Gov. Ansel is inducted into Office Once Again.

MAKES NEW REPORT

His Inaugural Speech Was Very Short and Contains Two Important Recommendations: That Drainage Commission be Created and Good Roads Problem be Tackled. In his second inaugural address delivered Wednesday afternoon, immediately after the oath of office had been administered to him, Governor Ansel said:

Gentlemen of the General Assembly and my fellow citizens: For the second time I am here to assume the duties and responsibilities of the highest State officer in the gift of the people. For a second time, by the votes of the people, I am exalted to the position of governor of this great commonwealth. I am truly grateful for this manifestation of confidence and esteem and I am fully sensible of my inability to discharge fully the duties incumbent upon me without your valuable and necessary assistance. I plead for a continuance of the sympathy and help that you have given me during the past two years.

I have endeavored to discharge the duties of my office with fidelity and an eye single to the best interests of all the people. That I have made mistakes goes without saying. but they have been of the head and not of the heart.

South Carolina has made much progress in moral, educational and material lines in the past few years and people are fully alive to the Chicago, Ill., Jan. 20 .- Blown to pieces by exploding powder, burned. to death by the resultant fire or drowned in the icy waters of Lake Michigan was the fate today of fiftythree workmen, who were working on a submarine tunnel at a wooden crib, a mile and a haif from shore. The crib was used in the construction of a tunnel connecting with the south side shore of the city at 73rd street. It is known that ninety-five workmen were employed in the crib and the connecting tunnel at the time of the explosion, which started the fire and blew or drove men into the water.

The work of the destroying elements was begun so unexpectedly and reaped its harvest of dead and injured with such swiftness that the contracting firm of George W. Jackson and the rescuers have been unable to arrive at anything like an accurate list of those who perished, or of others who escaped the fury of the flames or the icy waters of the lake.

great possibilities of even greater progress in the years to come and we see the signs of prosperity on every hand. We should be paying more attention, however, to the conservation of our many natural resources-our land, forests and watercourses. Much thought is now being given to this subject in all the States of the union, and we should not lag behind. There is now being utilized in this State one hundred and seventyfive thousand horse-power of waterpower to generate electricity and for other purposes. There is still about one hundred and seventy-five thousand horse-power of water-power undeveloped. My belief is that before many years this power, now going to waste, will be harnessed and used to help supply the needs of our growing industries.

Our farmers are producing a reasonable income and profit, and as the farmer is the only producer of those things which go to sustain life, every inducement should be given to the boy to "stay on the farm."

In the manufacture of cotton, we are second, in number of spindles. to but one State in the union. Had I time, I could give the out-put of the mills, the value of the product and the number of employees.

The educational institutions of the State are sending out each year young men and women well equipped for the battle of life and there is work for all of them to do. The country is calling for educated young men and women.

I desire, at this time, to refer to two matters, which I regard as very important to the future progress of the State and which are not men tioned in my annual message: The time has come in my judg ment when we should give some attention to the question of the drain age of our swamps and wet lands There are in this State over three million acres of these lands that car be reclaimed at a reasonable cost The question naturally arises, wha can we do? I suggest that you ap point a drainage commission whos duties it shall be to get up all the data as to where these lands ar located: the probable cost of reclaim ing and the best plan of paying for the drainage. Let this commission report to the general assembly and then intelligent action can be taken

Another important matter . that should engage our attention is the one of "good roads." Every good citizen of the State is interested in this vital question. Conventions and conferences are being held in many of the States to discuss it. The governors of most of the States are calling the attention of their legislatures to it. Some of the counties

The disaster apparently had its origin in a powder house of small dimensions, situated about 100 yards from the crib structure proper, but at the same time being a part of the general structure. The dull detonation, muffled as it was by the crunching of floating ice against the crib and the atmosphere laden with heavy fog, simply aroused the attention of the workmen, according to servivors, and it was not until the heat of the flames and the stifling smoak penetrated the socalled "living room" of the crib and the tunnel beneath the waters of the lake that the full import of the disaster dawned upon the workmen cut off from quick succor.

One of the workmen with a cooler head than his fellows, made his way through the smoak to a little inclosure in which was a telephone and gave the hurried message to the shore station:

"The crib is on fire. For God's sake send help at once, or we will be buried alive. The tug-."
