The season at Camden is now under way and in good style, too.

The hunting set and the winter colony are almost all here and there are more owners of horses and gentlemen riders in town than ever before at this time of year.

Camden and Aiken have within the last day or two definitely arranged a joint program of sports which should make this one of the most brilliant seasons here in some time.

The first event of interest to horsemen throughout the country will be the annual Hunter Trials under the auspices of the Camden Hunt, which will be held as usual on February 21 on the hunter trial course at Springdale, just outside of Camden. The following day, Washington's birthday, the Hunt race season of the country will open here at Camden, on the historic Springdale course, with a program of brush, timber and flat races. This race course is now quite generally regarded as one of the best Hunt race courses in the United States.

On Saturday, March 17, the interest of the followers of the horse will be centered on nearby Aiken, where on a race course recently reconditioned a full program of steeplechase and flat races will be run. As usual, the Aiken colony will compete quite generally in the Camden races and of course many Camden owners of thoroughbreds will enter in the Aiken events.

The first of the big Hunt steeplechases of the 1934 season will be held, as customary, on the Springdale course at Camden on Saturday, March 24, when a full program of timber and brush races will be run, the big event being the fifth running of the Carolina Cup, a three-mile steeplechase over timber, in honor of Thomas Hitchcock, of Aiken. This race annually attracts the best steeplechase horses of the country, and the prospects this year are for the biggest field in the history of the Cup.

Another event which always attracts much interest is the annual Camden Horse Show which will be held probably March 21 and 22, the week of the Carolina Cup.

A recent letter to the "New York Times" raises the interesting question of when the celebrated remark of the Governor of North Carolina to the Governor of South Carolina, which is now of more significance than ever, was first made.

Our historical department is conducting extensive researches into this mooted question, and we hope soon to be able to present the result of their interesting labors to our readers. In the meantime, any information on this momentous subject which South Carolinians, or North Carolinians, may be good enough to send us, will be much appreciated and given a place of honor in this Column.

Newspaper men—and all those interested in newspapers, which means nearly everybody—will get profit and inspiration from reading the address on the "Philosophy of Journalism" given Monday evening at Yale by Carl W. Ackerman, dean of Columbia's School of Journalism.

Motion Picture Man Spoke To Rotarians

A program which was intended for round-table discussion of things concerning Rotary was turned over to other attractions, such as an introductory speech of Rotarian Robert Pomeroy who introduced his friend, Mr. McClintock of Rutgers College, who is to speak before the Garden Club of Camden on Friday afternoon. Mr. McClintock gave an interesting description of his work in taking motion pictures of big game animals, smaller animals and plant life. He is a pioneer in this work and has cooperated with the National Geographic Magazine and the Biological Department at Washington in this work.

The club enjoyed piano solos by Mr. Tisdale of the Presbyterian College Glee Club and a solo by Mr. McCall also of the same club. He was accompanied on the piano by Mr. Tisdale. Mr. Huntley, the coach and trainer of the glee club made a few remarks about the concert to be given at the school auditorium.

A beautiful Rotary pin was presented to Karl Abbott by Rotarians John Wilson of Sumter, Dud French of Newberry, Stan Llewellyn, Vardell Walsh and John deLoach of Camden. These men were guests of Mr. Abbott at the Vendome Hotel in Boston last summer during the meeting of the International Rotary Convention. Mr. Abbott replied with a short speech of acceptance.

Other guests at the meeting were C. H. Yates, Watson Pomeroy, Joe McKain and Creighton Mitchell.

Next week's program will be in charge of Vardell Walsh and the following week will be in charge of J. G. Richards, Jr.

press during the last few years, Dean Ackerman said:

"This journalistic alertness, which springs from a philosophy of journalism, has made the newspaper what it has been throughout the depression—the focal point of national interest, the proving ground of public opinion, the central agency of public understanding, the chief unofficial activity which held the nation together in a crisis."
