THE CAMDEN CHRONICLE, CAMDEN, SOUTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY. JUNE 1, 1923

churches of Camden and Kershaw county will sometime within the next ten days attend the big Ham Ramsey Evangelistic Campaign which started in Sumter, Sunday, May 27th.

While in Sumter Sunday, E. I. Reardon, isceretary of the Camden and Kershaw County Chamber of Com-merce was notified by Mr. 'Thomas V. Walsh, one of the leading members of the local committees in charge of this big evangelistic campaign that an official invitation .would be extended to the people of Camden and Kershaw County to bring the largest possible delegation to Sumter at an early date. A special section of the large Banner warehouse which seats 5,000 peowill be set aside for the Camden and Kershaw County delegation. Just as soon as the official invitation is received, Mr. Reardon will turn the matter over to the pastors of the dif-ferent churches of Camden and of Kershaw County for their consideration and action, and a committee of Camden men and women will be appointed to see about getting up a big delegation from this section to go to Sumter at an early date. In addition to setting aside a large section of the tabernacle for the Kershaw County delegation, the service on that day will be known as "Kershaw County Day" and the people of Sumter and Sumter county will turn out in large numbers and show a cordial greeting and welcome to their fellow itizens of Camden and Kershaw County.

A tragedy occurred near Pageland, S. C., on the 15th instant, when Mrs. Cora Wright, wife of Sam Wright, jumped into a well at her home with her 2-months old baby, with the in-୭୭୭୭୭୭୭୭୭୭୭୭୭ tention of committing suicide and the destruction of her infant.
