

Purebred Bulls For Cattle Herds

In the fight between cooperative veterinary forces and the cattle tick the latter is losing 25,000 square miles of territory annually, according to Dr. John R. Mohler, Chief of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry, United States Department of Agriculture. Within the last 22 years more than 500,000 square miles of agricultural land in the South has been reclaimed from the domination of the pests.

The next step after eradication of the ticks is the introduction of better cattle in most sections of the south. This is being accomplished by introducing purebred bulls and crossing them with the better type native cows. Doctor Mohler emphasizes the need for the very best bulls available, since this is the starting point for the foundation of the herd.

In areas recently freed of ticks the Department of Agriculture is advising cattle owners to begin on a small scale and build up their herds gradually rather than buy a large number to begin with. In this way the owners will acquire the necessary experience with less chance for losses.

The fall of the year is the best time to purchase bulls, Doctor Mohler says, because breeders usually sell them for less to avoid the expense of wintering them. Bulls purchased in the fall should be kept in small fields until spring, which is the preferred time to turn them out on the range. Unless the pasture on the range is unusually good breeding bulls should have supplementary feed to keep them in good condition.

Kershaw County is to have a bull sale before long, advises Henry D. Green, our County Agent.

DEATH OF JOHN A. MARION

Prominent York Attorney Survived by Former Camden Lady.

York, Nov. 3.—John Alexander Marion, 30, attorney of outstanding ability, chairman of the board of trustees of the York city schools, chairman of the York county Democratic executive committee and one of York's most popular and esteemed citizens, died at his home here at 9 o'clock this morning.

The death of Mr. Marion was not unexpected, as his condition had been extremely critical for several days. Although he rapidly failing health for the last two months, which kept him confined to his home part of the time he was able to be at his office for a short time as late as Monday. That night he was seized with a severe attack of illness, since which all the news from his bedside had been of a disquieting nature. Death was due to cardiac trouble and complications.

The death of Mr. Marion removes one of York's foremost and most useful citizens. During the 17 years of his residence here he had been closely identified with the professional, business and religious life of the town, and in each of these spheres he had been a leader and wielder of strong influence. His passing brings genuine sorrow to the entire town.

Mr. Marion was born in Richbourg, Chester county, and graduated from the high school there. He was graduated from the University of South Carolina in 1909. After studying law he was admitted to the bar in 1911. The following year he came to York and formed a partnership with the late Congressman D. E. Finley. This partnership continued until the death of Congressman Finley in 1917. Some years later a son of Congressman Finley, W. G. Finley, became his law associate. This partnership continued until Mr. Marion's death.

Surviving Mr. Marion are his widow, who before marriage was Miss Mary Kershaw Burnet of Camden; three sons, J. A. Marion, Jr., Andrew B. Marion and William Francis Marion; also his mother, Mrs. W. F. Marion, and a sister, Mrs. Harry C. Brearley, both of Clemson College, and a brother, Wendell Marion, civil engineer, with the Arkansas state highway commission.

Mr. Marion was a first cousin to J. H. Marion of Charlotte, a former justice of the South Carolina supreme court.

Raise Poultry For a Profit

Does your poultry flock return a good profit over the cost of feed during the year? It has been found that when laying hens are fed all the grain they will consume, Leghorns and similar breeds eat from 70 to 80 pounds of grain a year. Breeds like Plymouth Rock, Rhode Island Red and Wyandotte eat from 80 to 95 pounds. All breeds eat from 2 to 3 pounds of oyster shells and about 1 pound of grit a year.

The average farm hen lays less than 60 eggs a year, principally from March to June, the season of lowest prices. Yearly profits in eggs depend largely on production in fall and winter, according to Henry D. Green, county agent. Rations for laying stock should include scratch grains, mash, meat feed, green feed, mineral feed, grit, and drink. The scratch ration should be scattered through the litter in the poultry house so that the hens will get plenty of exercise.

NOTED GEORGIAN DEAD

Was Husband of Former Bishopville and Camden Lady.

Colonel John W. Clark, state pension commissioner and one of the best known public officials in Georgia, died Friday night at his residence, 121 South Candler Street, Decatur, after a long illness. He had been compelled to remain away from his office at the state capitol for several months.

Colonel Clark was a native of Carolina, but had lived at Augusta for nearly seventy years and had served as sheriff of Richmond county and postmaster of the city of Augusta, in addition to being in the government Indian service in Wyoming for some time. He was a distinguished Confederate soldier and active in Confederate veterans organizations. He had been state pension commissioner since 1922, when he was appointed by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, and had been re-elected three times.

Colonel Clark was born April 26, 1844, in Edgefield district, South Carolina, not far from the Georgia state line.

Colonel Clark was married at Augusta in 1869 to Miss Emma Schaub, who died in 1916. He afterwards married Mrs. Anna McLeod, of Bishopville, S. C., formerly Miss Anna McDowell, of Camden, S. C., who survives him. Other survivors are a brother, Frank R. Clark, of Augusta, and a sister, Mrs. Frances Atherton, of Braintree, Miss.—Atlanta Constitution.

Governor's Daughter Loses Auto.

Mrs. John Roddey, 208 South Waccamaw avenue, daughter of Governor John G. Richards, steered her automobile to the curb in front of the First Presbyterian church Saturday morning. With a bunch of flowers for use in the Williams-Coker wedding in the church Saturday night, she left the automobile at the curb.

A well dressed youth, standing nearby, directed her to a side door, saying the main gate was closed that morning. She thanked the stranger, placed her flowers in the church and chatted with friends. The automobile, with the polite stranger, was gone when she emerged from the building a few minutes later. This stranger was seen to drive off in the automobile.—Sunday's State.

Boys Put Tie on Railroad Track

Rock Hill, Nov. 2.—Two boys, aged nine and ten years were turned over to their parents at Filbert on Thursday for parental chastisement for placing a cross tie on the C. & N. W. railroad near Filbert Sunday. The obstruction was in the path of an approaching passenger train, the crew of which discovered it in time to avert disaster. The occurrence was reported to Luther A. Thomas, inspector of the road Sunday. He succeeded in locating the boys who did it. Owing to the youthfulness of the boys, it was decided that punishment by the parents was the best solution of the situation.

McCormick Cream Business is $8,500

McCormick, Nov. 2.—The McCormick cream station has purchased 20,255 pounds of butterfat from the farmers of the county this year, which netted them $8,491.53, according to statement made by Thomas W. Morgan, county agent. Total receipts at the station for 1928 were 19,544 pounds, Mr. Morgan states. Total receipts since the opening of the station in June 1926 are 46,374 pounds of butterfat for which the farmers have been paid $19,795.98.

The cream station has done a wonderful work in showing small producers that there is money to be made from dairy cows. Receipts at the station are steadily increasing each month.

Mrs. Dan Willis of Boiling Springs, Spartanburg county was bending over the fire with a pair of tongs for the purpose of making the blaze brighter. She lost her balance and sustained a broken hip.
