Met With Mrs. Halle.

The Kirkwood Book Club had an enjoyable meeting last Thursday morning with Mrs. W. H. Halle as an agreeable hostess. The roll call was responded to by names of Revolutionary characters and heroes. An interesting paper was given on South Carolina's part in winning American Independance, also a sketch on the "Lire of Henry Laurens," by Mrs. J. Gardner Richards. Miss Jumelle Halle then read in a very pleasing manner, "The Battle of King's Mountain."

The social hour was much enjoyed. the hostess serving ices with cake. Mrs. Dan M. Jones will be the next hostess, on Thursday morning, March 23rd, at 11 o'clock. All members are cordially invited.

Miss Wilbur McCallum Hostess, Miss Wilbur McCallum charmingly entertained at a bridge party on Wednesday evening at the home of her parents on Chestnut street. The attractive rooms of this lovely new home were thrown open to the enthusiastic players, and the hours passed swiftly. Miss Lois Williams proved the fortunate winner of the ladies prize, a French ivory card case, while Mr. Herbert Wren won the silver knife given for the gentleman's prize. Five tables of players enjoyed the evening and at a late hour a delicious salud course with iced tea was served.

Epworth League Meeting.

This society of young people organized about one year ago in the Lyttleton Street Methodist church is in a. flourishing condition, having sixtyfour members on the roll call and hearty cooperation in every phase of the work. A choir of fourteen is in charge of the music on Sunday eveuings and under the leadership of Mrs. S. C. Zemp; who is an inspiration to the society, the music is a great success. Committees visit the sick, cheering with their young presences and also carrying flowers for the sick room. The League has also furnished. a room at the hospital, and does much benevolent work, A social meeting every month with a good musical and literary programme is very enjoyable. Four devotional meetings each month in which the members take part are also held.

The model, with all masts and other spars in place and with rigging. blocks, boats, etc., as they should be, was a handsome picture when it was packed for slipment at Nantucket.

But when the fragile model reached Madeira's home it came out of the packing case nearly wrecked. It had been poorly packed and roughly handied on the trip. Madeira looked at the mass of broken spars and wreckage and said things about the packer and also the agent at Nantucket. He figured the model little better than matchwood and that it never could be repaired.

New Fad Among the Girls is to Have Man Friend's Handwriting Read by Graphologist.

The latest fad of the girls is to have the handwriting of their favorite man friend read by a graphologist. Neat little packets of masculine notes, curiously enough readdressed in a feminine band, have been received by handwriting experts, who will tell your character from a few characteristic lines. The inmost secrets of the character tendencies of the unsuspecting man upon whom you are wondering whether to center your affections or not are disclosed to you through this novel means. "It's so exciting that I simply can't wait till I get a note from every man I meet," confessed one debutante. "One letter with do in a pinch, but most handwriting fortune tellers prefer to have several, written at long intervals apart, submitted as samples. But, goodness me! nowadays friendships don't always last that long. There are only two things dangerous to the game -one is that the man may get suspicious and stop writing, or, worst of all, he may get his own letters back from the graphelogist by mistake. For this reason elways be sure to remove all traces of name and address from your original letter,"--Chicago Journal.
