Soil Conservation News

M. L. Duval, of the Boykin community, has seeded eight acres of permanent pasture this spring. The mixture consisted of four pounds White Dutch and Hop clover, ten lbs. Imported Dallis grass and 15 pounds of mixed Kobe and Korean lespedeza. A natural stand of Bermuda is present in most places. This area was treated with one ton of lime and 400 pounds of 18 per cent acid phosphate per acre prior to seeding. The location of this pasture is desirable since running water and shade are convenient.

Terrace lines were recently run by the Lynches River Soil Conservation district on Eugene Watts' farm near Lugoff. Mr. Watts marked his lines so that they will not become obliterated by cultivation and rains and plans to build his terraces this fall with turn plow and V-drag.

R. S. Kirk, farmer of the Lugoff section, has seeded 7 acres of Sericea Lespedeza this spring. This plot is adjacent to his pasture and may be used for supplementary grazing when pastures are usually short during mid-summer. Mr. Kirk applied 1,000 pounds of basic slag per acre and seeded 30 pounds of scarified Sericea per acre on a well settled seed bed. Sericea has a long tap-root and has proven to be very effective in controlling soil erosion.

War Job Workers Eye Sumter Matter With Much Concern

Several Camden residents who have returned from big contracting jobs where they have been employed for the past several months are casting interesting eyes at a situation which has developed in Sumter county and which is now being considered by the attorney general's office. The question that was raised by George L. Mabry, sheriff of Sumter county was whether unemployed persons who have funds to meet their expenses may be arrested under the South Carolina vagrancy law and be forced to work on farms?

It seems that quite a delegation of Sumter men went to a location where a big naval base contract was being carried out and got jobs which paid big salaries. That job has been completed, the men are back and all have well padded purses. The Sumter sheriff says that farm workers are in dire need in Sumter county and he has requested the men just returned from the naval base job to work on the farms but they have refused. He has now asked the attorney general if he has the power to arrest these men on vagrancy charges and force them to go to the farms.

Governor Johnston recently ordered the sheriffs and police chiefs to pick up all men out of work but who are in good health or book them on vagrancy charges. In the interval the Camden men who were out of town on government work and are now idle are having an attack of the jitters for fear the attorney general will give the Sumter sheriff the "go ahead" signal, for they realize that they may have to join the march of the future farmers.

During the days of the open cattle range in western United States, there gradually grew up a body of unwritten laws aptly called "Cow Customs." Some of these laws were hammered out in informal hearings before justices of the peace, and others at the business end of a Colt .44.

Transplant: Tomatoes, Sweet Potatoes, Eggplant, Pepper to open field after April 15. Fertilizer: Nitrate of Soda, 5-7-5 or 4-8-6. Well-rotted stable manure. Remarks: Do not allow tomato plants to grow long legged. Transplant them to other boxes or frames and give each plant room to become stout-stemmed and stocky. If well hardened they may be set in the open ten days earlier. A good tomato plant is about 8 inches from the root to the top, and about as large as a lead pencil. Set the plants so that half the stem is below the surface of the ground. In order that an unbroken supply may be had, make another planting of the vegetables planted during March, such as beets, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, kale, lettuce.
