The Old Hymns.

By Frank L. Stanton, in the Atlanta Constitution.

There's lots of music in 'em—the hymns of long ago. And when some gray-haired brother sings the ones, I used to know, I sorter want to take a hand—I think of days gone by—

On Jordan's stormy banks I stand and cast a wistful eye!
There's lots of music in 'em—those dear, sweet hymns of old. With visions bright of lands of light and shining streets of gold; And I hear 'em ringing—singing where memory dreaming stands—From Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strands.

They seem to sing forever of holier, sweeter days. When the lilies of the love of God bloomed white in all the ways; And I want to hear their music from the old-time meetin's rise
"I can read my little clear to mansions in the skies."

We never needed singin' books in them old days—we knew the words, the tunes of every one—the dear old hymn book through! We didn't have no trumpets then, no organs built for show. We only sang to praise the Lord, "from whom all blessings flow."

An' so I love the good old hymns and when my time shall come—before the light has left me, and my singing lips are dumb—If I can hear 'em sing them then, I'll pass without a sigh To "Canaan's fair and happy land, where my possessions lie."

Aftermath of the Reunion.

Charming and delightful in every particular was the reception held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. J. Dunn with the captains of the Reunion teams as hostesses.

Each captain had invited the members of her team to be present, and most of them were there, others were unavoidably detained. All pronounced the aftermath, or the second mowing of the verdant friendships and acquaintances that had sprung up by intimate work for a common cause, as full and complete in its harvest as the first.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Dunn, who was becomingly dressed in black lace, and just to her right stood the guest of honor, Mrs. William Whitaker, a recent bride, whom the ladies were pleased to compliment not only for her own sake, but for that of her husband who gave such valuable aid, and such loyal service during the occasion that they were celebrating. Mrs. Whitaker wore a simple, but beautiful afternoon dress of white organdie, with accessories to match, and a picture hat of black lace.

The rooms were especially attractive with quantities of early summer flowers, and the dainty refreshments of ice cream and cake were passed by Mrs. Margaret C. Miller, Mrs. Grover Blackwell, Mrs. Andrew Whitaker, Mrs. Robin Zemp, Miss Charlotte Shannon, Mrs. Robert Marye and others.

NET WITH MRS. ZEMP

Last Meeting of U. D. C. Chapter For Summer Months.

The John D. Kennedy Chapter U. D. C. held a very enjoyable and successful meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. C. Zemp with Mrs. E. B. Buddin as assistant hostess. The meeting was called to order by the President and the chapter secretary who has the enviable record of not missing a meeting in her three years serving as in her place.

The names of Mrs. J. D. Brown, Miss Lottie Brown, Mrs. Marlon Zemp, Miss Ernestine Bateman and Mrs. J. L. Jackson, of Hagood, were proposed and accepted for membership.

The president urged all who had applications for membership out to fill and send in at once, or certainly before the September meeting. Several of these have paid their chapter dues, but the voting strength of the chapter depends entirely upon the registration, and merely paying dues does not make them Daughters of the Confederacy. They must be accepted by the United Daughters of the Confederacy and also by the South Carolina division. The chapter has more than a hundred registered members, but will go far beyond that when the applications that are out come in. Let us urge the applicants to bring them in.

The historian, Mrs. Edwin Muller, read a letter from the State historian asking that papers be written from information derived from Confederate Veterans and Confederate women who remember the war, as this source of information is fast passing away. A committee consisting of Mrs. Edwin Muller, chairman, Mrs. A. C. Anernum, Miss Rebecca Nelson, Mrs. N. C. Arnett and Miss Leila Shannon was appointed by the chair to attend to this matter and the committee will appreciate any aid rendered. The papers are to go in not later than September first.

The chapter decided to resume the work of marking the graves of Confederate Soldiers. Mrs. F. Leslie Zemp and Mrs. E. E. Hill have charge of this work and will take pleasure in giving attention to any unmarked grave reported to them.

The Chapter voted $50 to the South Carolina room in the old Confederate White House in Richmond, Virginia.

The president asked the chapter to stand while the secretary read a tribute to the memory of Mrs. D. A. Boykin, second vice president and beloved member. While standing the president also expressed the sincere sorrow felt by the chapter in the death of Dr. Stanton Baruch, one time resident and beloved physician of our town, and always Camden's friend and benefactor. Mrs. William Shannon moved that the chapter president write a letter of condolence to Mrs. S. Baruch, who is a loyal member of our chapter, expressing our grief in his passing, and our admiration for his life and achievement. We deem it an honor and esteem it a privilege to perpetuate and keep green the memory and deeds of such a man.

The social hour was extremely pleasant. A charming quartette was sung by Mrs. J. B. Zemp, Mrs. Buddin and the Misses Katherine and Elizabeth Wallace, with Mrs. S. C. Zemp at the piano. Punch and cake were served by Misses Gertrude Zemp and Lucy Kirkland.

The chapter adjourned for the summer months, to reassemble in September, we hope, with renewed energies and high aspirations to accomplish great things.

Shocked the Parson.

Tom Craffill, of Texas, prominent in oil circles of late, tells the following on a minister who had discovered oil on some land he owned.

The minister invited some of his deacons to go with him to the new field, so that they might share in the opportunities. They were breakfasting and had decided that they would order chicken.

When the waitress, a caldmined and peroxidized miss, came up, the minister inquired: "How is the chicken this morning?"

"All right, kiddo," she reported. "How are you?"

A Pleasant Occasion at the Tea-room.

The Woman's Auxiliary of Grace church, with a few invited friends enjoyed a very pleasant occasion Wednesday afternoon at their pretty and picturesque tea room among the pines on Laurens street.

The honor guest was Miss Alice Gregg, of Mrs. Bluff, South Carolina, now of Chlax, representing the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese of South Carolina, trained and perfected for the work by that body of Christian women. Miss Gregg is charming in person and pleasing in manner, and captivated the audience with a delightful talk on the Orient, its customs and its possibilities. She spoke of the doctrine of Confucius, whose name is the highest and most honored in the land to which he gave his life long devotion. By the irony of fate he was deified after death, and like Buddha, Confucius, who had little belief in the supernatural became a divinity. She told of her arguments with educated Chinese proving that Christianity had much more to offer them as individuals and as a nation. Miss Gregg also displayed several very beautiful and striking Chinese costumes, among them a rose colored wedding gown, hand embroidered, and beaded. Also the tiny shoes worn by the most aristocratic woman of China. It was certainly an inspiring sight to see this attractive young woman so bright and happy in her chosen work of carrying sunshine to a sunless land.

An informal reception followed, the hostess serving punch and cake.

Camden Boy Honored.

Mr. George Wittkowsky returned home Wednesday afternoon from the University of South Carolina. On Monday night Mr. Wittkowsky took part in the annual inter-society celebration—something very unusual for a freshman. Mr. Wittkowsky and Mr. Jenkins, an academic senior represented the Euphradian Society in the debate against Mr. Smith and Mr. Mann, two senior law students representing the Clarosophic Society, and who for the past two years were regarded as the best debaters in the University. While the Clarosophic Society won the debate by a vote of two to one, Mr. Wittkowsky was highly complimented on his most excellent debate, and as shown by the vote of the judges the decision was very close.

Mr. Wittkowsky has recently had other honors conferred upon him, having been elected on the debating council for the next year, censor of the Euphradian Literary Society and assistant business manager of the "Garnet and Black," the college annual publication.

Friends from his home town who were present felt very proud of George and extend congratulations.

Change in Library Hours.

Beginning next Tuesday, June 14th, the afternoon hours at the Library will be from 5 to 6:30 o'clock. The change will not be effective Monday, the 13th, as there is to be a Civic League meeting at 5:30 p. m. The morning hours are from 9:30 to 12. Children are requested to come in the morning as the librarian will have more time to give to the selection of books for them.

Civic League to Meet.

The above organization will meet at the Library next Monday, June 13th at 5:30 p. m. The president urges a full attendance, as matters of importance are to be discussed.

Giving Sister Away.

Little Eleanor gazed long and thoughtfully at the young man who was calling on her grown-up sister, Kate.

"May I climb up on your knee, Mr. Greene?"

"Yes, of course, dear," smiled the young man who wanted to make a hit with the family. "Want to pull my hair—eh?"

"No; I want to see if I can find that word."

"Word? What word?" asked the puzzled visitor.

"I heard our Kate say this morning that if ever a man had the word 'idiot' written all over his face, it was you."

Interest in the case of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, escaped draft evader, has been manifested by the British Government, and it is possible that that Government will assist the United States in its efforts to obtain his return from Germany.

While in swimming in the Saluda River near Ware Shoals Thursday afternoon with a party of young people, Miss Margaret Finley, of Woodville, Greenville County, was drowned.

Women bandits are becoming nearly as numerous as their male counterparts in France.

Falling to dispose of her stories in the United States Miss Jane Burr, went to England, where she has been acclaimed one of the most successful women novelists that ever came to that country.

Don't miss seeing Wallace Reid in "The Love Special" showing at the Majestic today.

Mrs. Zemp Entertains League

The Hodges Epworth League of the Methodist Church held a most enjoyable "Y-not-come" at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Sidney C. Zemp, on Thursday evening, June 2nd.

This was the second of League "Y-not-come" the first having been held with Mr. and Mrs. Hodges at the Parsonage.

The programme was in charge of J. Manning Herbert, who is chairman of the Recreation Committee. He was ably assisted by his committee, Mrs. Robert Team, Messrs. D. V. Dixon and B. P. de Loache.

A most amusing number on the programme was the chewing gum contest in which the gum was modelled into all shapes. Some really artistic things were achieved. Miss Mary Emma Hough, who made a very realistic chewing gum lady received first prize. A nickel was tendered Miss Elizabeth Wallace for her work on a hat.

The programme which was very creditably rendered was as follows:

- Duet—Vocal, Cobb and Whitney.
- Quartette—Misses Wallace, Mrs. Buddin, Mrs. J. B. Zemp.
- Chewing Gum Contest—Grand prize, Instrumental—Mr. Wrenn.
- Recitation—Mr. Cobb.
- Solo—Vocal, Herbert and Wrenn.
- Duet—Vocal, Whitney and Cobb.
- Refreshments.

To the Memory of Mrs. D. A. Boykin.

It is with sorrow for our own loss, with pride in the nobility of the life that has passed, and with joy in the glory to which she has gone, that we tenderly lay this tribute of love to the memory of our second vice president, friend and co-laborer, Mrs. D. A. Boykin. She was among our most useful and faithful members, was twice vice president of the Chapter, acting president and unanimously elected to that office, but declined to accept the honor that had been thrust upon her, and the position that she was so eminently fitted to fill. Her name will live in annals of the Chapter as long as we remain loyal to the best instincts of our heart, and her fine vision, her unselfishness in the common cause will keep her memory green even as the chaplets of myrtle and ivy which we placed upon her casket, twined by the loving hands of her comrades. We had only bright memories of her for her life was a glad song without a false note to it.

"Our lives are songs, God writes the words. And we set them to music at pleasure; And the song grows glad, or sweet, or sad. As we chose to fashion the measure.

We must write the music whatever the song. Whatever the rhyme or meter; And if it is sad we can make it glad, And if it is sweet, we can make it sweeter."

If discord ever entered into her life's composition we are sure she did not prolong the meter, but quickly drifted into more inspiring measures. And now she has joined the choir invisible—Where seraphims sing in the City of Gold—Where lilies are fadeless by rivers of light, And day is undarkened by curtains of night.
