When I came to school six months ago, leaving friends and coming into a neighborhood of strangers, a repelling loneliness oppressed me for a short while, but I soon realized that in the hospitable home of Mr. J. O. Sanders I had found a very pleasant boarding place. Now I am loathe to bid adieu to the many friends, both old and young, with whom I have been associated during my stay here.

I can truly say that I have never been in a neighborhood where I was treated more kindly.

As I go to my home my thoughts will often revert to the many pleasant hours spent here and in my school-room among the bright, happy faces of my pupils.

64 GOOD DINNERS.

In 1900 Capt. Wash Hafford raised sixty-four turkeys to Christmas proportions, without losing one from hatching time, and this was his plan: Good care of the eggs was taken until all the hens were ready to set. Then a rail pen was built for their protection from dogs, and nests made in the corners and each hen given as many eggs as she could cover.

All were hatched at the same time. Each hen was mother of the entire hatch and every little turkey had four mothers. It was a big, happy family. When large enough to forage each hen was in command of a division. Whenever a hawk tried to get a meal the home pounced upon him and made him sorry for it. Once they were seen to fly 20 feet high to rescue one captive. A plenty of hens is necessary to sure raising, and it's bad policy to try to raise late broods.

WOODWARD-ROBERTS.

The bright and brave gathering from so many quarters that so filled the Barnwell Methodist Church on yesterday week gave living testimony that no young Barnwell people have ever been more widely honored and more truly beloved than Mr. E. C. Roberts Jr. and Miss Lula Mae Woodward, and if good will and wishes can avail all their future years will be as happy as perfect as the fair, sweet spring evening when, with holy ceremony, their lives were joined in the union that only the last reaper can sever.

The church was decorated elaborately with exquisite hot-house plants and trailing ivy.

The wedding march was rendered by Misses Jennie Lou Bates and Sophie Bonham Aldrich.

The ushers were: Messrs A. M. Kennedy, Charlie Brown, Dr. J. H. Roberts, C. C. Callif, Dr. T. F. Hogg, David Hair.

The attendants entered the church in the following order: Mr. J. E. Kennedy, Miss Rosa Johns, G. W. Manville, Miss Susie Ruth, R. A. Deason, Miss Della Patrick, Mr. A. D. Pate, Miss Mae Woodward.

Mr. W. J. Lemon, Miss Daisy McNab.

The groom, with Mr. I. S. Riley best man, entered from side door, meeting the bride on the arm of her brother, Mr. J. H. Woodward, at the altar, where the beautiful ceremony uniting two beautiful lives was impressively performed by Rev. R. S. Enoch, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Dr. A. C. Sherman of Waterboro was Dame of Honor, elegantly attired in White Liberty silk, bearing a bouquet of geraniums.

Miss Kate Woodward, sister of the bride, was Maid of Honor, wearing a lovely dress of white silk Mull, carrying a bouquet of La France roses.

The bride was handsomely gowned in White Duchesse Satin, entraine, with White Liberty silk trimmings, and wore a long bridal veil. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies and maiden hair ferns.

The bride's maids wore dainty costumes of white organdy, White Liberty satin sashes, and carried bouquets of white roses.

The groom and groomsmen wore conventional black.

The reception following at the home of Capt. J. W. Woodward was very largely attended and very greatly enjoyed by all the happy multitude gathered beneath that hospitable roof tree.

The presents were very numerous, very costly and very beautiful.

BLACKVILLE NEWS.

Misses Elia Bonner and Elizabeth Dunbar of Eileon are visiting Dr. L. E. Bonner's family.

Major Izlar and Miss Lula Lee are at home again.

Mr. W. M. Fisher has accepted a position with merchant John O'Gorman in Aiken.

Mr. C. E. Fishburne has resigned his railroad agency, and Mr. J. E. Boland, his assistant, takes his place. Mr. Fishburne goes into mercantile business.

Mr. J. D. Whittle has sold the remainder of his stock cattle, 114 head, to Echnoon people for a good profit.

Mr. I. F. Still has set out 19 acres in tobacco.

Prof. G. T. Wilkinson, former principal of the Blackville Graded School spent Sunday and Monday in town.

Mrs. Peterson of Aiken is visiting her father's family.

Mr. Joseph Beck of Charleston died on Thursday afternoon at the home of his brother-in-law, Capt. P. W. Farrell, in Blackville, in the 66th year of his life. Several months ago he came to Blackville to recuperate from a severe illness, but loving care, genial climate and the skill of the physicians could not stay the messenger.

During the winter, when in the States he served with distinguished gallantry in the Washington Artillery. His immediate surviving family consists of his widow, who was Miss Elia R. Kush, and one son. His body was laid to rest on Friday morning in the Blackville Cemetery.

Mr. W. C. Mathews died of heart affection at his home near Elko on the 9th inst. His health had not been robust for some time, yet the sad end came with sudden crushing force, before his loved ones had realized that his life work was completed. Not a loss to family and friends, but to all that knew him his death is a distinct loss, for he was a good man in every regard. His life was free from fault, useful, unselfish and governed and guided by high Christian principles. His will long be cherished and his pure, strong, straight example in church, business and social life will long help others to higher endeavor. He was a consistent member of the Baptist Church.

LONG BRANCH PHILOSOPHY.

We visited Barnwell the other day and found all the Court House officers fat and full, full of accommodation and smiles almost equal to election day. The merchants said it seemed like Sunday, but their doors were still open, all waiting patiently for a nickel to drop in. Everybody seemed to be in fine humor, even the bank officials, chief of police and all except the poor unfortunate farmer, or "hayseed" as he has been termed. Who seemed very much "down in the mouth" on account of the prospect of a failure in small grain. Some smart Aleck says in the paper that it is the grain house. Now, we are obliged to say that we have been familiar with the name ever since we have been big enough to have hair on our heads, from the time we fought with both hands in the time of the Confederate war, the pecan that causes the lack of a lousy calf to live all the winter and die in the spring, then the horse louse and the kind that infests the cabbage and other vegetables; but this is the first louse we ever saw with wings. He resembles the house fly but is not as well shaped nor as good looking, and so long as smart town people, editors and others have "caught on," saying that the pest is a louse, we not knowing any better, are perfectly willing to call it a louse, too. The writers can give us no remedy for the present distress but advising us what to do in the future is a reminder of the fellow who cut the rope of the balloon containing his mother in law, hoping to meet her in the sweet by and bye.

We had our share of April fools, but some church people had to tell some of Sam Jones' white lies in order to carry their points.

But then we violated the rule by calling our fellowman a fool.

BEYOND ALL COMPARISON.

One of the many factors contributing to the remarkably rapid and solid growth of St. Louis is the marvelous development of the Southwest and other territories tributary to that city in all lines of travel. In 1884 there will be held the greatest World's Fair in the world. The presidential campaign will also take place. To keep informed with the whole world you should subscribe for the paper for that year of news-papers. It is indispensable to the farmer, merchant or professional man. Its telegraphic and cable service exceeds that of any other paper. It prints the news fully, not in imaginative occurrences, but in domestic and worldwide facts. It is democratic in politics, but distinctly a national newspaper and family journal. The subscription price of $1.00 gives you two papers each week, 100 papers a year.
