Bates and Frank Heath to meet with him and discuss the organization of a Camden chapter of the Game and Fish association.

Author and Sportsman Visit Here Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hastings Miller, of East Gloucester, Mass., were the guests Sunday of Edwin Guy of this city. Mr. Miller, well known author and sportsman, and for many years editor of "Field and Stream" was on his way from a fishing trip in Florida to the fishing grounds around Kitty Hawk, N. C. As an author, Mr. Miller is of interest to Camden in that his recent book "The Boys of 1917," famous American Heroes of the World War, published by L. C. Page and company, Boston, gave considerable space to the achievements of the Thirtieth Division and featured the exploits of John Cantey Villepique, Hobson Hilton and other South Carolinians. A Northerner by birth, Mr. Miller has long been interested in and sympathetic to the history of the Confederacy and one of the points of his visit to Camden was to discuss plans for a new L. C. Page and company book on the story of the Confederate Navy.

Methodist Church Scene Of Wedding

An interesting social event of the summer was the wedding Wednesday afternoon, July 24, of Miss Ina Rebecca DeLoache and Marvin J. Senn, of St. Matthews, who were married in the Lytleton Street Methodist Church at 5 o'clock in the afternoon by the Rev. Bryce Herbert. The church was beautifully decorated in green and white, plues and asparagus ferns being used as a background and in the foreground, a lovely effect was created with sprays of greens and white oleander blossoms fastened against a screen of white. White hydrangeas and plumes of white crepe myrtle were arranged in floor baskets on either side of the pulpit and alternating between these were floor candelabra holding white lighted tapers.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Benjamin P. DeLoache, Jr., of New York City, the bride's sister-in-law, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Contentment". She was accompanied by Mrs. James Gandy, organist, who also played the wedding march.

The usher groomsmen, James DeLoache, a brother of the bride, Billy Nettles, Elliot Sheorn and J. H. Goddard, of Holly Hill, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, entered the church in pairs. They wore white linen suits and boutonnieres of white daisies. The bride's only attendant, her sister, Miss Marjorie DeLoache, wore an afternoon dress of pale pink organza trimmed with eyelet embroidery and a pink picture hat in matching shade. She carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli.

Oliver Senn, of Greenville, was his brother's best man. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Benjamin P. DeLoache, Sr. She wore a becoming and chic traveling costume of navy blue mesh with white embroidery trimming, white accessories and a navy picture hat trimmed with wide grosgrain ribbon. In her hand she carried a white prayer book showered with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. DeLoache, the bride's mother, wore a printed georgette with a white hat, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Fletcher Senn, the bridegroom's mother, wore cream lace with a large brown straw hat, brown accessories and a corsage of picardy gladioli.

Immediately after the wedding ceremony the sister of the bride, Mrs. Malcolm Bryant, and Mr. Bryant entertained with a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. DeLoache on Mill street.

Quantities of flowers in shades of pink and white were arranged in the living room and den. The guests were greeted by Mrs. Bryant at the front door and in receiving line were the parents of the bride and bridegroom and members of the bridal party. Mrs. Willis Sheorn, Mrs. Robin Zemp and Mrs. John Nettles, Sr., assisted and in the dining room refreshments were served by Mrs. Lula Kelley, Miss Betty Blakeney and Miss Katharine Sheorn. Mrs. Elliot Sheorn presided at the punch bowl.

A lace cloth covered the bride's table and at the corners were silver candlesticks holding white lighted candles. In the center was a large silver bowl of white daisies and green and white iced cakes and mints carried out the bridal color scheme. Miss Virginia Drawdy was in charge of the bride's book, the one which had also been used at the wedding of her mother, the former Miss Annie DeLay.

After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Senn will be at home in Pine Bluff, Ark., where Mr. Senn is with the United States engineers. Among the out of town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin P. DeLoache, Jr., brother and sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. L. W. Mahaffey, of St. Stephens, another sister, Mrs. Rufus Thurman, and Mrs. W. C. Hough, of Cheraw; Edward Thurman, of Bronxville, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Senn, Mrs. I. O. Furtick, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Wannamaker and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Oliver, of St. Matthews; Mr. and Mrs. James Goddard, of Holly Hill; Miss Brantley Pelham, Miss Judy Keown, Miss Ruby Stringer, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bond and family, Miss Henrietta Irby, Samuel Matthews, Pat Dogter and Mr. and Mrs. Serre DeLoach, of Columbia; Mrs. Sidney Zemp, Sr., of Monck's Corner, Mrs. Marsh Myers, of North Wilkesboro, N. C., and Miss Olive Lane of Harrisville.

FINAL DISCHARGE Notice is hereby given that one month from this date, on August 26, 1940, we will make to the Probate Court of Kershaw County our final return as Executors of the estate of Etta I. Williams, deceased, and on the same date we will apply to the said Court for a final discharge as said Executors.

MARION B. WILLIAMS, LOIS W. GANDY, Executors. Camden, S. C., July 25, 1940.

Colonel Kelley Was Rotary Speaker

Colonel R. H. Kelley, of the United States army, now stationed in Columbia, as Senior Inspecting Officer of the South Carolina militia, was the guest orator of the Camden Rotary Club Thursday. Colonel Kelley's subject was the "Philippine Islands." He gave a most interesting description of the various islands that make up the Philippine group, telling of the various tribes that inhabit them, and the progress they have made since our government came in possession in 1898. The program was in charge of Thomas Ancrum.

The visiting Rotarians were J. H. Osborne, Carroll Jones, J. Keels Maxwell and R. H. Kelley, of Columbia; Harry A. Sykes, Lancaster, Pa.; J. W. Wagner, Statesville, N. C. The guest visitors were Granger Kornegay, Jr., and Mr. Newkirk, who is a new-comer to Camden.

The club stood in silence as a memorial to the late Nicholas P. Gettys, an ardent Rotarian, who died last week. B. B. Dunlap and S. C. Clyburn were received as new members of the club. W. Robin Zemp spoke a few minutes telling them what is expected of a new member.

The program next week will be in charge of W. W. Bates; the following week in charge of Moultrie Burns and the following Thursday in charge of H. G. Carrison, Jr. Henry Savage, Jr., president of the club, announced that the next District Conference of the District will be held in Camden next spring. Camden was awarded this meeting at the Rotary gathering held at Caesar's Head on Monday. This conference will attract about four hundred visitors and Camden will be the smallest town ever to entertain the conference.

Fourteen-year-old Wayne Ball of Greeley, Colo., had his horse shot from under him by lightning. The youth, only slightly injured, regained consciousness to find the horse dead at his side. Wayne's hair was singed and there was a blister on his leg.
