

Weak Nervous

"I was weak and nervous and run-down," writes Mrs. Edith Sellers, of 466 N. 21st St., East St. Louis, Ill. "I couldn't sleep nights, I was so restless. I felt tired and not in condition to do my work. I would have such pains in my stomach that I was afraid I would get down in bed. My mother came to see me and suggested that I use

CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic

I felt better after my first bottle. I had a better appetite. It seemed to strengthen and build me up. I am so glad to recommend Cardui for what it did for me. I haven't needed any medicine since I took Cardui, and I am feeling fine."

Nervousness, restlessness, sleeplessness—these symptoms so often are the result of a weak, run-down condition, and may develop more seriously if not treated in time.

If you are nervous and run-down, or suffering from some womanly weakness, take Cardui.

CRIME IN DILLON

Resembles Slaying of Old Man Cason in Kershaw County.

Dillon, S. C., Sept. 5.—The disappearance of Earle Harrell, young Dillon county farmer, on August 22, was cleared up today with the announcement by State Constable W. W. Rodgers that Lewis and Tracey Powers, also farmers of this county, had signed confessions admitting that they had killed the youth, and burned his body.

Charred bits of human bones and teeth, found in an improvised furnace in a hollow swamp cypress near the home of the Powers brothers, led to their arrest and subsequent confession, according to the detective. The body of Harrell, he said, had first been placed in a tobacco storehouse on the brothers' farm, and the storehouse burned, but the body was not consumed, whereupon it had been taken to the swamp and cremated. A search of the ashes of the storehouse had revealed what appeared to be pieces of flesh but no bones.

Tracey Powers, in his confession, is said to have taken the entire responsibility for firing the shot that caused Harrell's death, but warrants were sworn out for both of the brothers, charging murder, and they will be presented before the county grand jury which meets Wednesday for indictment. The confession, according to officers, indicates the brothers will plead self-defense, as Tracey Powers is quoted as saying he shot Harrell only after the youth had attempted to attack him.

Harrell's alleged friendliness with Mrs. Tracey Powers, the confession is reported to say, was the cause of ill-feeling between the youth and the Powers brothers. Harrell is said to have gone to the Powers home on the night of August twenty-second in company with another woman, whose name was not given, but Mr. Powers was not present, having left for the home of relatives in North Carolina about three days previously. The quarrel which resulted in the killing, according to the confession, arose when Harrell resented a remark made to his companion by one of the Powers brothers.

RICH OWN MUCH LAND

Northern Folks Set Aside Land in Florida for Game Preserves.

Tallahassee, Fla., Sept. 3.—Land in area one-fifth the size of Leon county, site of the Florida state capital, is controlled in territory adjacent to this city, largely in this county, by Northern capitalists whose combined wealth runs into the hundreds of millions of dollars. They have purchased the land and set aside for game preserves and for winter homes, according to records revealed in connection with the state's centennial celebration November 9-15, which comes simultaneously with the opening of the hunting season.

Among the large holders of property in this section are George F. Baker, president of the board of directors of the National City Bank, New York, with 12,000 acres; Harry Payne Whitney, 14,000 acres; Percy Chubb, New York, 12,000; Carl Fleischman, 6,000; Unio Flieschman, 10,000; George A. Foote, Montclair, N. J., 3,000; A. B. Lapsky, Hartford, Conn., 10,000; Louis Thompson, Philadelphia, 10,000, and the estate of the late Dr. Tennant Ronalds of Scotland, 12,000.

Miss Frances Griscom, of Philadelphia, former amateur woman golf champion of the United States, is another well-known holder of lands in this section. She is one of America's leading women field shots. Another woman landowner is Mrs. A. H. Tiers, of Montclair, N. J., whose husband's scientific experiments affected the sulphur supply of the world. The Griscom estate includes 10,000 acres of woodland, lake and meadow, lying between the Dixie Highway and the Meridian road, and is one of the best known quail preserves in the country. The Tiers place covers 5,000 acres.

J. R. Nichols of Greenwood suffered an unusual and very painful accident last Sunday near Hendersonville, N. C., when he was stung on the tongue by a yellow jacket. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols and children and Capt. F. S. Evans went on a week-end trip to the mountains. While taking dinner near Hendersonville, Mr. Nichols picked up a piece of fried chicken and
