The true value of telephone service is much greater than its cost. Many types of concerns depend entirely upon the telephone to secure business. To them it is indispensable—yet the cost is only a few dollars a month. In fact, in all business, the value of telephone service is far greater than the cost.

The same is true with respect to the everyday home and social use of the telephone. There are times when just one call alone may be worth the cost of the service for several months. If you kept an account of the trips your telephone saves you each month and of the comfort, protection and pleasure it affords, you would find that the price you pay is much less than the value you receive.

The amount you are asked to pay, however, is never more than enough to pay operating costs plus a return on investment sufficient to enable the Telephone Company to secure from investors the millions of dollars of new money needed for improvement and expansion of the service.
