The Old-time Confederates Are Coming
The coming week will bring to Camden the South Carolina Division United Confederate Veterans, and they will be received with open houses, open hearts and warm hand clasps.

In 1791 Camden had as an honor guest the beloved Washington at the zenith of his glory, and this was indeed an honor to any community.

Again in 1825 our town was honored by a visit from Marquis de Lafayette, and since that time has entertained many celebrities who had won distinction in literary circles and the political arena, as well as winning laurels on the "field of Mars." But we venture to say that never before has she felt more honored, never before have the people been more united in accord, a welcome than on this occasion when they throw wide their gates to the old-time Confederates and bid them come in and accept the best that Camden has to offer.

"They are old-time Confederates, and they are good enough for me," Jeff Davis was their leader, their only chosen leader.

Their true and faithful leader, Lee and Johnston were their chief statesmen.

Brags, Beauregard, and Johnson, These were glorious chieftans, They were good enough for me.

They followed Stonewall Jackson, The Christian soldier Jackson, The terror-striking Jackson, He was good enough for me.

They fought with Hood and Gordon, With Longstreet, Polk and Cleburne, With Elwell, Hill and Hardie; They were good enough for me.

They rode with Stuart and Hampton, With Fitz-Lee Duke and Morgan, With Forest and Joe Wheeler They were good enough for me.

They wore themselves out fighting, Faced perils and privations They made a glorious record For Southern Liberty.

They served their country faithfully, On land and on the sea, They are old-time Confederates, And they are good enough for me.

Memorial Exercises Called Off.

It is a matter of much regret to John D. Kennedy chapter, U. D. C., that Memorial exercises were called off at the last moment, and perhaps the president of the chapter did not act wisely in doing so. But at 4:45 it was still raining and when the speaker for the occasion phoned her she did not think it right to ask him to stand in the rain and deliver an address, though he was perfectly willing to abide by her decision. Nor did she think it fair to ask him to give a carefully prepared address to an extremely small audience, which she felt sure he would have, with threatening clouds and continued showers. No long distance message came to bear the good news that the clouds would break and the sun give a glimpse of his smiling face before sinking behind the western clouds, and so acting upon her best judgement she called it off, and so must answer for any disappointment or inconvenience caused by doing so.

All things seemed propitious for an unusually attractive Memorial programme. Arrangements had been made to have music on the stand, the singing of old Southern songs by a choir, and the school children taking part, which is always an interesting feature. Mr. W. H. Hodges of the Methodist church had prepared an excellent address, but we hope the hearing of this, is only a postponed pleasure as Mr. Hodges has promised to give it some time in the future, perhaps before next Memorial Day.

The cemetery was clean, fresh and beautiful abloom with many flowers, and each hero's grave adorned with a laurel wreath and flag. A faithful committee from the U. D. C. chapter had completed this labor of love before the rain came, and another committee had decorated the Confederate monument, beautifully and artistically. So we feel that Memorial Day was not a failure after all, if we did not have to war with the elements and retire vanquished, for a good bit of the work had been put in before hand. Our remembrance, flowers and laurels were given—

"To our dead heroes-to the hearts That thrill no more to love or glory. To those who acted well their part, Who died in youth and live in glory With tears forever be it told, Until oblivion covers all; Until the heavens themselves wear old And totter slowly to their fall."

Camp Jackson Was Winner.

A team from Camp Jackson Tuesday afternoon defeated the newly organized Camden team by a score of 16 to 1. Poor team work and poor pitching was the cause of the heavy score against Camden. The team from Camp Jackson was the best of the army and had the reputation of not having lost a game this season. Camden has some good material, but the lack of practice was very evident. Several more new players are expected soon to join the home team and better ball may be expected in the future.

Meeting of Civic League.

An interesting meeting of the Civic League was held at the Library Monday afternoon, the president, Mrs. Muller presiding, and the secretary, Miss Nettles, discharging the duties of that office.

The League was glad to welcome three new members, Mrs. David Wolfe Mrs. H. C. Singleton, Miss Lula Whitaker.

The treasurer, Mrs. Eugene Blake, gave in a very encouraging report, showing finances in a healthy condition. The amount paid out for entertainment at the recent Federation was $56.00.

The League acknowledged with thanks a check for $20 from Mr. Ben Ticknor.

Mrs. Rhame as chairman of the planting committee reported two beds of flowers put out in Monument park. Mrs. William Shannon gave a favorable report from Kershaw park, and the improved condition of the fountain in that park.

Mrs. M. Baruch as chairman reported Hampton park in fine condition, and this beautiful park of tall waving pines is indeed a joy and pleasure to the people of Camden.

Mrs. Blakeney from the Hospital committee said that the people had responded most generously, in promising the use of their cars, in taking out convalescent patients, and it is hoped that in the future this will become a custom.

The president appointed a Depot committee to look after the two stations. Mrs. Richey, chairman; Mrs. C. P. DuBose, Mrs. Robert Kennedy, Mrs. Henry Brown, and Miss Henrietta Johnson.

The president then introduced Mr. C. P. McDaniel, secretary of our Chamber of Commerce, and he gave some information and read two letters from the officials of the Seaboard Rail Road. It is their desire to make Camden one of the most comfortable and attractive station on the line, as it has the making of the most beautiful and with the aid of the League they hope to bring this about. However, there is some red-tape attached to it, and in order to make the desired improvements a lease for five or ten years for a memorial sum must be granted. Mrs. Richey, chairman of the Camden, Mr. McDaniel urged the depot committee was authorized to stand by the city and its institutions secure this lease. Mr. McDaniel then gave an interesting talk on Camden's matter of buying at home. The secretary endorsed what Mr. McDaniel had a gentleman who had been a citizen of Camden for thirty years told him that that whatever influence her pen might have had has been used in trying to prevail to a greater extent among the town and county than he had ever they were doing their home town a known before, and that was one reason great injustice when they spent their

It is an organization that should claim the interest of every woman in Camden.
