LARGEST COUNTY CIRCULATION
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1910.

Three cases of genuine Asiatic cholera developed in the last few days among Italian immigrants arriving at New York on different steamships. They were not allowed to land among well folks.

On his railroad ride on Sunday from Atlanta to Corinth, Miss., Dr. Theodore Roosevelt made 50 speeches from the rear platform of his special car. He talked about right living in public service and private station and refused to discuss politics.

That Col. Roosevelt is willing to return to the White House as President is evidenced by this declaration made at Atlanta on Saturday: "By George, if I thought I could carry a single Southern State I would be willing to run for the Presidency."

The boll weevil must have heard of some of the wonderful and succulent crops of cotton in this State, for it has sped in this direction faster during the past summer than ever before. The advance guard is now in winter quarters about the middle of Alabama. In three short, fleeting years it will cross the Savannah river on its own wings. Perhaps the railroad may give it easier free passage to the Carolina fields.

Friday and Saturday must have appeared to the people of Northern Minnesota like the day of judgment. Forest fires burned over a total tract of 86 miles long by 35 broad. Several small towns were wiped off the map. Many people were burned to death in the wood lands and along the railroad tracks. Some found safety in the waters of the rivers. Estimates of the number of dead up to Monday night range from 75 to 150. It may reach much higher figures.

NEWS AND OPINIONS.

All ships and Yankee automobiles continue their average killings of reckless riskers.

A few scattered small pox cases are reported among isolated people in different sections of the State.

Once more the idea of starting a five white republican party in this State is being talked of. And talk will be a!

D. C. Trammell of Swartz, Ga. has grown this year an ear of corn 15 inches long, 12 ears measured 11 feet 2 1/4 inches in length.

Congressman A. F. Lewis of Lexington predicts that within two years steamboats will ply on the Lake Erie river between Orangeburg and Charleston.

The question, what shall we do with our ex-President has, at times, puzzled the American people. Just now the question is somewhat different, what will Col. Roosevelt do with us?

Six Columbia "social clubs" were raided by the police last week. Tax managers were found guilty of violating the dispensary law and fined, one forfeited his bond and the others were to be tried on Tuesday.

Bank Sherrard, colored, was hanged at Greenville on Friday, the first execution in that County in seven years. Sherrard shot and killed police officer Waldrop, who was trying to arrest a squad of colored gamblers.

Such wise and deliberate papers as the Newberry Observer and Anderson Mail are mildly censuring some of the Circuit Judges for their lateness in getting to the courts and their too great readiness to order adjournment sine die.

The lack out of 150,000 cotton bolls worked in this State last week is being ended on Monday by a compromise satisfactory to both sides. If foresight had been as good as hindsight it might have been prevented by compromise.

For the new legislature the commission appointed by Governor Anderson last winter under a legislative resolution has bought 200 acres in Richland County six miles north of Columbia on the Southern Railroad, the price being $25 per acre.

Some people are hard to satisfy. An Ohio concern is sending out artistic circulars extolling the excellence of its liquors and boasting that it has nearly a million steady customers. Yet it begs for more buyers with a fervor unknown in any other business.

A commission was issued by Secretary of State Mcowan last week to George R. Royster and D. W. Robinson as coproprietors of the Morning News, the new daily paper proposed to be started in Columbia January 1st, 1911. The capital stock is put at $50,000.

Territorial rains from Texas to Pennsylvania did immense damage last week in the over flow of streams and the washing of lands. At the same time forest fires in Western Canada destroyed millions of dollars worth of property. Thirty people were burned to death.

Mayor W. J. Gwynor of New York admits that he has not recovered from the bullet wound received some months ago at the hand of J. J. Gallagher, a discharged city employe. He has refused to be a candidate for Governor and has no desire or expectation to be the Democratic candidate for President in 1912.

Col. E. J. Watson, State Commissioner of Agriculture, will not accept the appointment offered him by the Federal government to go abroad to promote the trade of the United States in the far East. Certain complications have influenced the United States government to postpone this invasion of the Orient.

For several years the Virginia Carolina Chemical Company has had a practical monopoly of the profitable fertilizer trade in the South Atlantic States. Next year it is to have competition as the American Chemical Company will build large mills at Wilmington, Columbia and Savannah.

Hoke Smith the Watson could be carried only three of the 140 counties in Georgia a receiving about one sixth of the votes east.

"A BLESSING IN DISGUISE"

Has been the coming of the boll weevil in Louisiana. The farmers there have largely quit working for such a living and the cotton and have gone to raising corn, sorghum, sugarcane and more profitable business. Letters show a large increase in the amount of taxable property.

A GREAT FARMER.

Mr. J. W. Bush, who has been manager of the State Museum and is a farmer since early in Governor Tillman's first term has made a magnificent corn crop of 115 bushels on 100 acres of land that was poor soil and swampy when he took charge, nearly twenty years ago. Besides he is putting up enough stock to feed the live stock the spring work to that institution. All further he has got his hog, of which half will be killed this winter.

A GOOD MAN GOES.

Mr. Augustus M. Bradford died at his home at Watson on Monday morning. He had been ill all his life with heart trouble for a long while and about two weeks ago suffered a stroke of paralysis.

RHYMES FOR WEDDINGS.

Marry when the year is now,
Always loving, kind and true.
When February birds do mate,
You may wed, nor dread your fate.
If you wed when March winds blow,
Joy and sorrow both you'll know.
Marry in April when you can,
Joy for maiden and for man.
Marry in the month of May,
You will surely rue the day.
Marry when the roses blow,
Over land and sea you'll go.
They who in July do wed,
Must labor always for their bread.
Whoever wed in August be,
Many a change they are sure to see.
Marry in September's shine,
Your living will be rich and fine.
If in October do you marry,
Love will come, but riches vary.
If you wed in thick November,
Old joy will come, remember.
When December snows fall fast,
Marry and true love will last.
