LARGEST COUNTY CIRCULATION.

THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1904.

THE BATTLE OF THE BALLOTS.

The meeting at Beaufort on Tuesday closed the canvass of the candidates for Congress in the Second District.

Every county has been visited by the speechmakers and through the newspapers and mails practically all the Democratic voters of the District have been enlightened as to the lives and labors, accomplished facts and promised services of the four candidates. The campaign has been conducted on a clean high plane, and so far the campaign liar has been but little in evidence.

On Saturday next the case goes to the jury, the people, whose decision is unappealable. Almost certainly a second primary will be required to decide between the two first favorites, and that will end the contest.

In this election every voter is a juror and it is as much a matter of conscience and duty for each to cast his ballot for the best man in his judgment as it is for the juror to decide in the court house according to the law and the facts.

People are judged by their officials—public servants. The new congressman whoever he may be will be accepted by the United States as the type and representative of the citizenship of the Second District. In the employment of public as well as private servants character and ability should be both considered, and if in doubt as to one or two or three of all the contestants choose the one that you would most trust in your own affairs, the one that you would prefer that a younger brother, son or grandson should take as his model, his exemplar in his future life.

Vote upon your own judgment and as influenced by your own conscience, and intelligence and that is all the duty of the individual citizen.

Don't lend a listening ear to the tale of the campaign liar, should he tempt you, but decide upon the facts and the evidence as becomes a true, brave man.

JAMES O. PATTERSON, twice Probate Judge, thrice Representative, is worthy to go higher and be our Congressman. If elected he will be the same good, true, faithful man in the capitol he has been in the field, the office, every day of his life. Let us give him a heart-warming vote on next Saturday.

Pure Politics.

We find the following in an exchange:

The late General John B. Gordon and Governor Chandler of Georgia were together in a hotel in Atlanta once when Governor Chandler asked the General if he had ever known of a witty dandy, "Yes," said the general; "one." When General Robert E. Lee was fighting Grant in the last days an old dandy besieged headquarters with requests to see the general. He was turned away a dozen times. But one day he succeeded in reaching the guard immediately in front of General Lee's tent, and almost got into the tent itself before he was stopped. The altercation which followed was overheard by General Lee, who called out: "Let that man come in!" Then into the tent came the fellow, a rawboned, slambling, gray-headed, gaunt old dandy, who scraped the ground with his foot and kept turning his hat around nervously in his hand.

"Well, where do you belong?" demanded General Lee. "I belong to your company, general," returned the dandy.

"No, you don't declared the general, sharply. Everybody in my company has been shot. How is it that you haven't been?"

"The dandy scratched his head. Then from his twisted mouth came a confidential whisper, "Well you see, general, it's this way. I ain't been shot, 'cause when dey's a fight goin' on I always stays with the g'n'rals."

HOW HYOMEL HELPS THE HEALTH.

Kills the Germs of Grip, Catarrh and Colds. "Costs Nothing If It Fails," says J. C. Crech.

Now that Hyomel can be obtained in nearly every town and city in the country, it is possible to buy from druggists a health giving climate, to be carried in the purse or pocket. By breathing it a few minutes four times a day you can cure grip, coughs, colds and even the worst and most chronic cases of catarrh.

J. C. Crech has seen so many remarkable cures made by the Hyomel treatment, that he sells it with the positive agreement to return the money if it fails to cure.

A complete outfit costs but $1, and consists of the pocket Inhaler, medicine dropper and sufficient Hyomel to last several weeks.

It effects a cure in the worst catarrhal troubles and if breathed at the commencement of a cold or the grip, will check it quickly and prevent sickness. Extra bottles of Hyomel can be obtained for 50c.

When breathed through the Inhaler, the germ-killing and health-giving Hyomel goes to the most remote cells of the throat and lungs, killing all the catarrhal germs, soothing the irritated mucous membrane and vitalizing the blood with ozone.

At this season of the year every one should have a Hyomel outfit to prevent and cure catarrhal troubles, and ward off attacks of grip, pneumonia and similar germ diseases.

WHAT THE EDITORS SAY:

Barnwell, S. C., April 20th, 1904. I respectfully announce myself a candidate for reelection to the office of Sheriff, subject to the rules and regulations of the Democratic Primary Election, pledging myself to abide by the result and support the nominees of the party.

Editor THE PEOPLE: "Whomsoever hears of the beneficial effects and high moral results of the Prohibitory Law in Maine, and what he hears after becoming conversant with the working of that law, recall a favorable saying of the late Col. Hamlin Brown, of your town: 'Far off cattle have long horns'—for he finds that the beautiful pictures of moral, social and material progress wrought by that law are purely imaginary, and his own knowledge, that the man who stands for the prohibition of the State liquor traffic is as uneducated as it is in any respect in New England; that is to say, among those who vote the Republican ticket for the purpose of any man voting the Democratic ticket is a liar, and the man who votes in Maine has ceased to vote the Democratic ticket."

August John, in the News & Courier, reporting the Barnwell meeting, said:

NOBLEST ROMAN OF THEM ALL.

"In his career as a State Senator he said he had never profited and he passed more laws that were of general good than any other Senator within the past fifteen years, and he favored an examination of his record. He left a particular pride in his work in connection with the road and school laws of the State. In connection with his work and his law, he said that he was an original prohibitionist. But after the dispensary law came that he has always done all that he could to perfect the law, secure an honest administration and keep the institution out of politics. During the entire regime of Mr. H. Crum he said he was satisfied the dispensary had been kept out of politics. It was wrong for the dispensary to meddle in politics and then he went on to talk about seeing dispensary folks at the meetings, and that if they were there for any purpose that they did not come as his friends. He said that he has largely through his work and his law, that the several counties now have the use of the profit derived from the sale of dispensary liquor. As to the rate question, he said that there was no objection to his talking about getting the necessary number of States to vote to repeal the constitutional amendments. And that he was waiting to talk about something. The members of Congress ought to devote themselves, he urged, to live and present day issues and not talk about repealing constitutional provisions that cannot be repealed. Mr. Mayfield is particularly strong and forcible and he makes as clear cut and able an argument upon the foreign policy of this country as can be heard. Mr. Mayfield has ideas and he knows how to express them on the matters of trade expansion and what it means to the South.

AN ENCHANTING PARADOX: He is an expansionist in any sense but he wants this country to act its cotton and its goods in China and the east, and he urges that to do this a strong navy is necessary. The larger the market the better the price of cotton he insists. Four and a half cents cotton he holds means thirty cents a day to the farmer for his labor; ten cents cotton means one dollar a day to the farmer for his work; and fifteen cents cotton means two dollars a day to the farmer, the cotton planter and the manufacturer, he holds, ought to go hand in hand in building larger fields for the sale of goods, and all of this he holds can be done with trade treaties and a strong navy to protect the agreements.

During his future public service he said he had always fought reticence and corruption in the dispensary and he had helped to revolutionize the dispensary board so as to get the Mr. Williams he wished to say that he had always been a member of the state board and that he had always been confirmed on the board. In closing his admirable speech Mr. Mayfield spoke of his personal efforts and sacrifices in securing his education, and how he had given up a good and a high school to go to school with college and a law school, and he had confidence that the people of Barnwell and now of Hamburg had shown in him, and if elected how anxious and ambitious he would be to make a faithful and capable representative.

ROBBED THE GRAVE. A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. There was no relief given me by any of the great doctors. I used Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to read them. Only 25 cents, guaranteed, at each Pharmacy, C. N. Burkhalter's Drug Store.
