

Practical Nurse Tells

Mrs. N. E. Snow, of Route 1, near Paris, Tenn., tells the story of her experience as follows: "I am 62 years old and I have been a practical nurse for more than 20 years, taking mostly maternity cases. One of my daughters suffered from cramping at . . . She would just bend double and have to go to bed."

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

was recommended to her and she only had to take about two bottles, when she hardly knew that it was . . . she suffered so little pain. . . My youngest daughter was run-down, weak and nervous, and looked like she didn't have a bit of blood left—just a walking skeleton, no appetite and tired all the time. I gave her two bottles of Cardui. It built her up and she began eating and soon gained in weight and has been so well since. Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, has helped suffering women for over forty years. Try it. At all druggists. E-100

Ruskin's Voice About His Only Attraction

I never met anyone in my life whose personal appearance disappointed me, wrote John Ruskin, writes Frank Harris in American Mercury. Until I saw him I had always believed that a man of great ability showed his genius in some feature or other, but I could find no hint in Ruskin's face or figure that suggested abnormal talent.

His appearance was just even prepossessing. He looked shriveled up and shrunken, though he was perhaps five feet seven in height; he was slight to frailty and stooped; in spite of a large nose, his face was too small, bony thin and very wrinkled; the gray hair that must once have been reddish was carefully brushed flat; the beard and whiskers were gray, too, and straggling thin; the eyes were bright, grayish-blue in color, quick-glancing now, now meditative under the thick outjutting brows; the high aquiline nose was matched by a somewhat receding chin; nothing in his face or figure was impressive or arresting; his clothes even were loose and ill-fitting; his manner shy, self-conscious, unassuming; I was disappointed to doubting his ability.

But as soon as he got excited in speaking I noticed his voice, a thin high tenor irresistibly pathetic; it often wailed and sometimes curred, but was always intense. The soul of the man was in that singular, musical voice with its high rhetoric and impassioned moral appeal.

Cows Peacefully Graze

Where Once War Ruled

Southern Denmark has many things to show to the stranger within her gates, and in the south of Seeland—best known of the three islands, ferry-bridged, which together with the rest of the portion of Schleswig-Holstein make up the modern kingdom of Denmark—one may visit a model Danish dairy farm which has its being in a sixteenth century fortified farmhouse, says the Christian Science Monitor.

At the quaint old farm of Holmgergaard stone taken from the ancient archway gives the date of the building as 1571, and, though the whitewash which covers the masonry hides its rugged outlines in part, still where the water of the moat laps the foundations one can still see the massive forms of the old stones.

There are many of these old fortified farms in Funen and Seeland, now happily requiring no more to guard them against aggressions, but in olden days they were little forts in themselves, sheltering in troublesome times the whole neighborhood and storing provisions enough for a siege in their capacious granaries. The out-buildings of Holmgergaard are immense, built around a great quadrangle paved with cobblestones.

Making Writers Efficient

A "scheme of work" for writing short stories is given by Max Bontor in "Fiction Writers on Fiction Writing," the short story analysis compiled by Arthur Sullivan Hoffman, from answers to a questionnaire he sent more than 100 authors concerning their creative methods. The scheme is:

1. Be sure an idea is worth developing from a "human interest" standpoint.
2. Develop the climax first.
3. Start off the characters like a bunch of obstacle racers and bring them to the climax as quickly, but as logically, as possible.
4. Write tersely at first, expanding where advisable—rather than write voluminously and chop out.
5. Write nothing that won't at least put a grain of wheat into the final wallop.

Birth of Christ

The Christian era was first figured out in about 525 by a monk named Dionysius Exiguus. At that time the usual date of 2525 b. p. was only a matter of estimate. Later when the number began to come from the birth of Christ was set on the 25th of December, it was found to be impractical to change the date of the era. As a matter of fact it is now believed that Jesus was born about 6 b. c. or thereabouts, the beginning of the era known as the Christian era. The date of the birth of Christ is now believed to be about 6 b. c.

The Lion of Lucerne is a famous work of art by Albert Dürer. It is a sculpture of a lion standing on a pedestal. The lion is the symbol of the city of Lucerne. It was created in 1415. The lion is made of red sandstone. It is 1.9 meters high. It is the work of the sculptor Hans Girolamo. The lion is the symbol of the city of Lucerne. It was created in 1415. Perspiration of Dogs

Dogs sweat or perspire very little. The physiological purpose of perspiration seems to be the regulation of the temperature of the body. But in the case of the dog, as well as many other animals, the body temperature is regulated by respiration. After running a dog breathes more rapidly—panting. This has the same cooling effect as sweating would have.

AMERICAN JAZZ HAS CAUGHT ON IN CHINA

Means Important Trade Development With U. S.

Washington.—Chinese who have been educated in the United States have introduced American jazz music in the Far East, where it is becoming increasingly popular. This is shown in official dispatches from Consul Leroy Webber at Hongkong and Trade Commissioner G. C. Howard at Shanghai.

Because Chinese music differs so radically from that of western people, the developing craze for jazz-band music and symphony orchestras means an important trade development, with the United States second only to Germany in supplying the demand for instruments.

Reports from Mr. Howard show that Shanghai has a symphony orchestra of about fifty pieces, playing Sunday afternoons during winter months in the town hall and at parks several evenings a week during the summer. A brass band of twenty to twenty-five pieces also plays in a park during the summer.

There are some dozen dance orchestras of five to ten pieces using the instruments common in America.

In the case of the symphony, instruments are owned by the musicians. It is a voluntary organization made up of various nationalities. Only a small charge is made for admission to winter recitals, while summer recitals are free.

In dance orchestras the instruments, with the exception of the pianos, are individually owned, and in most cases brought to Shanghai by the owners.

A few colleges have bands, and there is some demand for instruments from various military organizations.

There is a good demand for sheet music in Hongkong, and dealers report improvement in this line during the last few years.

It is estimated that 30 per cent represented dance music and popular songs and the remainder classical, semi-classical and band music.

Imports from the United States have consisted chiefly of dance music and popular songs, while most of the classical music was obtained from continental Europe.

Dig Dinosaur's Bones From Rock in Museum

Washington.—Charles W. Gilmore, curator of vertebrate paleontology at the Smithsonian Institution, has begun excavating from solid rock the skeleton of an enormous dinosaur which he presented to the institution last autumn. More than five years will be required, Mr. Gilmore estimates, to place the skeleton in such condition that it will be ready for exhibition in the national museum.

The skeleton, which is the largest specimen ever brought to the Smithsonian, measures 80 feet in length and 14 feet in height. To bring the bones to Washington from their original resting ground in the dinosaur national reservation, near Jensen, Utah, required the exertions of a large number of men. The bones and rock in which they are imbedded weigh 50,000 pounds. At one stage of the journey, the excavators were forced to transport them 150 miles by automobile.

Three men, working eight hours a day for four months, Mr. Gilmore said, will only be able to disinter three of the dorsal vertebrae of the reptile. Some sections are already being arranged by workmen, but 34 packing cases containing more than 80 vertebrae are still lying unopened in the basement of the museum.

Norman H. Boss, preparator in fossil vertebrates, is assisting Mr. Gilmore to reconstruct the skeleton.

Famous Stone of the Czars Out of "Hock"

Nice, France.—The famous 43-carat sapphire blue diamond once belonging to Emperor Nicholas of Russia, has been taken out of the municipal pawnshop here, where it has been held for three years as security for a loan of 200,000 francs borrowed by Mlle. Suzanne Thuillier, to whom Nicholas is said to have given it.

Mlle. Thuillier came to France from Russia with nothing but the stone and once she had pawned it she was unable to get it out because creditors with claims aggregating 200,000 francs thought the diamond was safer in the pawnshop.

Finally a Nice jeweler financed Mlle. Thuillier and she took out the stone, for which she is said to have just refused 100,000 francs. The stone is declared by jewelers to have come from a Buddha in a Hindu temple a thousand years ago.

Great Flagons of Milk Quench America's Thirst

Washington.—Americans are consuming more milk than ever before, the Department of Agriculture has announced, saying that the household consumption of milk was 212 quarts per person last year, compared with 200 quarts in 1922. Consumption of butter was 17 pounds per capita, compared with 16 1/2; of cheese, 3.01 pounds, compared with 3.74; of condensed and evaporated milk, 18.25 pounds, compared with 12.69, and of ice cream, 2.66 gallons, compared with 2.43 gallons.

Milk production was 7,000,000,000 pounds more last year than in 1922, the total output having been 100,728,000,000 pounds.

ARREST THREE CAR THIEVES.

Men in Columbia Operated Over Wide Range of Territory.

(Monday's State)

Three men, who, according to one of the officers that have the case in charge, having been using Columbia as a base for the larceny of automobiles, are in the Richland county jail being held for authorities, according to an announcement made last night by T. A. Heise, Richland county sheriff.

The men are: C. P. Miller, Roanoke, Va.; Frank Anderson, Richmond, Va.; and M. C. Quay, Albany, N. Y. Four cars which, according to officers, were stolen by the men, have been recaptured, the last of the four being found in the possession of a man living on the Columbia-Charleston road and brought back to Columbia last night.

Finger prints and photographs of the men have been taken by Captain Cade, finger print expert at the state penitentiary, to be forwarded to Virginia and New York for identification. Officers do not know as yet whether the men will be taken to Savannah or Virginia, Sheriff Heise said last night. The federal penalty for larceny of an automobile is the payment of a $5,000 fine or the serving of a five year sentence in prison.

The arrests were made last week but publicity was not given the matter, as officers were still working on the case, Sheriff Heise said. Miller and Anderson were taken into custody Wednesday night on the bluff road a few miles below Columbia, while they were trying to sell a car. Officers participating in the arrest were Sheriff Heise, F. S. Strickland, chief of Columbia police, J. D. Dunaway, chief of rural police of Richland county, and W. T. Kelly, Columbia detective.

Quay was arrested Thursday afternoon at Steedman, where he was employed with a bridge force of the Southern railway. He had been working on the force for about two weeks, one of the officers participating in the arrest said. This arrest was made by Chief Strickland, Sheriff Heise and William Rawlinson, chief of police at Cayce. Before they were able to locate the man who gave Albany as his home, the officers had a merry chase of it. First, they went to Pelion on information that Quay could be found there, but were told that the man they sought was at Wagener. From Wagener they were directed to Perry and thence to Steedman.

Three of the cars were found near Columbia; but the last machine to be located was found by Chief Dunaway and John T. Carter of the Automobile Underwriters' Detective bureau of Atlanta and brought back yesterday.

Miller is 42 years old, Anderson is 25 and Quay gave his age as about 23. Anderson admitted last night that he had just finished a sentence of one year in the county jail at Richmond for car stealing. Sheriff Heise said, and Anderson has been known also as Joe Long and Frank Kelly.

The extent of the territory from which the four cars were taken is indicated in that a Dodge coupe was recovered that had been stolen from Keystone, W. Va., an Essex coach from Savannah, a Studebaker touring car from Atlanta and a Nash touring car from Raleigh.

One of the officers characterized the three men as "bad eggs," who were choice in the kinds of cars they stole, and difficult to deal with.

The recovery of the car last night brings the number of automobiles recovered by Columbia officers and officers assisting them to an even 50, for the last six weeks.

Evangelists in Jail For Stealing.

Spartanburg, Aug. 4.—T. D. Prince, white, age 49, and Sarah Prince, white, age 43, who were traveling through the country in a Ford car, with a sign reading as follows: "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want," draped over the side of it, are in the county jail today on the charge of having stolen some shirts and other clothing from the residents of Clifton, where they were camping yesterday.

The two were arrested yesterday morning by Chief of the Rural Police J. R. Cooksey, who said that they were evidently living up to the last part of their motto. "I shall not want," from the reports of theft at Clifton. The couple claim to be from Alabama and have been touring the city the past week or so. When asked what they were doing, they said that they were revealing the Gospel. They were camping near Clifton Mill, when arrested by the officers.

Cleveland Hayes, rural policeman at Pauline, said that the same couple were camping at Pauline about two weeks ago and that they camped around the community for several
