By Miss Louise Nettles

Visitor Complimented.

Miss Willie Belle Mackey was hostess at a bridge party Saturday morning complimenting Mrs. McPherson, of Florida, who before her marriage was Miss Betty Haile of South Carolina.

The living room and dining room of this attractive home were simply but prettily decorated for the occasion and three tables arranged for bridge. The score prize was won by Miss Mary Blackwell and the honor guest was also remembered.

After cards the hostess served a salad course.

Bridge at Country Club.

The first of a series of Saturday afternoon bridge parties to be given at the Camden Country Club by the Hospital Auxiliary was quite a success. Quite a number of tables were in evidence and it bids fair to become quite a popular social and financial enterprise during the coming autumn months.

The hostesses served refreshments and the tables are sold for so much per table. The auxiliary does not furnish the prizes. It is an easy, convenient and delightful way to discharge social obligations.

On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Robert Marye was hostess at one table, honoring Mrs. H. K. Hallé.

Judge W. F. Russell left last week for Asheville, where he will be for six week at Briggs Sanatorium for treatment and his many friends hope that he will be benefitted.

PERSONAL MENTION

Dr. J. W. Corbett left Sunday for New York to spend several weeks.

Miss Beulah Taylor of Bethune was the week-end guest of Mrs. L. A. Sowell.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Niles, September 20, 1924, a son—Henry D. Niles, Jr.

Mr. George Rhame left Tuesday to resume his studies at the College of Charleston.

Mr. Pete Mackey left Wednesday for Oglethorpe University Ga., to resume his studies.

Mr. A. L. Geisenheimer was a visitor to Camden this week, returning to Charleston Wednesday.

Mrs. J. S. Rhame, Miss Olive Rhame and Mr. George Rhame spent Sunday in Charlotte with relatives.

Mrs. E. N. McNelly left Monday for Greenville where she will be in charge of the Gift Shoppe at that place this winter.

Mrs. Sidney Smith of Shreveport, La., is here on a visit to Mrs. M. S. Sowell. They will leave Monday by auto for Shreveport.

Miss Mattie Benson, who has been spending the summer here with her aunt, Mrs. B. E. Barfield, has returned to her home in Charleston.

Mr. K. G. Whistler leaves for Tryon, N. C., soon, where he has affiliated himself with a new club development and has charge of all outside work.

Misses Evelyn Sanders and Lou Young, of Camden, spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Sanders, on Lancaster street.—Chester News.

Mrs. K. G. Whistler has rented the Studio Ten Room for the winter. It is situated next to the Hobkirk Inn, surrounded by beautiful grounds and has a well established business.

Mr. and Mrs. Lesure of New York are expected the last of the week. They have purchased Mrs. Whistler's property on North Broad street and will continue to run the house for northern tourists.

Miss Elizabeth Kinard, who teaches at Camden, spent the week-end at home. She was accompanied by Miss Louise Johnson, another teacher in the Camden high school.—Newberry Herald and News.

Among the Camden girls who are filling the positions of teachers away from their home town are Miss Sue Haile, who will teach physical culture in Charleston; Miss Agnes DePass, who is teaching in the York city schools and Miss Sara Wolfe, who is teaching in a select private school near Riverside Drive in New York city. Camden is justly proud of these young ladies who are filling responsible and prominent positions. And is also delighted to know that George W. Nicholson's ability and merit has been recognized by one of the South's leading colleges, Georgia Tech, where he teaches mathematics. We are sorry for our girls and boys to leave Camden, but pleased to know that when they do, they always forge to the front.

New Operating Table For Hospital.

A committee from the Camden hospital staff is out this week soliciting funds for a new operating table for the hospital and have been meeting with very flattering success so far, for which they are very appreciative. They hope to be able to purchase a Balfour table, the best that is made, knowing that Camden and Kershaw County people are not satisfied with anything less than the best. This institution is worthy of every gift, and every sacrifice made for it and let us bespeak a liberal response from the people to the appeal of the committee. If by chance you are missed, do not feel slighted for it was not intentional, telephone or see Dr. William Clyburn, Miss Robbins, or Mrs. Robert Marye, and be sure to make a contribution to this worthy cause: What we give to this institution is given to alleviate pain and make life worth living.

Twice a Grandmother.

Mrs. J. R. Green, of Newberry, who was with her daughter, Mrs. H. D. Niles, Saturday, when a grandson was born, received a phone message the same afternoon from Laurens, stating that a daughter had been born to Mrs. J. Gary Martin on the same day. Mrs. Martin is a sister to Mrs. Niles—making Mrs. Green twice a grandmother in the same day.

Michael Lesti of Carlisle, Pa., went into a wild rage Monday when his housekeeper refused to continue her services. He shot the housekeeper, his own mother and committed suicide. All of the three are dead.

Boykin-Trezevant.

Mrs. William deSaussure Boykin of Sumter announces the engagement of her daughter, Ida Heath, to Robert Gilchrist Trezevant of Tampa, Fla., the wedding to take place in early November.

Miss Boykin is a representative of one of South Carolina's oldest and most prominent families and has spent several years in Columbia where she was a lovely member of the younger society set. For the past two years she has made her home in Tampa, Fla.

Mr. Trezevant comes from the old and highly-honored family of this name in South Carolina, but has lived all of his life in Florida where he is one of the most prominent young men of Tampa in both social and business circles. He is engaged in the real estate business.—Columbia Record.

The above announcement will be of cordial interest in Camden, the native town of Miss Boykin, where her childhood and early girlhood was spent and where she has a wide circle of friends and admirers.

Hunt-Stoney.

A wedding of more than usual interest took place on the evening of last Wednesday, in All Saint's chapel, Sewanee, Tenn., when Miss Martha Washington Hunt and the Rev. William Shannon Stoney were united in marriage.

The university chapel was beautifully decorated with masses of white hydrangeas combined with delicate green leaves and the altar was dressed in the white and gold of festal occasions and pink and white carnations illumined by the soft glow of waxen candles.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Francis M. Osborne, chaplain of the university. Louis Melcher, university organist, rendered beautiful selections while the guests assembled.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Hunt, as maid of honor and by two bridesmaids, Miss Virginia Lee of Norfolk, Va., and Miss Mary Barton of Sewanee. The flower girls were Mary Brooks Kirby-Smith and Katherine Kirby-Smith of Sewanee and Cuba.

The ushers included the two brothers of the bride, J. B. Hunt, Jr., of Tallahassee, Fla., and Thomas Hunt of Bainbridge, Ga., her cousin, Charles Hunt of Nashville, Tenn., Edward Guerry of Charleston, the Rev. Ellis Bearden of Sewanee and the Rev. David E. Holt of Woodville, Miss., a classmate of the bridegroom.

At 8:30 o'clock the organ gave the signal for the entrance of the bridal party. Two ushers preceded each of the two bridesmaids and the maid of honor. Miss Mary Hunt, the maid of honor, wore a very becoming gown of peach crepe de chine and Miss Lee and Miss Barton were attractively gowned in delicate shades of orchid and of green taffeta. They carried bouquets of roses. The little flower girls, with their dainty baskets, came just before the bride and charmed the hearts of all.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, J. B. Hunt, who gave her away. She was very lovely in her wedding gown of white satin fashioned on simple and graceful lines. The wedding veil was an heirloom, which had graced similar beautiful occasions. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies and wore a spray of orange blossoms. She was met at the chancel steps by the bridegroom and his best man, the Rev. Capers Satterlee
