Society Editor Away.

Miss Louise Nettles, our efficient society reporter, is away this week attending the South Carolina Press Association meeting in Spartanburg. Reports from that city say they are having a grand time. They left early Thursday morning over the C. C. & O. for a trip through the mountains of Tennessee, Virginia and Kentucky. The entire trip was financed and tendered the party by the Spartanburg Chamber of Commerce and one hundred and twenty-five were in the party. It will no doubt prove one of the most pleasant of any gathering of this association. We are going to get Miss Nettles to tell of her trip in next week's Chronicle.

A message received from the party yesterday afternoon, dated Hendersonville, N. C., at 1:20 o'clock says: "We have just reached Hendersonville. Twelve o'clock. Having a wonderful trip. Had to come over the Southern on account of a washout on C. C. & O. road."

Circles Entertained.

On Tuesday afternoon, Circle Four of the Camden Baptist church was hostess to Circles One, Two and Three. The church was decorated in the W. M. U. colors, purple and gold. The rostrum was banked with ferns intermingled with yellow and purple flowers. The guests were met at the door by two young ladies, who presented each with a yellow flower and a card of greeting, engraved in purple. An interesting and delightful musical program was carried out. The little play that was presented was a decided success and was enjoyed by all present.

Met With Mrs. Lindsay.

The Kirkwood book club met Thursday morning with Mrs. John S. Lindsay, who has as assistant hostesses Mrs. John T. Mackey, Mrs. Ralph Stevenson, and Mrs. W. DePass. A delightful social hour was spent and a musical programme presented. Mrs. Ernest Zemp gave several vocal selections. The hostesses served iced tea, sandwiches and cake.

The guests of the occasion were: Mrs. Mortimer Glover, Miss Corrie, of Virginia, and Mrs. Hay of Rock Hill. This was the last meeting, the club adjourned for the summer and will reassemble in September.

Old Time Negro Dead.

Winnsboro, June 19.—Daniel Johnson, one of Winnsboro's highly respected negroes, died here Sunday night at 1 o'clock after a short illness. He was owned by Gen. Kennedy during "slavery times" and was with his master during the four years of the war, serving in the capacity of orderly. He was court janitor and worked in Winnsboro for many years and was respected by all who knew him for his honesty and integrity. His death is regretted in the community where he had lived practically since the close of the war. He was in his 82nd year.

Spartanburg is the most densely populated county in South Carolina, with an average of 123.2 inhabitants for each square mile.

Hall-Stokes.

A marriage of unusual interest was solemnized Tuesday high noon at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hall, when their daughter Stella Adline, became the bride of Palmer D. Stokes, of this city. The rooms were tastefully decorated for the occasion with cut flowers and pot ferns. The bridal couple entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Helen Williams, of Camden, and stood before a bank of lovely ferns. The Rev. J. J. Johnson of the First Baptist church of Camden spoke the solemn but ever beautiful words in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

The bride was attired in her going away suit of brown domestic crepe and harmonizing accessories. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair fern.

Mrs. Stokes is a young woman of sweet disposition and charming personality which traits have won for her many friends. She received her education at Winthrop College and was one of Kershaw's successful teachers the past season. Mr. Stokes is a man of sterling qualities and enjoys a large circle of friends. He is one of Camden's progressive merchants.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left by auto for a trip through the mountains of Western North Carolina after which they will occupy their attractive bungalow on North Broad street.—Contributed.

An Immense Hen Egg.

We were shown last Friday a hen egg from the farm of Mr. Alex McCaskill near Camden, which was the largest we have ever seen. It came from a Rhode Island Red strain and weighed six ounces. It measured seven and three-quarter inches in circumference and eight and three-quarter inches the long ways.

John McParland, president of the International Typographical Union, died at Indianapolis, Ind., Saturday of heart disease.

Brasington-Bozeman.

Kershaw, June 16.—Of cordial interest to their many friends and sweet in its simplicity, was the marriage at high noon Thursday, June 14, at the First Baptist church, of Miss Annie Brasington, youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Brasington, to James B. Bozeman, Jr. The words which united these two young lives were pronounced by the Rev. J. B. Bozeman of Gaffney, father of the bridegroom, who used the impressive ring ceremony.

Prior to the ceremony a beautiful musical program was rendered by John Poag of Lancaster, who sang Emerson James' "When We're Together," accompanied by Mrs. Poag and "Until," by Anderson with B. L. Blackwell of Spartanburg at the piano. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the bridal party entered. The ushers were B. D. McDonald and T. B. Clyburn, Jr. The bridesmaid and groomsmen were Miss Corrinne Lewis of Camden with Cecil Brasington of Camden, Miss Elizabeth Padgett of Walterboro with E. Lee Skipper, Miss Mary Evans Brasington with Edward Lawton of Florence, Miss Beula Dempster with W. Hazel Plyler, Miss Margaret Dempster with William Haynes, Miss Evelyn Bozeman of Gaffney with Albert Evans of Camden. Next entered the maid of honor, Miss Edith Brasington, sister of the bride, followed by the little flower girl, Ruth Stalaker, of Manning, with a basket of sweet peas and the ring bearer, Joe Beckham, the ring carried in the heart of a rose on a silver plate. The bride entered on the arm of her father, Dr. Ernest C. Brasington, who gave her in marriage and was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Grover C. Blackwell of Camden. She was lovely in a going away suit of dark blue and black hat, carrying a bride's bouquet of roses. Immediately after the ceremony, the young couple, escaping from their friends, entered a waiting automobile, and sped away to an unknown destination for the honeymoon.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Brasington and was graduated this year from Coker college. The bridegroom holds the position of secretary and treasurer of the Kershaw Cotton Mills. The evening before the wedding, after the rehearsal, an informal reception for the bridal party and some friends was held at the residence of the bride, ice cream and wedding cake were served and the guests registered in the bride's book, after which the numerous costly and beautiful wedding gifts were displayed in the gift room.

Blackmon-Verdery.

Kershaw, June 16.—A marriage of interest throughout the state, was solemnized at high noon Tuesday at the First Baptist church, the contracting parties being Miss Nannie Blackmon of this place, and Holliday Verdery of Orangeburg. A musical program was effectively rendered as a prelude to the ceremony by Miss Ann Kennedy who played a piano solo, "A Venetian Love Song," a male quartet composed of Cavitte Jordan, H. D. McCaskill, Dr. W. C. McDowell, and Dr. F. M. Hawley sang "I Love You Truly" and Miss Clara Freeman of Bradenboro played, "Trauagerei" and Miss Kathleen Clyburn sang, "Because."

To the notes of the wedding march from Lohengrin the ushers, B. D. McDonald and T. B. Clyburn entered, followed by the two bridesmaids, Miss Lillie Mae Blackmon, and Miss Jimmie League Verdery. The bridesmaid of honor were Mrs. Kate Gardiner, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Victor Mace of Hampton, a sister of the bridegroom. The little ringbearer James Lloyd Blackmon, carried the ring on a silver tray, after which the aisles of the church were showered with rose petals by the little flower girls, Frances Simpson and June Blackmon. The bride on the arm of her brother, John M. Blackmon, was met at the altar by the bridegroom, with his best man, Durward Courtney of Orangeburg, and here the two were united in marriage by the Rev. George E. Smith, pastor of the First Baptist church. The bride was attired in a going away suit of blue and accessories to match and immediately after the ceremony the couple left by motor for the mountains of North Carolina and Virginia and after their return will make their home in Orangeburg. The bride is a graduate of Winthrop. The bridegroom is a popular young business man of Orangeburg.
