 Bert Seegars, "Home Beautification"; LeJeune Davis, "Organized Agriculture"; Judson Daoney, "What We Need Most"; David Faulkenberry, "Soil Conservation"; Brown Stover, "Are There Any Dead Heads in Your Flock?"; and J. W. Baker, "A Nation's Power Is Determined By the Fertility of the Soil."
 Judges for the contest were Rev. Douglas McArn of Camden and Rev. Douglas Smith of Westville, S. C.
 After the contest the Future Farmers entertained their guests, families of the members, with a delicious fish supper which was prepared by Jessie Robert Cauthen and Annie Faulkenberry.
 The auditorium was set up as a chapter meeting room, displaying full paraphernalia of the Future Farmers of America.
 The speaking contest was opened and closed with the official FFA ceremony.

Red Cross Notes

Sadie K. von Tresckow
"WE BELIEVE"
 During the past month, which marked the 30th anniversary of the American Junior Red Cross, 19,000,000 of our nation's children have taken the following pledge:
 "We believe in service for others, in health of mind and body to fit us for better service, and in world-wide friendship. For this reason we have joined the American Junior Red Cross. We will help make its work successful in our school and community, and will work together with Juniors everywhere in our own and other lands."
 When Christmas comes—Servicemen in the Army of Occupation, in military and naval hospitals will have cards, tray favors, tree ornaments, and other holiday decorations made by the Christmas decorations unit of the Junior Red Cross.
 The Camp and Hospital committee of Kershaw county chapter, American Red Cross, is furnishing the individual Christmas trees for the wards in the Fort Jackson hospital.
 Col. E. C. vonTresckow is chairman and Marian Heyman is treasurer for this committee.
 Each year our chapter takes some special work for Christmas entertainment for the Veterans
