Following are the criminal cases to be tried at the Court of General Sessions which convenes here on Monday:

6 murder cases, 3 of which are out on bail.

2 housebreaking and larceny charges for assault and battery with intent to kill.

About 10 for violation of the dispensary law.

The roster of civil cases is a very full one.

W. P. Houseley, "The Dutch weather prophet" of Columbia predicts good cross seasons this year. According to the old saying "a pint of March dries is equal to a bushel of grain at harvest time." The spring will be better than that of last year, when frost came as late as May 30th. The old rain periods of this year will be about March 15, April 11, May 11, June 7, August 1 and 29, September 27, October 23. Smaller periods are predicted for April 1, 28, May 26, June 23, July 20, August 17, September 13, October 10.

The next summer will be a moderately warm one.

"St. Elmo" is especially interesting to Southerners for several reasons. First, its author, Augusta Evans, was a Southern woman, and secondly, it tells the most realistic and absorbing story of Southern life that has ever been conceived.

Neil Twomey, who made the dramatic tirade which appears in Barnwell on Saturday night, March 18, at the Opera House, has preserved the delicate touches of the author's and presents all the familiar types of Southern character in their true style.

This is the same production of "St. Elmo" that was seen last season, and which drew capacity houses in every city of the South.

It was indeed a great and good pleasure to look upon on Sunday the fine face of Dr. Henry S. Hartzog and to hear the genuinely eloquent voice so gentle and winning in friendly conversation as it is inspiring in platform oration. He was one of the most forceful and enlightening of the many distinguished speakers who addressed the Southern Commercial Congress at Atlanta last week, and took advantage of the opportunity to visit again the land of his first love and the homes of the kindred that hold him in such loving and unforgetting remembrance. Beyond the Father of Floods in his Western home he adds lustre to the high standing of his mother State.

Another of the foremost and most gifted of the younger executives of that new force in Southern progress was Dr. Clarence J. Owens of Washington, D. C., formerly of Wilston, Constant and faithful in his allegiance to the best and most sacred traditions of the Old South and in closest touch with its new awakening Dr. Owens is becoming from the Potomac to the Rio Grande a leader of thought and a guide of action and onward march.

Mr. B. Margulsky has good news for Blackville bargains business in today's issue.

Mr. P. A. Hodges of Columbia and Bennettville solicits real estate business in this week's paper.

There has been no talk so far of the reduction of cotton acreage this year outside of boll weevil territory.

MARRIAGES.

Married at the residence of Rev. J. M. Sanders, the officiating minister, March 17, 1911, Mr. Oswald Hiers to Mrs. Marie Hall of Ober.

March 18, 1911, Mr. Lawton Still to Miss Savannah Craft, all of Georges Creek.

MAJOR JOHNSON HAGOOD.

One of the latest and best deserved promotions in the government military service was that of Capt. Johnson Hagood, of the rank of Major. His record has been a brilliant one. He is a son of the late Col. H. Hagood, whose heroic deeds are well known to all.

MISS MADINE SMITH.

Miss Madine Smith, who was a teaching school at the Citizens in Sumter, was stricken very suddenly with apoplexy and was carried to Monday, February 27. She died very peacefully after the operation, and passed away Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Her body was brought to her home on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. M. Jones. There was a large attendance, and the floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Miss Smith was a daughter of Dr. E. C. Smith and was in the bloom of young womanhood, being only about eighteen years of age. Her grief-stricken parents and many devoted relatives and friends mourn that this beautiful young life, so full of promise, has closed. Talented and possessed of many lovely and generous traits, to know her was to love her.

In Nadine Smith we see the type of a woman who is of value to any community, and the fragrance of her pure life will linger with us and mingle with the sweet perfume of charity's dust flowers.

GOING TO GEORGIA.

A special in the Southern Cultivator from Americus, Ga., says:

The South Carolina "colony" in Sumter county was further increased the past week by the arrival of other thirty farmers from that state to purchase land and homes near Americus.

P. M. Jackson, mayor of Sumter, S. C., has shown interest in the settlement of these farmers, besides paying $1,000 for the handsome residence of the late Colonel S. H. Hawkins, which Mr. Jackson has now acquired as a home.
