Chester and Camden Battle Here Tonight

By Frank H. Heath)

Put two high-class football teams on the same field on any Saturday afternoon and one of them is almost certain to come out of the fracas somewhat bemiseric.

And when you put Camden and Chester on the same gridiron Friday night and barring a tie score, a team of championship calibre will emerge from the melee.

Both teams are members of a select group commanding a lot of respect in the sport circles of the south. Early season performances, both as team and individual, have built up this game Friday night at Zemp stadium here to the position of being the greatest "natural" in state high school football circles.

Camden, gaining momentum in six clashes has not even skidded in any of the battles to date. Chester will not boasting quite as fine a record as the Bulldogs, still rates as a dangerous foe and may be the stumbling block in the path of the locals. In past years Chester has always shown itself to be a team of scrappers when it came to playing the Bulldogs.

On the dope Camden should win but this grid season has been a regular parade of upsets and for that reason Camden fans will breathe a lot easier if this upstate machine is hung up among the other victims of the Bulldog attack.

Camden scouts who have been watching the Chester outfit describe the team as being "dangerous." And Chester followers declare that the team will rise to superior heights to knock off the Camden team. If Chester can turn the trick the fans up in that neck of the state will count the season a one hundred per cent success.

It is reported that Chester is strong offensively, which is also true of the Bulldogs. At this writing it looks as if defensive resourcefulness and strength will decide the combat.

Indications are that the game between these two teams, Chester with the honor of being 1936 state A champions and Camden, heretofore a "B" team and now raging through the "A" ranks like a hurricane, will be witnessed by a recordbreaking crowd. All Camden will be out for the tilt while inquiries show that Columbia, Sumter, Chester, Darlington, Florence and Winnaboro are sending big delegations to the affair.

If the weather man shows any consideration in the matter the prediction for a record crowd will be fulfilled. State police will aid city and county officials in handling the expected heavy traffic.

The game begins at 8 o'clock sharp. By 10 p. m. the world will know whether Camden still retains its record of being undefeated and untied this season, or whether the Chester lads have risen to supreme heights to topple the Bulldogs from their throne.

Publicity Program Planned for Camden

Contracts for an extended advertising program and the printing of an attractive new Camden booklet were disposed of at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Camden and Kershaw County chamber of commerce at a special meeting Monday evening, October 25.

The contract for advertising was awarded to the W. H. H. Hull Company, Inc., of New York City, rated as one of the foremost in the field, and a concern that is familiar with the resort problems of the south, handling the advertising accounts of Southern Pines, Pinehurst, Augusta, Alken and many Florida points.

This contract calls for display advertising in the New York Times, New York Herald-Tribune, Boston Evening Transcript and the Philadelphia Enquirer, with quarter page advertising in the Rider and Driver and Horse and Horseman. The advertising will carry engravings and art work.

The new Camden booklet is to be printed by the Lassiter Press of Charlotte, N. C., with an initial order calling for 10,000 copies. The booklet will be in black and buff and will have an artistic duplex cover featuring scenes in steeplechase racing, golf, tennis, hunting and polo.

Committees Named For Red Cross Roll

Mrs. John Mullen, chairman of the Roll Call of the Kershaw County Chapter of the Red Cross, and Mrs. R. E. Stevenson, attended the regional conference of the Red Cross in Columbia on Tuesday to discuss problems and methods of handling the roll call this year.

On returning to Camden, Mrs. Mullen announced the committees acting this year and their chairmen. They are as follows:

Roll call committee—Mrs. John Mullen, chairman; Tom Anrum, Robert Kennedy, Jr., Sam Karesh, Oliver Rice, Rev. A. Douglas McArn.

Special Gifts—Mrs. Samuel Russell.

Publicity—Miss Betty Garrison, as chairman of newspaper; Mrs. Donald Morrison, window displays; Mrs. C. Grainger Korngay, flags.

Street Booths—Mrs. Dess Goodale, chairman, American Legion Auxillary, Junior Welfare League.

Industries—Basil Bruce, chairman. Mill District—Mrs. S. A. McCaskill, chairman; Marvin Reasonover, Mrs. J. T. Jordan.

Colored Division—Isaac B. English, chairman; Rev. J. W. Boykin, Ruth Alexander, Margaret Pickett, Jessie D. Wright.

Schools—J. G. Richards, Jr., chairman; Miss Ada Phelps, grammar school; C. T. Baldwin, high school; Virginia Halle, Pine Tree Hill school; Miss M. Fuller, Mather Academy.

Churches—Rev. A. Douglas McArn, chairman.

Service Clubs—John Mullen, Rotary; Dewey Creed, Exchange Club; Jack Whitaker, Jr., American Legion.

Business District—F. N. McCorkle, chairman; Ken Blakeney, Jack Nettles, J. B. Zemp, W. F. Nettles, Jr., Donald Morrison, L. L. Wallnau, Hughey Tindal, A. C. Sarratt, Clarkson Rhame, Jack Whitaker, Jr.

Neighborhood canvassers will be announced at a later date. Roll call is scheduled to begin on Armistice Day, and to end Thanksgiving Day.

Opening Dinner and Dance at Court Inn

The 1937-1938 sport and social season in this southern winter resort will be ushered in on the evening of Thursday, November 11, when an informal dinner dance will be given in the spacious dining room of the Court Inn.

The affair is being referred to as a sport parade. Dinner will be served at 7:30 with dancing beginning at 9, and continuing until midnight. Music is to be provided by a splendid orchestra.

Invitations will be extended to the city officials, Chamber of Commerce officers and directors, the members of the Camden polo club and a general invitation to the public. The affair will be delightfully informal so far as dress is concerned.

Plans are being made to take care of between three and four hundred people. It promises to be a gala event with several pleasant surprises scheduled for the evening.

The affair will inaugurate a season of activity at the recently renovated hostelry. The North and South Carolina units of the Southern Hotel association will meet here Saturday, November 6, for the purpose of discussing matters of interest to the hotel group of the two states. It will also act as an introduction of the Court Inn to the hotel men of the two states. Over one hundred and fifty hotel men will attend this convention.

On November 18, the Fifth District convention of the South Carolina Medical Association, with some sixty members in attendance, will be held at the Inn.

The Inn housed the members of the South Carolina University football team Wednesday night, October 29, just prior to the Clemson game. Don McAllister, the coach, had thirty-three of the players at the Inn.

Later in November the Inn will be the scene of the anniversary meeting of the Rotary club when Rotarians and their ladies will eat and be merry.

Notables registered at the Inn in the past, several days include Senor D. C. Balsa, wife and daughter, of Mexico City. Senor Balsa is the Mexican ambassador at large and was on his way from Mexico City to Washington. Other guests of prominence were Mrs. Percy Holmes, of Summerville, Mass.; Clyde E. Dike, of Morristown, N. J.; J. W. Davis, of the RCA Manufacturing company, of Indianapolis; Mrs. C. Halle and Mrs. Louis Thomas, of Staunton, Va.

Air Show Sunday Witnessed By Many

Camden's fall air show, staged at the Woodward airport Sunday afternoon was one of the most satisfactory events of the kind to be offered the aeronautically-minded citizens of central South Carolina and was witnessed by a throng that numbered into the thousands.

Over four hundred cars passed into the airport grounds while many more lined the highways in all directions from the flying field. Splendid traffic control was exercised by a full complement of national guardsmen from the Kershaw machine gun unit.

The show was full of thrilling air stunts and each attraction was explained over a public address system. The state aeronautical commission was represented by Dexter Martin, chief of the service. The governor's office was represented by Miss Guynelle Eison, private secretary to the state executive.

The Flying Aces, representing some of the foremost stunt flyers of the country put on a high class show, which was packed with thrills and exciting features.

"Chick" Soulet staged several dead motor loops and a perfect dead stick landing that brought him cheers and applause. Hal Foster in a stunting plane did some reverse loops and inverted rolls and ended with a dead stick landing. Jessie Woods, wife of Jim Woods, who is managing the Woodward airport, demonstrated her mastery of her "Cub" plane by staging several loops and spins and ending with the cutting of a long ribbon as it floated toward the earth.

Ray Anderson, a North Carolina lad was taken up 2500 feet by Jim Woods and from this height he "balled out" with a parachute, landing almost in the center of the field. Jack Huber, a Hollywood stunt flyer who is seen in the movies frequently with his darling air feats staked a dramatic act when he mounted a Harley-Davidson motorcycle and crashed through a blazing board wall.

Jessie Woods and Hal Foster, the former driving her Cub and Hal piloting which was won by the Aronca. Then came the bombing of a racing Plymouth car by a plane and while none of the dud bombs hit the car, some of them were close enough to shower it with flour as they burst.

The tug of war between the Plymouth auto and a plane resulted in a tie—neither car or plane being able to make any headway.

The real thrill of the afternoon came as a closing feature when Jack Huber ascended over 11000 feet into the ether and then leaped from the plane. Flour that poured from a sack carried by the falling man left a thin chalk line in the air. It took Huber just 68 seconds to fall ten thousand feet which is almost 180 feet a second. Just above a thousand feet he jerked the rip cord, the chute ballooned out and Huber drifted quietly down to a landing directly in front of the crowd of people. It was a beautiful bit of timing in bringing the plane to a proper point where Huber could make his leap and allow for wind drift to land him near the center of the air field.

Camden Surgeons Get High Honors

Dr. George S. Rhame, of this city, was made a member of the American College of Surgeons in Chicago Monday, October 25, this being an organization which is a branch of the American Medical Association. Accompanying Dr. Rhame to Chicago for the American Medical Association meetings this week is Dr. Carl A. West of this city. He is also a member of the American College of Surgeons.

To qualify for this honor surgeons must have performed at least one hundred major operations successfully. They must undergo a rigid written examination, and the case records are given minute study before the fellowship is conferred.

Grow Turkeys Out For Thanksgiving

Clemson, Oct. 25.—P. H. Gooding, extension poultryman, advises farmers raising turkeys to lose no time and spare no efforts in getting the turkeys ready for the Thanksgiving market. Too often, he states, the turkeys are forced to range over the farm and find their own food and consequently are lanky and thin in flesh at marketing time.

"In order for the young turkeys to make the maximum growth and put on the greatest amount of flesh, they should be fed a high protein mash and an abundance of grain for the next few weeks," Mr. Gooding suggests. "Any good poultry egg-laying mash would be satisfactory. A home-mixed mash could be prepared by using two parts by weight of corn meal, two parts of wheat shorts, and one part of meat scraps or fish meal. This should be kept before the turkeys in troughs as well as grain."

"About two weeks before marketing time, the protein supplement should be reduced in the mash and by the time the turkeys are marketed the rations should consist mostly of grain. This will assure well finished turkeys for the market which will demand the highest prices."

County-Wide Meet of Farmers Called

There will be a county-wide meeting of farmers at the Camden High School Auditorium on Monday, November 1, at 10 o'clock.

This meeting is called to explain the 1938 farm program. O. M. Clarke, of Clemson, will be here to discuss the new program. All farmers are urged to be present states W. C. McCauley, the county agent.

Seaboard Station Nears Completion

The attractive new station of the Seaboard Air Line railway, under course of construction just west of the city limits all summer is rapidly nearing completion and according to a statement from the Chamber of Commerce will be ready for use in about two weeks.

The matter of a roadway leading from the Number One highway to the concourse of the station is still up in the air and it may be later in the winter before the desired paved highway is secured.

Former Camden Man Helps Rescue Girl

The following taken from a recent St. Petersburg, Fla., paper tells of the rescue of a girl who tried to drown herself. Ernest Appleyard who assisted in the rescue, up to last season had been employed by Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Kirkover, of this city, but lately has been making his home in the Florida city:

"A young woman tentatively identified as Cynthia Ray was saved from drowning by two passers-by at 10:30 o'clock last night after she fell or jumped from one of the boat docks at the foot of Central avenue.

"Taken to Mound Park hospital in a Cooksey ambulance, the young woman was revived, but police were unable to ascertain her address or learn any details of the accident. Hospital records listed the girl's mother as a Mrs. Peters, 15 Sixth street north.

"The young woman's condition late last night was reported by hospital attaches as 'fairly good.'"

"Ernest Appleyard, whose address police listed as the Mercer hotel, was passing the scene at the time and went to the assistance of the girl. He was aided in making the rescue by his companion, George A. Schade, owner of the boat Gypsy berthed in slip 8 of the central yacht basin."

Prominent Educator Leases Residence

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Pritchard, of Hempstead, Long Island, have leased the Potter residence, corner of Broad and Green streets, and will come down for the winter.

Mr. Pritchard is a well known educator, who is originally from Oxon, England, and has taught in Aiken, S. C., for the past eighteen years.

He comes with a long list of recommendations from some of the most prominent people in the country. He specializes in tutoring lads from eight to eighteen.

Camden Fighter Taking All Comers

Willie "Wildcat" Reddish, Camden heavyweight, who is fighting in New York, has served notice on all heavyweights that he is ready to take on the best of them.

Willie annihilated Jim Howell, New York heavy at Convention Hall in New York Thursday night and attracted the attention and praise of the leading boxing tycoons of the country.

Reddish and Howell were scheduled to go ten rounds but the fight ended in the eighth when Howell's seconds threw in the sponge. Howell had been given terrific punishment over his kidneys.

Reddish floored Howell six times in the sixth and seventh rounds. In the eighth round he was all over his opponent, and Howell's face was a mask of agony when his seconds threw in the sponge.

Big Crowd Orderly At The State Fair

Columbia, Oct. 27.—Order at the State Fair this year has been the best in at least fourteen years, Deputy Sheriff W. H. Thompson said today, looking back over the years he has been in charge of special officers on duty at the grounds.

Ninety special policemen patrolled the fair ground yesterday while approximately 50,000 persons visited the exhibits and the Clemson-Carolina football game. Only twelve arrests were made Thompson said.

"We have had fewer cases this year than in any of the fourteen years I have been in charge of officers here," Thompson reported.

URGED TO ATTEND MEETING OF TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION

Every person in Kershaw county, who is interested in the control and prevention of tuberculosis is urged to attend the annual meeting of the Kershaw County Tuberculosis association which will be held at the Presbyterian Church Sunday School room in Camden on Monday, November 1, at 5 p. m.

There have been twelve deaths from tuberculosis in the county this year. This should arouse the interest of every citizen to give hearty support to the efforts of the Tuberculosis association. The work of the association is supported by the sale of Christmas Seals. The Seal sale for 1937 will begin November 26.

Mrs. Blackwell Dies

Mrs. Moody Stokes Blackwell, wife of the late T. B. Blackwell, passed away at her home in the Bethune section Tuesday, October 19.

Mrs. Blackwell, who was 68 years of age, had been in ill health for some time.

Surviving are two children—Elias Blackwell, of Bethune; Miss Lillie Mae Blackwell, of Conway. Also three grandchildren survive.

Funeral services conducted by Rev. J. W. Watkins, were held at High Hill church near Lucknow, with interment in the church cemetery.

Pallbearers were C. C. Pate, J. R. Gore, J. R. Bethune, Leslie Jones, Ashley Barley and Alex Young.

Praises Woodward Airport

T. W. Miller, district airport advisor of the Bureau of Air Commerce of the United States government called at the Chamber of Commerce office Wednesday and expressed satisfaction over the progress being made in utilizing the facilities of the Woodward airport.

Mr. Miller stated that the Camden airport was the second largest in the state and when the field has been smoothed up, it will no doubt attract many planes.

The opening up of a service unit at the airport received praise from the government man, who is making a tour of the airports of the state to inquire into existing facilities.

$2,670.70 For Hogs

The Kershaw County Farmers Exchange got the returns for the two cars of hogs that was shipped Monday. Top prices brought 10.10 cents per pound, which netted the farmers 9.10 per pound f. o. b. Camden. The two cars brought the farmers who participated in the shipment $2,670.10. B. D. Boykin and K. S. Tupper shipped approximately sixty head each. The Exchange will ship again in two weeks. Watch this paper for the dates.
