Next Sunday the third in the Camden-Aiken series will be played here. Game time is 3:30 o'clock with six 7½ minute chukkers to be played. In as much as it will probably be the last game of the 1948-49 polo season, a big turnout of fans is looked for. In the real test of a town is its support of a losing team. Last year florence supported its tail-end team in the Tri-State League well and this year the fans are about to holler their heads off supporting a team that is leading the league. Suppose the Florence fans had quit cold last year because their team was a losing one their team was a losing one — they'd be without baseball this year. It's a pity that all teams can't win or be right up in the running but, of course, they can't.

> The attendance all over the Palmetto League is reported to have been good thus far. Let's hope it keeps up and that the league will have a banner season.
