He will apply nitrate of soda around it and watch the result. It will, if a new variety, be valuable certainly as a fodder plant, and may also be a good grain bearer. About ten years ago Mr. Green had a similar stalk but gave it no special attention.

Free Antioxin.

Columbia, S. C., July 1.—The following appointments of State Antioxin Agents have been announced: J. M. Smith & Co., Williston, S. C., R. A. Deason & Co., Barnwell, S. C., Pearson Drug Co., Allendale, S. C.

These appointments were made under a law passed by the last Legislature authorizing the South Carolina State Board of Health to furnish free of charge antioxin in all cases of diphtheria occurring within the state. Diphtheria antioxin is now regarded as a necessity in every case of diphtheria. It is a high priced product and the State Health Department believes that by making it easily available and free, the death rate from diphtheria in the state will be much lower. The antioxin is furnished under contract with the National Vaccine and Antitoxin Institute of Washington, D. C. Over one hundred distributing agents will be appointed under the supervision of the State Board of Health. Any physician can obtain the antioxin without charge by applying to the nearest distributing agent.

GREAT CORN PROMISE.

Last winter J. Henry Caldwell a Spartansburg farmer, "broke up" two acres of land by planting dynamic cartridges two feet deep, four feet apart, and exploding them. He planted the ditch in corn of Gold Friday, 47 rows to the acre, 31 stalks to the row. On the 1st of July he applied a ton of fertilizer, seventeen bags of stable manure and a sack of soda. The corn averages ten feet high now, no stalk has less than two ears, some as many as five. Mr. Caldwell calculates that at 120 ears to the bushel he will make 224 bushels to the acre.

Stain Eradicators

Ink, fruit or vegetable stains on fingers are inexcusable, as they can be easily removed.

The quickest eradicator is a piece of pumice stone kept on the washstand. Wet before using and rub steadily, but not vigorously, or the skin may suffer.

For stains under nails and in places where pumice will not reach oxidize with a good quality of lemon juice. Rub gently, telling him for what purpose you want to use it, and have the bottle plainly labeled poison.

A stain remover that has proved successful with fruit and vegetable discolorations is made by adding four drops of carbolic acid to a quart of bottle of glycerine and water—Exchange.

An Evening of Delight.

From the Aiken Journal and Review of Friday we borrow the following: A delightful evening of the recitations of Miss Otto Larigee took place at the recent triumphant musical of St. Angela's Academy.

The recital was of more than ordinary interest. Phyllis Brilliant, Von Weber, C. M. Miss Rothrock played with ease feeling and technique besting the composer. Miss Rothrock's delicacy of touch was prominent in the "Evening Star" (Tannhauser) List. In the "Lullaby" Star's artistry is extolled as the highest and purest sentiment of the heart, enshrined within a sacred temple, remote from all selfish and earthly considerations; a self-forgetting, reverent devotion to be guarded and cherished as the religious ecstasy inspired by a trace of personal desire, its harmonies are wonderfully expressive, the very essence of perfect trust and ideal devotion, this is one of the ablest manifestations of Wagner's colossal genius.

1. Symphonies Op. 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

This music is the heart I love Long after it was heard no more."

To Barnwell County Doctors.

From the Spartansburg Daily Herald of the 30th ult. we copy the following for your reading:

A cure for pellagra that cures is what Dr. A. D. Cudd, one of the staff physicians of the Good Samaritan Hospital of this city, has recently discovered. The treatment begins with an operation. The appendix is delivered and the end clipped. Through the opening medicine is injected by means of a tube into the big intestine. The wound caused by the operation appears on the outside just as the wound resulting from an operation for appendicitis. After the operation the tube is inserted in the end of the appendix sack twice a day and the big entrail thoroughly flooded with the medicine that kills the germ which causes pellagra.

Some days ago Mrs. Pickett, of Whitney, was dismissed from the hospital, to all appearances cured of the dread disease of pellagra. The new treatment was given her, and her case was of a chronic nature, and of more than ten years standing! All symptoms of the disease were banished, and she went home apparently a well woman.

Mrs. Minnie Davis, of Paollet, is now taking the same treatment at the Good Samaritan Hospital. She has one of the most typical cases of pellagra. Yesterday afternoon she was seen by a reporter and he heard the story from her own lips. Mrs. Davis said that her hands were as black and crusty as if she had clipped them in tar and that this affliction was also beginning to appear on her neck when ten days ago she was taken the Good Samaritan Hospital. Her appetite was such that she cared for no food. Her tongue was coated and her bowel content was bad. The thick coat of crust which is now peeled off, and her hands and neck look fair. Her appetite is good and she eats whatever she likes.

WORK 24 HOURS A DAY.

The busiest little things ever made are Dr. King's New Life Pills. Every pill is a sugar-coated globe of health that changes weakness into strength, imparts energy, brightens the mental power, curing constipation, headache, chills, dyspepsia, malaria, rheumatism, neuralgia, R. A. Deason & Co's.

What is a young man to do when his attention has been arrested by a pretty girl? Why carry his case to court, of course.

The Old Dominion

University of Virginia, June 24, 1910.—The present session of the University of Virginia Summer School gives every indication that it will eclipse all previous records of the school. In point of attendance, this is certain. There are already one thousand students registered and it is estimated that a hundred or more have already taken the classes and will register in the next few days. If the usual rate of enrollment continues, it is probable that the total enrollment will exceed fifteen hundred students.

The Faculty of the Summer School comprises scholars and teachers from universities in all parts of the country, such as Columbia, Rutgers, Northwestern, Syracuse and many others; each member of the faculty is a specialist in his department. The list of professors contains over fifty names.

Of especial interest are the classes in Education, Domestic Science, Manual Training and Agriculture. The large attendance indicates a general movement throughout the South to emphasize more practical work and practical methods in educational systems. Some classes in Education comprise over a hundred students, while the enrollment of pupils in Domestic Science has increased in three sessions from 30 to 120. The number of students in Manual Training total thirty-two hundred.

In the matter of entertainments, the students of the Summer School will find themselves especially favored this season. Games illustrating English, German, Swedish, French and American Folk Games and Danes will be held every evening. The Summer School Quartette adds to the pleasure of the Summer School and general assembly. The Quartette is a quartet of organ, violin, piano and voice. The U. S. Marine Band and the Cornet Band of the University will probably be among the attractions at the University.

It is expected that the Fourth of July Festival will be even more elaborate than the one last year.

A Glorious 4th.

Though lowering, weeping clouds obscured the sky and thunder voices threatened a deluge, the day was not less a glorious one. The day was a day of many features that made Monday in Barnwell a day worthy to be marked with a white stone.

For here was gathered such a congregation of people as only the States of Virginia and Georgia can muster. From the red heights of Edgefield, from beyond the waters of the Savannah, from the foot hills of Aiken, from other neighboring counties, from all the lowlands and the associated Agricultural Clubs of the Savannah Valley, some patriarch, in the serene and yellow leaf but with hearts and heads as stout and true as when they plied on the gray hair of old age, came to this age great in their morning time, heirs to a great past, athletes for a great future, some boys in years but with many souls, farmers all, to attend the annual congress that shall plan now such policies for performance in the future as shall keep the Southland God's country, preserve the civilization that has grown through centuries of conflict and of endeavor and make the home the synonym of peace and purity and progress. It was a touching of elbows that thrilled visitors and home folks to a higher and better sacrifice and service than even the golden past has on record or in memory, an attrition of minds that made a light that shall appear as a beacon of light and guide to safer haven through the taxing problems that shall come borne on the tide of the coming years.

We are in Virginia to sing of the barbecue feast prepared by the Spartansburg Club for two thousand healthy appetites. Manufacturer of the true welcome speech of Garrill Sims, the graceful response of Judge Hammond, the wise diagnosis of Dr. J. E. Green President of the Association and no poet to tell in melodious verse the story of the day and the power far beyond and above worn description.
