announced recently. Conferences between friends of Mr. Watson and Miss Wiley resulted in an agreement to not press all cases if Watson would make formal apology to Miss Wiley and pay court costs, and this was done. The charges against Mr. Watson alleged that while spending the night at the Wiley hotel during the campaign he appeared in public insufficiently dressed, had liquor in his room and used objectionable language in the presence of Miss Wiley.

The case against W. E. Miller, Watson's campaign companion, charged with drawing a pistol, was not pressed at the same time.

The Biltmore hospital at Asheville, N. C., was burned Saturday of last week.
