

Mother! Don't Delay if Baby's Listless

Don't wait till baby is screaming with pain or burning with fever before you think about sending for the doctor. And don't start dosing him with strong medicines that may do more harm than good.

Keep Teethina at hand and give it according to directions at the first sign of trouble. Before baby begins cutting his teeth you can start giving Teethina. It will make it easier for him and for you, too.

"It's dangerous to wait when baby gets listless or begins to fret," writes Mrs. C. M. Gitchens, Route 4, Macon, Ga. "I learned that when my baby got sick with fever and bowel trouble Teethina soon ended his trouble and now he is as well and lively as a cricket."

Teethina is sold by all druggists, or send 30c to Moffett Laboratories, Columbus, Ga., for package and FREE BOOKLET ABOUT BABIES

The Economic Value of An Accredited High School to a Town or City.

Editor The Chronicle:
Please be kind enough to publish the following article in your most valuable paper as its object is to acquaint our loyal citizens of our intention to launch a campaign for the purpose of raising money to help in the furnishing of our New Public School Building. I hope also to prove that an accredited High School is not only a fixed asset but a distinct economic value to a Town or City.

It does not take an experienced economist to view the geographical surroundings of the beautiful city of Camden to apprise our wide-awake Chamber of Commerce of her future possibility of tremendous growth. The signs of the times show that the tide of economic development is headed toward our historic City and with it the great demand for Capital and Labor. We believe that the far-seeing eye of the powers that be, welcomes foreign capital and at the same time is equally cognizant of the fact that Home Capital must play an equal part in the economic development, in order to maintain that high standard of independence which characterizes the City of Camden.

The history of finance shows that the Banking System is the heart of the monetary circulation, therefore, if the Bank is the heart, the deposits, be they ever so small, made by the thrifty citizens of the town or community, constitute the arterio-venous circulation, or liquid capital. The natural conclusion is, that the severing of any branch of this great system incapacitates local capital in a corresponding degree. I have indulged in this little article or discourse to prove the distinct economic value of an accredited High School to a Town or City.

Those of us who are struggling to give our children a chance to meet the high standing required by our State, know the tremendous cost and sacrifice. To send one child off to school for one year, would cost approximately $200; and for five years it would cost approximately $1,000.00. Therefore, assuming that fifty children left our town for the same space of time, we would have an aggregate sum of $50,000.00 taken away from the community. This sum if applied to educational purposes in our own home town, would build a brick structure with all modern conveniences and would give every boy and girl an equal chance to pursue a good High School education. Thus viewing it from an economical standpoint, we have ($50,000) fifty thousand dollars drawn directly from the floating capital of our local financial system and deposited in the Banks of other towns and cities for their economic development.

I believe therefore, that the treatment is to stop the leaks and thereby pool the savings of all our citizens, and let the reservoir which contains our local capital, run over and build up our own beautiful city rather than leak out and find its way into the pools of other progressive cities and towns. With this idea in view I am sure that all will agree that an accredited High School is a direct economic value, as well as a fixed asset to a town or city.

In this connection, I feel that it would be sacrilegious if I failed to mention the Church of God. It is said by Medical Science, that the Endocrine Glands manufacture a substance called hormone, which builds up the anatomical structure of the human body and at the same time harmonizes the physiological action of all the other organs of the body. If this is true, of the human body, then the function of the Church and School is to build up the mental and spiritual man and at the same time harmonize human action which is conducive to prosperity, peace and happiness. The inseparability of these three great lights, the mind, soul and body, which are the fundamental principles of human development, must have been uppermost in the mind of the great philosopher who wrote in letters of gold, which grow even brighter with time, "Were I so tall as to reach the pole, or grasp the Ocean in my span, I must be measured by my Soul, the Mind's the standard of the Man."

The rapid progress that is being made in the erection of our new brick building on the Jackson School Grove, shows that the broadhearted men of our Trustee Board are endowed with the spirit of the age, and that the subject of my discourse has evidently long since been discussed in their private meetings and is now being put into tangible form.

We have been requested to raise $500.00 for the purpose of paying half on the seating outfit for the School Auditorium, but owing to additional incidental improvements which we hope to make in order to place our School House and grounds on that high plane which insures the best results, we are asking our friends to help us raise $2,000.00 by Thanksgiving Day, on which day the ceremony for the laying of the corner stone will be held under the auspices of the Colored Masonic Order of the City, conducted by Dr. C. C. Johnson of Aiken, S. C., Grand Master of the Colored Masonic Lodges of South Carolina.

A few years ago the textile corporations found it very hard to retain labor, because of the restlessness of the workmen, who would go to one mill and stay awhile, and soon move to another. The superintendents were always at a loss for skilled labor. On investigation by the capitalists, it was found that the restlessness and migratory movements were due to the fact that the employees were in search of better homes for their families, better schools for the education of their children, and a Church to worship God as men of other walks of life. As a result of these investigations, we find beautiful mill villages which rival in beauty the municipalities which they join, churches with their steeples pointing Heavenward, School Houses thronged with children with hopes for the future written on their foreheads, and satisfied skilled workmen going about their duties with a song, keeping time with the hum of thousands of spindles to the tune of prosperity, peace and happiness to all.

If this be true, in industrial corporations, it is equally true in municipal corporations, and I am confident that our friends and business men will not hesitate to help us raise ($2,000.00) Two Thousand Dollars, as I am sure the returns will be an Hundred Fold. Very respectfully,

J. Pressley Pickett, M. D.,
President of Parent-Teachers Association, Camden, S. C.

From Mr. Munn.

To my friends throughout Kershaw County:—I take this method of again thanking you from the bottom of my heart for the handsome vote given me in my second race for the House. While I did not receive quite enough votes to elect, I wish to say that I appreciate your support with that same high appreciation as if I had been elected. And now in conclusion let me say this to you: that if the campaign two years hence is scheduled the same as it was this year I will meet you at Blaney in August, 1926. Again thanking you one and all for your very flattering vote, I am Very respectfully,
Jas. B. Munn.

Clarence Bishop was killed at Clinton Tuesday when the cylinder head blew off the large engine in Clinton Cotton Mills, No. 2. The cylinder head narrowly missed young Bishop, one of the bolts striking his body.

He was badly scalded from the steam, and died in a few hours after being rushed to the Hays hospital. The cylinder head struck the wall with such terrific force that the wall was completely penetrated.

Genasco Latite Shingles lay flat and snug—stay waterproof and storm-tight whether laid over old, worn-out wooden Shingles or over new boards.

That's because they are locked together. A patented key device—invisible on the completed roof—clamps each shingle to those underneath. No curling—no bulging—no flapping in the wind.

Genasco Latite Shingles are made of the highest quality all-wool felt heavily waterproofed with the famous Trinidad Lake Asphalt Cement.

Attractive in coloring—economical in cost—they last for years. And they're as FIRE-SAFE as they are weather-safe. Made in three natural, unfading colors—red, green and blue-black.
