REVOLUTIONARY RELIC

How 12 Year Old Lass Won Admiration of Lord Cornwallis

The following by Fred A. Olds, in the Masonic Journal, published at Oxford, N. C., will be read with interest. The young lady in the story has kinsfolk residing in and near this county:

One of the most pleasing and impressive relics of the War of the Revolution (July 1775-August, 1783) is a pair of gold ear-rings, which tell the story of those stirring times. They were made for Martha Lenoir, aged 12 years, the daughter of Thomas Lenoir, of South Carolina, and were a well-merited reward for her bravery and filial devotion to her father. The latter was a Continental soldier in the fatal battle of Camden, S. C., one of the two greatest reverses the Americans suffered in the entire eight years of the war, and he was wounded and captured. His home was not far from the battlefield, and when the terrible news of the crushing defeat came the little heroine prepared a dinner and rode on horseback to the headquarters of Lord Charles Cornwallis, the British commander. To him she made petition to be allowed to see her father. His lordship, soldier and gentleman, was greatly pleased by her spirit, and granted her request with pleasure. She divided her dinner between her father and Cornwallis, and to her infinite surprise and joy the latter told her he would grant her more than she asked and then gave her father to her custody, a prisoner no longer. A few days later Captain Lenoir gave a couple of gold coins to a Scotch blacksmith to make her a pair of ear-rings, and he made these of double circles, in a quaint and charming design. The ear-rings have been deposited in the North Carolina Hall of History by Mr. Gordon Hackett, of North Wilkesboro, a great grandson of the gallant little Martha of the long ago. Captain Thomas Lenoir was a brother of General William Lenoir, of the Revolutionary army, whose home, well preserved, is at "Fort Defiance", in what is now Caldwell county, and whose name is perpetuated by a county and by a town.

A cemetery for noble horses in which lie buried ten regal, history-making rulers of the turf has been established by John E. Madden at Lexington, Kentucky, in the hope that this may be the "Westminster Abbey" for great horses.

Moving Pictures in Rural Districts

Next week the United States Department of Agriculture's new motion picture film "Four men and the Soy" will be shown in the rural districts on the schedule given below. This film has to do with the growing and harvesting of soy beans, and following the showing of the picture Mr. R. W. Hamilton, soy bean specialist, of Clemson College will make a short but interesting and instructive talk on the place of soy beans in our present cropping system. Mr. Hamilton is authority on all types of legumes and forage crops, and every farmer in the county should hear him at one of these meetings if possible.

Another film, "The Happier Way" will also be shown at these meetings and Mrs. Boykin, home demonstration agent, will present a series of lantern slides which will be of particular interest to the girls.

Everybody is urged to attend. Admission free.

Schedule as follows:
Central School, Monday, May 11th, 8 p. m.
Pine Grove School, Tuesday, May 12, 8 p. m.
Three C's School, Wednesday, May 13th, 8 p. m.
Antioch School, Thursday, May 14th, 8 p. m.
Midway School, Friday, May 15th, 8 p. m.

May Day a Success

(From The Wateree Gazette)

May Day at Wateree proved a great success in every way. For once the weather man favored us with ideal conditions and a large crowd of people were out to enjoy the festivities. And everybody apparently had a good time.

The program started with some races by the boys and the boys entered into the races with a great deal of spirit that created lots of excitement and amusement.

The first race, the sack race was won by Ivy Holomon.

Dewey Dority won the obstacle race.

The antelope race was won by small boys captained by J. C. Johnson.

Davis' relay team won the baseball relay and Norman Cameron won the egg and spoon race. All the winners received a prize of 50c.

The next event was the tug of war between the weave and card rooms. The weave room won the event even though Cullie Conyers was pulling for the card room.

Then followed the May pole dance by the small girls which was very well done. Miss Vaughan and a group of Wood Nymphs from the pageant "Camden, Yesterday and Today" were next on the program and their dancing was very prettily done to the enjoyment of the large crowd.

The crowning of the May Queen came next and Miss Alma Raley was the favorite among all the girls present and was chosen "Queen of the May." Miss Raley came from the crowd, took her place on the throne that had been prepared and the crown was placed on her head by Mr. R. R. Higgins of Boston. Mr. Higgins also presented Alma with a fine box of chocolates.

The rest of the program was given over to the base ball game between Hermitage and Wateree which proved very interesting. Hermitage won the game 9-7 in eight innings. Mimms, Baker and Knight was the battery for Wateree while Threatt, David and Barnett worked for Hermitage.

The features of the game were catches of Barnes and P. Sanders. The umpiring was done by Mr. Higgins and Gib DeBruhl. Music throughout the program was furnished by the Mill Band and the refreshments were handled by the Glee Club.

The committee in charge of the program is to be congratulated upon the success of the day for it was due to their efforts that such an attractive program was made possible. The following were on the May Day committee:

Races—G. B. Gardner, E. R. Hunter.
Tug of War—W. L. Sanders.
Dances—Miss Helen Phelps.
Music—L. S. Hilton.
Refreshments—Glee Club.

There are 21 living sons of presidents of the United States. So far as science can detect, there are no direct descendants of the primitive cave men who roamed Europe from 50,000 to 25,000 B. C.

"DROWNED IN RIVER"

Prominent Banker of Pee Dee Section Loses His Life

Dillon, April 30.—A tragic death occurred at the little Pee Dee river bridge between Dillon and Rowland, N. C., this afternoon about 4 o'clock when the Hudson coach driven by W. L. Buck, of Rowland, plunged through the heavy guard railing of the new highway bridge. At the point where the car went over the water was deep enough to submerge the whole car, holding the occupant a prisoner to drown like a rat. The car he was driving was practically a new one. He had been to Mullins where until last Monday a week ago he had served the Bank of Mullins as president.

On his return trip he stopped in Dillon and chatted with friends a few minutes. A very short time after he left Dillon news came that a big car had run off the bridge and had disappeared beneath the water. A rescue party was soon made up and the car was lifted from the water with a wrecking derrick. The body was brought to the undertaking parlors of the Palmetto Hardware Company where it was dressed and prepared for burial.

Mr. Buck was also cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Rowland, N. C. This bank closed its doors Tuesday and has not since been opened due to its financial condition.

Mr. Buck was a man of pleasing personality and he was always popular. Besides being prominent as a banker, he owned a club house at Murrell's inlet and often entertained his friends there. He is survived by a widow and two small children. His widow before marriage was Miss Marie Burt and she lived in Dillon.

Woman Accidentally Shoots Herself

Lexington, May 3.—Miss Lessie Shull, 25, was killed late Saturday afternoon when a shotgun in her hands was accidentally discharged.

Miss Shull had seen a snake in the nest of a hen. She returned to the house for a gun. As she was crossing a fence, the gun was fired, the load entering the young woman's abdomen.

She died about 20 minutes later before medical aid could arrive.

Miss Shull was the daughter of W. L. Shull, who lives about six miles from Columbia on the Columbia-Augusta highway.

The first one-dollar bank note of the "greenback" variety ever issued by the United States Government—it is numbered one—is owned by the wife of an officer in the Internal Revenue service.

Thomas M. Raysor Dead

Orangeburg, S. C., May 4.—Thomas Middleton Raysor dean of the Orangeburg county bar and one of Orangeburg's leading citizens, died here late yesterday afternoon after a prolonged illness in the 66th year of his life.

AN ORDINANCE

Providing for the Inoculation of Dogs Against Rabies.

Be it ordained by the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Camden, South Carolina, at Council assembled this 4th day of May, 1925, and by the authority of same:

Section 1. That annually during the month of May of each year, including the year 1925, the owners of all dogs within the City of Camden shall bring said dogs to an officer designated by the City Council of the City of Camden for the purpose of having said dogs inoculated against rabies, the owner of said dog to pay the cost of said inoculation.

Section 2. That there shall be furnished the owner of every dog inoculated a certificate showing the date of said inoculation, and no dog shall be allowed to remain within the city limits of the City of Camden, unless the owner of said dog can produce said certificate of inoculation or other satisfactory proof of inoculation under the terms of this ordinance.

Section 3. That the owner of any dog violating the provisions of this ordinance upon trial and conviction before the Recorder of the City of Camden shall be fined not less than Five Dollars ($5.00) or more than Fifty Dollars ($50.00) or imprisoned at hard labor upon the public works of the City of Camden for a period not exceeding ten days, and any dog not inoculated under the terms of this ordinance shall be killed by order of the city authorities, after five days' notice to the owner of said dog to have said dog inoculated.

Section 4. All Ordinances or parts of Ordinances inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.

Ratified in Council assembled, this 4th day of May, 1925.

H. G. CARRISON, JR., Mayor.

Attest: W. H. HAILE,
City Clerk.

State's Progress Reflected In Telephone Growth

THE growth and progress of South Carolina last year was strikingly reflected in the large investment in additions and extensions to the telephone system.

Such an active year of construction has rarely been experienced in the State, and, as a result, the telephone service is more extensive and more valuable than ever before.

In South Carolina last year the telephone workers handled 11,725 telephone stations, making a net gain of 2,595 new telephones and involving gross additions to plant of approximately $645,880.

To accomplish this big task required the services of 763 workers, whose annual wage bill was $806,949.

The investment in service in South Carolina as of December 31, 1924, was $7,207,196, and there are now 37,388 Bell telephones in the State.

Some of the items included in the investment are 55 central offices, 100,682 miles of wire, 1,893 miles of pole line and 124 miles of underground duct.

There is a bigger task ahead this year, and your considerate interest encourages the telephone workers in their effort to serve you even better.
