

Mighty Fittin'—Those Old-Time Tomato Preserves

"How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood!" Memories of old oaken buckets belong to a vanishing generation but almost everybody has fond recollections of the favorite foods of his childhood. Every year a good many people write Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director for Ball Brothers Company, manufacturer of fruit jars, requesting a recipe for pickles or preserves "like my mother or grandmother used to make."

An Old Favorite

A recipe popular a half century ago appeared in an early edition of the Ball Blue Book. It reads: "To every pound of small yellow tomatoes allow one pound of sugar. Put the tomatoes and sugar together and to every seven pounds of sugar allow the juice of three lemons. Let stand together all night and in the morning drain off the sirup and boil. (The recipe doesn't tell how long, but 10 minutes should do.) Put in the tomatoes and simmer for twenty minutes after they boil. Remove the tomatoes and allow the sirup to boil until thick. Just before taking from the fire, add the lemon juice. Put the fruit in the jars and cover with boiling sirup. Seal immediately."

If a more modern recipe is wanted, you might try:
2 1/2 pounds (peeled) small tomatoes
2 1/2 pounds sugar
3 cups water
1/4 ounce whole ginger
1 1/2 lemon (sliced thin)
1/4 ounce of stick cinnamon

Boil together water, sugar, lemon and spices for fifteen minutes; add tomatoes, a few at a time, and cook gently until the tomatoes become bright and clear. Then pour into shallow pans, cover and let stand over night. Pack the cold tomatoes into hot jars and strain the sirup over them. Process twenty minutes at simmering.

If you are wondering where you are going to get the sugar, as who isn't, here is your recipe:

Recipe for Less Sugar
2 pounds tomatoes
2 cups sugar
2 cups corn sirup, light or dark
1/2 cup water
1 lemon
1 small orange
1 stick cinnamon
2 pieces ginger root
6 whole cloves
1/2 cup raisins

Use small, firm, red, yellow or green tomatoes. Scald one minute. Dip into cold water. Skin but do not core. Combine sugar, sirup, water, lemon, orange (sliced thin) and spices, and simmer 30 minutes. Remove spices. Add tomatoes and boil gently until they are bright and clear. Add raisins. Cover and let stand over night. Pack cold tomatoes into hot fruit jars. Boil sirup until thick as honey and pour over tomatoes. Process 15 minutes at simmering.

Weekly News Letter From Liberty Hill

At the Presbyterian church the Sunday morning services were conducted by Elder L. P. Thompson, the Sunday school exercises were in charge to Supt. W. E. Cunningham. Both services were well attended. The Men's Bible class in Sunday school were especially fortunate in having four former members of the class, who are now living elsewhere, with them on this occasion. The visitors being J. G. Richards of Florence, W. J. Richards of Concord, N. C., J. P. Richards and R. C. Jones of Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Williams and daughters of Camden were Sunday guests of Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Drexler and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Jones. Mrs. J. Boyce Bankhead and children of Chester spent last week here with her mother, Mrs. J. G. Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Thompson and daughter, Miss Tunie of Glenn Springs, were visiting relatives here last week.

Misses Lizzie and Lal Richards had as guests last week and for the week-end, Miss Suzanne Heriot of Bishopville. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Richards and son, Jimmie, of Concord, N. C., and Tommy Smith, nephews of Mrs. Richards—of Albemarle, N. C., also J. G. Richards and daughter, Kay, of Florence.

Mrs. R. Frank Eskridge and sons of Cheraw are spending the week

From Canada To Miami, Fla., In An American Jeep

British Officer And His Soldier Bride Find Yankee Prices Staggering

From Vancouver, British Columbia, to Miami, Fla., is the long "jeep-bike" that Basil Kentlan, former lieutenant in the British army, and his lovely bride, Ina Margaret, are making as a honeymoon. Married June 3, they have been seeing plenty of the states and the many points of interest as they slowly worked their way across the nation and thence headed southward for a stay of several weeks in Miami. Their plan is to put their jeep aboard ship and return to their Vancouver home via the Panama Canal and the Pacific ocean.

Seated in a Camden tavern they were eager to tell of their trip so far and admit they are greatly impressed with the United States. What has amazed, and they admit frightened them a bit, are the unusually high prices everywhere in evidence in the states. They recited comparative figures to show the difference prevailing in Vancouver and the average stopover in this country.

For instance they tell of luscious western steaks—sirloins at that—obtainable in any of the Vancouver hotel dining rooms for $1.50 a person and that means all the trimmings such as potatoes, two vegetables, a salad, choice of coffee, tea or milk, and a dessert which is usually in the form of a big slab of pie. Of course, there is always the appetizer preceding the steak. The average price for a dinner like that in the states, so they said, was about $2.50.

The Kentlans went on to tell of a prime roast beef dinner and all the trimmings usually averages about $1.00 in Vancouver. Talking of the prices of food stuffs, they said that bread, the same size loaf as is sold in America, is 8 cents as compared with a 12 cent figure in the states. When they left butter was selling at 42 cents, which is about 2 cents higher than a year ago. Here butter, when you can get it, is now about 73 cents. Milk was 12 cents a quart in their home town. Here in Camden it is almost double now, being 21 cents.

Coal, other fuels, electric appliances, radios, etc., are the same price as before the war. Mr. Kentlan explained that he was given quite a shock when he visited a Camden barber shop and secured a "jolly fine haircut" for 50 cents. In most American cities where he indulged in the luxury the price was $1.00—in a few instances 75 cents.

Hotel prices are astonishingly high in the states as compared to the Canadian west coast towns. There one can get a DeLuxe room with twin beds for $7.50 double, which is about $2.50 to $5.00 a day less than in this country.

Lieutenant Kentlan is British born coming from the Manchester area, while his wife hails from Derby. Ina Margaret was an officer in the British army and it was while stationed in London that she met Basil Kentlan. When the lieutenant was ordered to the Canadian west coast area after the war, she agreed to an immediate marriage. There is a touch of romance to their lives at this juncture for they did not have time to have the marital knot tied before leaving Plymouth, England, and so were united in marriage by the ship's captain.

Both the lieutenant and his bride have interesting personalities and it is easy to realize how rapidly they acquired friends.

The term "fifth column" was first used by Spanish General Mola during the Spanish Civil War.

RED CROSS NOTES

Mary T. Burns, Major Brailsford, chapter chairman and delegate to the general convention of the American Red Cross held in Philadelphia, June 18-21, 1946, reports an interesting and inspiring experience. The opening session of the national convention met Tuesday, June 18, in the municipal auditorium with an estimated 6,000 delegates present. This was a magnificent setting, decorated with Red Cross flags and National colors. On the stage was an orchestra with a chorus of hundreds of voices. The speakers stood on a rostrum, lower and in front of the stage.

The invocation was made by the Right Reverend Oliver J. Hart, bishop of Pennsylvania, a South Carolinian. Addresses of welcome were made by Gov. Martin and Mayor Bernard Samuel. Then followed address by the Hon. Basil O'Connor, "The Red Cross in a New World". In summary, Hon. O'Connor said "Despite its tremendous war contributions, the Red Cross can become a great force for unity among the peoples of the world. By reason of its global work, the emblem of the Red Cross will mean help and service in every land. This broader role provides new challenges and greater opportunities and along with them heavier and more sobering responsibilities. However economic life differs on political and economic issues, under the banner of the Red Cross they can unite for the betterment of mankind.

It must be understood that the Red Cross will not be able to return to a total peacetime budget and that the people must be educated not to expect an immediate and drastic reduction in its war time operating expenses. The Red Cross is still rendering service to 1,500,000 men overseas, and there are 5,300 Red Cross workers serving with them in 780 camps, hospitals and clubs. Our work overseas is a small part of our overall service, as we have the returned soldiers and sailors to serve. About 11,000,000 men have been discharged. Of these the Red Cross has handled 1,450,000 and it is estimated that during 1946-1947, 1,700,000 additional cases will be served by the Red Cross.
