Fish Fry at White Cove

A delightful affair of Thursday evening was the fish fry at White Cove given by the Men's Bible Class of the Presbyterian church, comprising the ladies of the congregation. White Cove, or Sandy Beach, a picturesque spot, near Belleshaw farm where many pitch their tents during the summer as it is very popular as a camping ground on account of its cool and healthful spring water, shady groves and boating and fishing facilities. On this occasion everything combined to make the party on the fernfringed pond enjoyable, genial hosts, agreeable and appreciative guests, a lovely April evening, and last but by no means least, a long table where a fish fry was served that was both inviting and appetizing, and all did full justice to the supper, for just then they had no "other fish to fry." Mr. L. T. Mills was master of ceremonies and was ably assisted by Messrs. Lee Little, Henry Pearce, Dr. Ralph Stevenson and others. But it would be hard to tell just who was "the chief cook and bottle washer, captain and the waiter." The position was upheld with dignity and the entire class received a vote of thanks from the ladies for a very pleasant evening. Tennyson says: "For courtesy wins women all as well as valor may".

Meeting of Cemetery Association

A meeting of the Cemetery Association has been called for next Monday afternoon at the Presbyterian Sunday school. May we bespeak for it a large attendance and a generous response to the membership roll and call for annual dues. A new and substantial fence has recently been built around the enclosure by the Association backed by the city council and the people feel assured that the last resting place of their loved ones is securely guarded. As the saying is, it is a good sign of prosperity when the dead seem to be getting richer. Perhaps no town in the state can boast of a more beautiful and interesting cemetery than Camden. Beautiful, in its setting amid the whispering pines that continue through the years to chant a refrain to those resting there, whose memory has never died from the place. Beautiful in its decorations of evergreens and immortels, roses, lilies, stately magnolias, and old-fashioned crape jasmine that bloom so luxuriantly and fill the air with their perfume. Interesting, because of its historic value. The heroes of four wars sleep beneath its soil and the manuments and tombs tell of past power and grandeur. Interesting, that the pilgrim may find names and dates of the past, identifying the events with the sure precision of geological strata. On these ivy-covered, time-sealed tombs may be found the names of Camden's first settlers, many of their descendants still living here and others have been brought back to this corner of the earth they loved so well and so poetically interesting in the number of quaint, beautiful and poetic epitaphs. But more than all of this, it is beautiful, interesting and dear to the hearts of the people of Camden, because in it sleep their sainted dead. We do not think of it as the grim keeper of an archived past, but as the beautiful city of the dead.

Richardson-Durant

Mr. Warren Spencer Richardson, of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Miss Kate Keels Durant of Sumter, were married at the home of Probate Judge W. L. McDowell on Wednesday afternoon, April 22nd.

THE CAMDEN PAGEANT

To Be Portrayed on Historic Hobkirk Hill On May Day

Next Friday, May 1st, the Pageant—"Camden, Yesterday and Today"—will be presented on the Kirkwood Golf Links.

Historic Hobkirk is a fitting place to view the scenes of long ago as it was on April 25th, 1781, this was the battlefield where General Green with his Americans were surprised by Lord Rawdon's scarlet jackets, while the Americans were bathing or washing their clothes in the neighboring brooks.

The Pageant will depict the visit of Washington and the royal reception accorded him—the stately minut as it was danced at the ball given in his honor. The visit of LaFayette and all the attending ceremonies—the beautiful young girls who strewed his pathway with flowers will be impersonated by their descendants. The belles and beaux of the sixties will move again through the old Virginia reel and other dances of a by-gone day, which for beauty, grace and dignity have never been excelled.

The curtain that has been rung down upon the past is to be lifted for a moment and we are to see the history, traditions and legends of old Camden.

Many of the old soldiers who followed the battle-stained cross against overwhelming odds—dreading death not half so much as surrender—will be in the Pageant.

The stirring scenes of the famous Red Shirt campaign—Wade Hampton and his associates, who made a place in the hearts of the people more enduring than any monument that can ever be created to their memory.

These are only a few of the scenes that will pass in panoramic review on May Day—enacted by the descendants of the men who made Camden's history. From the fiery furnace we have come out pure gold and raised from the ashes of the past a brave and beautiful little city of homes. We have caught the sunshine of our clime and put it into our homes and have built therein not one ignoble prejudice or memory. We have hung our latch-strings to our Northern friends and have smoothed the path to Southward.

Wilson G. Harvey, former governor of South Carolina, will face trial in Allendale this week on charges of violating the state banking laws in connection with the closing of the Enterprise Bank of Charleston of which he was president. The former governor was acquitted on the first charge on which he was tried last year.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. Emmitt Gayle of Columbia spent last week end with Mr. Nettles Lindsay.

Mrs. Lily McKain Richards of Sumter spent the week end with her aunt Mrs. E. E. Sill.

Mr. Stephen Lewis Clyburn, who has been stationed at Pensacola, Fla. for some time is on a visit to relatives here.

Mrs. Elizabeth Foster, of New York is in Camden for a month occupying her pretty winter home on Green street.

Mrs. J. J. Goodale who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. T. K. Fletcher, in Spartanburg for the past month, has returned home.

Mrs. M. S. Sowell, who is making her home with her son, Mr. Sidney Smith, in Shreveport, La., is on a visit to relatives in and near Camden.

Mr. A. W. Rabon, a former citizen of this county, but now residing at Valdosta, Ga., has been on a visit to friends in Camden and Kershaw county.

Mrs. A. S. Paine is on an extended visit in Spartanburg where she went to welcome her little granddaughter at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Shepherd.

Mr. S. J. Miller and his daughter, Mrs. L. R. Ambler and family who have a handsome winter home on North Fair street are leaving this week for the summer.

Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Goodale and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Goodale motored to Spartanburg last week. The Messrs. Goodale attended the meeting of the Royal Arch Masons.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Mackey and Mrs. Mackey Sr., left Wednesday for an auto trip to Florida. They will visit Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Halle, formerly of Liberty Hill, now of Winter Park.

Mr. C. H. Yates, vice president of the Bank of Camden, is in attendance upon the meeting of the American Bankers Association in Augusta this week. Mr. Yates is a member of the association.

Mr. J. Doby Huckabee, who now holds a responsible position with the Paul-Gilbert Motor Co., of Charleston, was here last week as the guest of relatives. He returned to Charleston Friday.

Born to Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Shepherd of Spartanburg on Thursday, April 16th, a daughter. Mrs. Shepherd will be remembered as Miss Beatrice Paine, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Paine.

Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Goodale, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. McCorkle, Miss Mary Baker and Mrs. J. J. Goodale motored to Charleston this week to attend the wedding of their cousin, Mr. Irvin Cormier to Miss Mary A. Maloney.

Mrs. F. Leslie Zemp, Mrs. C. M. Coleman, Miss Zulene Rhame and Miss Louise Nettles attended the Ridge District U. D. C. Conference in Columbia last week. As usual, the graciousness and charm of Columbia's hospitality was unbounded.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pearce and Mr. and Mrs. J. Blakeney Zemp and daughter motored to Concord, N. C., Sunday. While there they attended services in the Presbyterian church where Rev. J. C. Rowan, a former Camden pastor is now stationed.

Miss Minnie A. Clyburn, who has been in Bradenton, Fla., for several months has been in Camden for the past week. She will remain in Camden until after the Pageant presentation and will again return to Bradenton where she has business interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Brunson, of Chicago, arrived in Camden this week for a visit to Mrs. William Shannon. Mr. Brunson has gone to New York to attend the meeting of the American Advertisers Association. Mrs. Brunson will remain in Camden for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Miller, of Cannondale, Conn., and children and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Raymond, of Ridgefield, Conn., who have been spending the winter in the Guy residence on North Lyttleton street left Thursday for their homes. This is their second winter in Camden and they were so well pleased with Camden people and Camden's climate they have leased the residence for another winter and will return next season. These good people had some mighty nice things to say of Camden and Camden people in parting. They have spent many winters away from home and tell us that nowhere have they found such a delightful little city.

Her Picture In Observer

The Charlotte Observer of Sunday carried a photo engraving of Miss Olive Rhame of Camden, who has been a frequent visitor at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Durham, in that city.
