

Rubber Coating Is Impervious To The Elements

A mineral rubber coating that is impervious to heat, cold, water, oxygen, nitrogen and acids is now being handled by the Camden Lumber Company.

It is claimed for Elaterite that no other material in the world has ever equalled its amazing protective character. This hydrocarbon is rare and is found in quantities only in the state of Utah where outside of the mines controlled by the company manufacturing Elaterite there is but a limited amount of workable ore known.

Smith Returns From Training Meet In Oconee

L. E. Smith, forestry ranger for Kershaw county, attended a statewide training meeting held at Oconee State Park Sept. 8-16 at which practical training in various phases of forestry was given to county rangers and district personnel.

Subjects discussed included the use of radio in reporting fires by towermen to rangers, timber management, fire plans, public relations, etc.

State Senator Shepard Nash of Sumter and M. S. Boykin, business man of Sumter, addressed the group, both stressing the importance of conservation of all natural resources in the state.

Those attending from the Camden forestry service district besides Mr. Smith were Rangers A. A. Plyler, Lancaster county; W. M. Smith, Chesterfield county; E. B. Stuckey, Lee county; T. W. Cooper, Richland county; L. G. Cabbage, Sumter county; District Forester A. A. Lehocky, Assistant Foresters V. H. Cutler and W. J. Barton and District Ranger T. Roy Mims.

To supplement the above mentioned training, there will be a District Training Meeting held for the above listed personnel on October 14.
