

THE CAMDEN CHRONICLE

VOLUME XXXIV.

CAMDEN, SOUTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1922.

NUMBER 35.

NASH-DUNN.

A Brilliant Wedding Service at the Home of Mrs. J. H. Clifton.

One of the most brilliant events of the season was a marriage held at the residence of Mrs. J. H. Clifton, on the corner of Broad street and Salem avenue, at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when the house was filled with the many friends of the families of the bride and groom, to witness the marriage ceremony of Miss Ann Nash, the second daughter of Mrs. Anne L. Nash to Dr. James Ralph Dunn of Camden.

The entire lower floor of this beautiful and spacious residence was profusely and artistically decorated for the occasion, the color scheme in the ceremony and dining rooms being green and white, the large dining table being ornamented with a large silver basket filled with white chrysanthemums, while a shower of white tulle fell gracefully from the chandelier above. The living room and hall were decorated with green and yellow, and the opening of the large folding doors between these rooms gave plenty of room for the large crowd who had assembled, while a large bank of ferns made a beautiful background for the scene of youthful beauty and loveliness which came before it, while myriads of candles among the decorations, and supported by silver and crystal candlesticks shed a mellow glow over the scene transforming it into an elfin bower in the realms of fairyland.

Mrs. R. C. Williams, an old friend of the bride, presided at the piano, and rendered piano selections, among which were Libes Trauner, a love song, and when the chords of Lohngren's Wedding March were struck, all eyes were turned to the broad staircase, down which the bridal party slowly descended. The first to appear was the maid of honor, in the person of Miss Bess Nash, a sister of the bride, gowned in peach bloom georgette and carried an arm bouquet of pink Russell roses. The ring bearer, little Miss Ann Nash, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Nash of St. Paul, N. C., was daintily robed in white canton crepe, and carried the emblem of mutual and unending love and devotion in the center of a big white rose. The bride was accompanied by her brother, Dr. Fred Nash, and was beautifully gowned in white satin and lace with full court train, and wore a veil held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses showered with white narcissus. The groom entered by a side door, accompanied by his only brother, Dr. Clarence Dunn.

The mother of the bride was gowned in satin, black crepe trimmed in lace, and the mother of the groom appeared in a suit of black lace.

The beautiful and impressive ring service of the Presbyterian church, of which the bride was a member, was used by her pastor, Dr. J. P. Marion, and immediately after the bride and groom had received the congratulations and felicitations of their many friends who gathered about them, a dainty salad course with coffee was served to the guests, and while this very delightful part of the program was engaging their attention, the bride and groom slipped away for their honeymoon, which will be spent in a tour through many of the Northern cities, probably going as far North as New York city, making the trip by auto, after which they will return to Camden, where they will make their future home.

Those who assisted on this occasion were Mrs. C. G. Rowland, Mrs. John Green, Mrs. Leland Moore, Mrs. Leon Weinberg, Mrs. W. C. Boyle, Mrs. S. L. Roddy, Mrs. Douglas Plowden, Mrs. Pendleton, and the Misses Elizabeth Crowson and Margaret Dick.

Mrs. Dunn is one of Sumter's fairest daughters, who after graduating in her home city, attended Queen's College in Charlotte and afterward graduated in nursing at one of the hospitals in that city. She has a host of admiring friends here who sincerely regret her leaving Sumter. The groom is a graduate of Davidson College and of the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. He was also an intern at St. Elizabeth hospital in Richmond and during the past two years has practiced with Dr. Crowe, a noted specialist in the diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, in Baltimore. He is a member of the A. K. K. fraternity, and is at present practicing medicine in his home town, Camden.

Tuesday evening the bridal party were entertained at the home of Mrs. Clifton. On that occasion the bridal cake was cut, the ring being cut by Miss Bess Nash, the emblem of good luck, the four leaf clover, by Miss Marie Nash, while the bachelor's button went to Dr. Clarence Dunn.

The out-of-town guests to the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Goodall, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brown, Mrs. and Miss Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce, Dr. and Mrs. John Corbett and Miss Dorothy Burns, all of Camden, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Nash and daughter, little Miss Ann, of St. Paul, N. C., Mr. and Mrs. Leon Weinberg and Miss Irma Weinberg of Manning, Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Brown of Mannville, Sumter Herald.

CARBETT WILL GO TO PRISON.

Orangeburg County Man Loses Fight For Freedom.

Orangeburg, Nov. 27.—Announcement that Carlos Corbett, convicted last May of manslaughter for killing Hugh Fanning, would be taken to the State penitentiary tomorrow to begin serving eighteen years in prison apparently brings to an end one of the most notable legal fights in the history of this county. For two years Corbett has fought for his liberty three times appearing before the Court of General Sessions here and the Supreme Court once passing on his case.

Announcement was made today that Sheriff R. Fulton Duke tomorrow would take Corbett to prison. Corbett in March, 1920, became involved in an altercation in front of his home near here with Bryan Salley, Julian Cooper, Hugh Fanning and Jones Salley. The first three were killed and Jones Salley blinded. Corbett contended that the four men were intoxicated and that on a previous visit to his home that night had built a fire close to outbuildings and endangered them. Returning, as he was extinguishing the fire, he claimed, the men advanced on him and he opened fire.

The State contended that Corbett became enraged about the fire, which it contended was caused by the exhaust of a stalled automobile, and killed the men without cause.

Feeling ran high for a time in this section. Corbett was first tried in September, 1920, for the killing of Bryan Salley and was acquitted. In January, 1921, he was arraigned for the killing of Hugh Fanning, but the defense in a demurrer contended that the three deaths resulted from the same act and that Corbett should not be tried again after being acquitted in one case. Judge Shipp upheld the demurrer but the Supreme Court held that the deaths were separate acts and remanded Corbett for further trial.

Last May he was put on trial for killing Fanning and convicted of manslaughter.

Killed By Automobile.

Columbia, Nov. 27.—Mrs. W. H. Kelly, 63, died at a local hospital this afternoon shortly after being struck by an automobile on the Two-Notch road, just out of Columbia. The accident occurred as Mrs. Kelly was attempting to prevent a child from being run down, it is understood. Mrs. M. F. Harrison, of Edgewood, and Mrs. A. D. Daniels, were in the automobile, according to a report to Coroner J. H. Scott.

Mrs. Kelly's remains were carried to Blaney for burial. She was a close relative of Mrs. Ross, wife of the agent of the Seaboard at Camden.

Hurt in Auto Wreck.

Lancaster, S. C., Nov. 27.—Dr. M. B. Humphries, of this city, was seriously injured, Miss Frances Anderson, Jonesville, sustained a broken leg, and four other persons were more or less seriously injured late yesterday, when an automobile, driven by Dr. Humphries, and one driven by J. M. McGaskill, collided near here. The accident was caused by dust obscuring the drivers' sight, it was said.

Human Fly Here.

Billie O'Brine, an Irishman, styling himself the "Human Fly" was here Monday where he gave an exhibition of steeple-climbing to a large crowd gathered at the city hall. Starting from the pavement he went to the roof of the building and there hung head-downward, holding to the ledge with the back of his toes. Continuing his climb O'Brine scaled the south side of the tower with nothing to help him along but his fingers and toes, and went on to the top, finally climbing the historic old "King Hagler"—the Indian figure that points the way of the wind. O'Brine is from Oklahoma and says that he has been climbing since he was nineteen years of age, has had three falls in which he suffered two ribs, both ankles broken and one arm broken. His present home is Penn. Pa., and he was headed south, traveling in a house-car.

New Bridge Completed.

The Wateree river bridge has been completed and accepted from the contractors, it was announced at the offices of the highway department yesterday. The structure is not yet open to traffic however, as the approach on the Sumter side is not finished.

This approach will be completed within the next two months, as work is progressing rapidly, it was announced, and the bridge will be open to traffic early next year.

The structure, located at Garners Ferry on the road to Sumter, cost approximately $150,000 and has been under construction for the last year and a half. When open to traffic the bridge will reduce considerably the distance from Columbia to Sumter. It is one of the major bridge projects completed by the highway department this year.—Sumter Herald.

Ballard's Hill No More.

Ballard's Hill is no longer the dread of autoists from Sumter to Camden. A new road has been opened around this hill, which is of a sand clay surface, and the hill, which has been the Waterloo of a great many travelers, is now a thing of the past.—Sumter Herald.

Moves to Fall River.

Walter L. Lowry, a former Camden man, who for the past six years has been superintendent of the Utica, N. Y., Knitting Mills, has resigned his position and will move this month to accept the position of Treasurer of the Conanicut Mills, at Fall River, Mass.

FARIES FOUND GUILTY.

Murderer of Four Sentenced to Die in Chair December 29th.

York, Nov. 25.—William C. Faries, convicted by a York jury of the murder of Newton Taylor, 13 year old boy, at Clover, was this afternoon sentenced to die in the electric chair December 29, sentence being pronounced by Judge Peurifoy at 5:35 o'clock this afternoon, after he had overruled a motion by counsel for the defense for a new trial. Counsel for Faries announced this afternoon that an appeal would be taken to the supreme court.

At 1:38 o'clock this afternoon, the case, the trial of which had begun yesterday morning, went to the jury and at 3:19 o'clock, after the dinner recess, the verdict was brought in. However, it was learned this afternoon, the jury required only one ballot in the reaching of the verdict and this ballot, it was announced, was not taken until the jurors had prayed for guidance in reaching their decision. "I have wondered" Judge Peurifoy told the aged defendant, "if you could retrace your steps if you would live your life any differently. Now, I think, you have come to know what it means to strike down and—in anger and possibly you could tell the young folk of this city something about the control of the passions. But your race is run. I do not know what your intentions were in youth. But if good intentions are not translated into good actions, they fall short of value. You have taken the wrong angle. You might but instead you fed the flames of anger, and as a result you stand today, just as the sun is sinking, almost in the very presence of your Maker. Your attorneys may get you a new trial, but my advice to you is not to rely upon this hope, but now, without delay, to make your preparations to meet your god."

For 14 minutes Judge Peurifoy talked and for 14 minutes Faries, having admitted that he had nothing further to say that had not already been said, stood watching the judge and waiting for the inevitable solemn "and may God have mercy upon your soul." As the minutes wore on, his gaze wandered and all the time he showed no signs of emotion other than the constant twirling of his big black hat. The strain however, had begun to tell and it required conscious effort on his part to reply under the coaching of his attorneys to the judge's query as to whether he had anything to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon him, he stammered, choked, then caught himself and answered, "Nothing except what my counsel has said before."

No members of Faries' family were in the court room when the jury returned, but James M. Taylor, father of three of the slayer's victims, had crowded in with the hundreds of others that came back after dinner to hear the verdict. He leaned nearer as Clerk T. C. McMackin received the verdict and as the lone word, "Guilty," was read, tears swelled up in his eyes. Mrs. Taylor sobbed. Several of Faries' 16 children were in the room, however, when the sentence was pronounced and there were tears in the eyes of more than one of them, though some were too young to understand it all, and when brought inside the rail to see their father after adjournment clustered around him, silent, ill at ease in the strange surroundings and the crowd, but showing no sorrow.

At 6 o'clock Faries was taken to the York county jail, where tomorrow he will be visited by members of his family. Either Monday or Tuesday he will be carried to Columbia to await electrocution or a new trial. The filing of notice of intention to appeal, automatically stays the execution of the death sentence, which, if carried out, will set a precedent for York county. Not since the substitution of the electric chair for the trap door and the sliding noose has a York county white man paid the supreme penalty of the law.

These ladies have always been very generous in patronizing every public benefit and we bespeak a liberal patronage for both town and county people.

Mr. H. P. Oglesby, of the West Wateree section, who owns a large tract of swamp land on the Wateree river known as the Jordan lands, was in our office last week and told us that he had noted the article in the paper the week previous relative to the loss of cattle by thieves on the Wateree river. He said that within the past month he had also lost several head of cattle by thieves, among them two pure-bred cows valued at $100 each. He said that it was probable that some concerted action would be taken by cattle rangers to rid their swamps of the cattle thieves.

CAMP JACKSON IN COURT.

Government Files Suit Against Construction Company.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Civil suits to recover more than $20,000,000 alleged by the government to have been fraudulently expended in the construction of Camps Upton, Jackson, Sherman and Funston were instituted today by the department of justice against the contractors who were in charge of each project.

The suits were said in official circles to be the initial step in a campaign at law against war times contractors who are suspected, on the basis of auditors' reports, to have gone beyond the intent and purpose of the authority given them by federal departments.

Additional actions are in prospect, it was said at the department of justice, as soon as complete reports have been made by the special force of auditors which has been engaged for 15 months in an analysis of construction records. Whether criminal action would be taken in any case, it was said, would depend to a degree upon the results of the civil suits.

Unofficial estimates place the total which might be expected to be recovered from all the construction cases at between $70,000,000 and $80,000,000. In the cases filed today the government alleged that the Har-daway Construction company spent an excess of $6,500,000 in building Camp Jackson, S. C.; the Thompson-Starret company $6,000,000 at Camp Upton, N. Y.; A. Bentley and Sons company, $5,000,000 at Camp Sherman, Ohio, and George A. Fuller & Co., $4,000,000 at Fort Riley, Kan.

The suits were filed at Charleston, S. C., Brooklyn, N. Y., Columbus, Ohio, and Topeka, Kan., respectively. Identical bills of complaint were laid in each case, the principal accusation being that the contractor violated "a direct and intimate relationship of trust and confidence" in executing this contract while it was impossible, because of the existing war emergency for the government to exercise normal supervision and inspection of the work. As a result, it is alleged, the contractor stands indebted to the government for money in the sums set forth and great quantities of material, declared to have been purchased on government credit and misused.
