HERE AND HEREBOUTS.
Next year the South Carolina Methodist Conference will meet at Anderson.

The gunners had glorious weather and satisfactory success on Thanksgiving Day.

The census bureau will issue another glomer's report tomorrow, and the government crop estimate will be given out on Monday.

Good progress in the trial of Sessions case has been made in this second week of the term, but there are cases enough on the calendar to occupy all the week.

Another authority says that Jerry Moore made this year on his acre crop patch 178 bushels, a falling off of 50 bushels and 3 pecks from his last year's crop on the same land.

The People had among Monday's pleasant experiences gratifying surprise calls from Messrs W. H. Rountree of North Augusta and Thomas Stansell of Greenville, both formerly of Williston.

A painful but not serious attack of rheumatism required Judge Robert Aldrich to spend a few days in the Florence infirmary the first of last week. His home friends sincerely sympathize with him.

A Meridian, Miss., firm in a case involving 104 bales of cotton will test before the Inter-State Commerce Commission the validity of the South Carolina Acts prohibiting the importation of cotton from States having the boll weevil.

The Home Bank has just received for their customers and friends a 1912 Confederate Memorial calendar. The calendar is of special interest to this community and county, as among the great generals of the Confederacy that are pictured thereon is Gen. Johnson Hagood.

The insurance agents have promptly paid Rev. Dr. Pitts damages to the amount of $250 on his furniture injured a couple of weeks ago in the accidental fire at the Blackville Baptist Church property. The local fire department made a splendid and successful fight against the fire fiend.

Married in the Methodist Church, Denmark, by Rev. D. D. Danzler, on the 29th ult., Miss Hattie Ranell, daughter of Mr. W. H. Wroton, and Dr. M. Robert Willis, two very popular and excellent young people who have the best congratulations of a multitude of loving friends.

Mr. S. M. Pennell of the Charleston News and Courier was in town on Saturday and gave us the pleasure of an exceedingly enjoyable half hour call. He is a Clemson graduate who is beginning a service to the State that, we hope, bring him a life success worthy of the high records of his honored ancestry.

Many cotton fields remain white until the harvest and gathering on cold days is not popular. Pickers who worked diligently early in the season are said to be saving their money and taking life easily. No doubt quite a lot of cotton will never be needed. It will, however, make a good fertilizer for corn next year.

After three days of untiring activity the Court of General Sessions was adjourned on Wednesday afternoon until Monday morning that Thanksgiving Day might be happily enjoyed at home by all who had been in attendance. Judge Shipp went down to Ashpoco for a day's deer hunt, returning from his home at Florence on Monday.

From a late copy of the Mobile Register we learn that Vice-President S. Kline Brown of the American Tie and Timber Company of New York city has found the business under his general management increasing so rapidly that it has become necessary to open a branch office in Mobile. This young captain of industry is the second son of the late Col. Mike Brown and is holding his own and growing larger in the business life of the world's largest American business metropolis.

BURNED TO DEATH.
A heart rending accident occurred on Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Lutz in Red Oak township. Their little daughter, a sweet and beautiful child of only three happy summers, walked so near the fire that the cruel flames caught her clothing and burned the tender body so that after hours of suffering death relieved the painful agony. She was the joy of her loving parents in life, now she is their treasure forever safe in the guardian care of Him who said, "Suffer little children to come unto Me and forbid them not for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." In God's paradise she lives an angel forever.

SALE DAY.
Monday was somewhat like an old fashioned sale day in the number of people brought here—a sort of county reunion time. While there was no exciting boasting of prosperity or lavish expenditure of money there was on almost every face pictured the resolution to try again another year, to choose new methods for carrying out old principles of soundness that will surely fruit in happiness. Real estate brought prices testifying to faith in the old and still solid sense confidence, not boomerang speculation. Live stock transactions were limited. A car load of Kentucky horses was sold at auction for good prices to buyers from different quarters, some from beyond the Edisto.

THE GENERAL SESSIONS.
The Grand Jury completed its work Wednesday afternoon. Those holding over for the coming year are: J. W. Goode, J. G. Moody, M. S. Hair, R. A. Bates, Barlow, Barlow, S. Black. The following True Bills have been found since our last week's report:
H. S. Head, violation of the dispensary law.
W. E. Carter and Keziah Myers, fornication before Washington, assault and battery with intent to kill.
Warren Weatherbee, violation of the dispensary law.
Abraham Moore, violation of the dispensary law.
J. S. Black and Johnson Black Sr., riding an officer.
Allen Eubanks, buying seed cotton without license.
James Mosley, murder.
Caroline Phoenix, violation of the dispensary law.
The following cases have been disposed of:
Raymond Robinson, violation of the dispensary law, guilty on first count; sentenced to pay a fine of $140 or serve four months at hard labor on the chain gang or in the penitentiary.
Wesley Myers, murder, not guilty.
Esther Pickett, murder, not guilty.
James Bruton, assault and battery with intent to kill, pleaded guilty; $40 fine or 60 days at hard labor on the chain gang or in the penitentiary.
Ben Harley pleaded guilty to violating the dispensary law; $100 fine or 2 months at hard labor on the chain gang or in the penitentiary.
James Odum also pleaded guilty to violating the dispensary law and was given the same sentence as Harley.
The Court dismissed the appeal of John McLemore.

PRESENTMENT OF GRAND JURY
To his Honor, the Presiding Judge: We have passed upon all bills handed up by the Solicitor and beg to make the following report:
The committee appointed from this body to examine books of the county have been unable to complete their work and committee continues to report at March term of Court.
We recommend that in future all jurors and witnesses be required to be present when Court convenes, thereby saving the county considerable money and time.
We are glad to notice that former recommendations of this body have been complied with.
Thanking his Honor and officers of this Honorable Court for courteous extended
Respectfully submitted,
F. T. Merritt,
Foreman.

CRIME IN CALIFORNIA.
In Los Angeles, California, on October 1st, 1910, the printing house of The Times was blown up with dynamite and burned. Twenty-one persons employed on the paper lost their lives. On Christmas night last in the same city the Jewell Iron Works were burned.
For these crimes two brothers, James B. and John J. McNamara, were arrested in Indiana and carried back to California.
For about two months the court had been selecting a Jury. On Friday the trial occupied less than 15 minutes, both the above named brothers pleading guilty to the charges above stated. They were to be sentenced on Tuesday, James B. to life imprisonment, John J. to 14 years. A full account is given on first page.

Congress met on Monday. This is what is called the long session, as it could continue without recess or adjournment all next year, until the first Monday in December, 1912, when the short session begins, which cannot extend beyond March 4th, when a newly elected House of Representatives comes in.
As these long sessions always come in campaign years Senators and Representatives tire of Washington when midsummer heat arrives.

NOTICE OF FINAL DISCHARGE.
Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will on Wednesday December 27th, 1911, file with Hon. John E. Snelling, Judge of Probate for Barnwell County, her final return as Administrator of the estate of John Brown, deceased, and apply for Letters Final Discharge.

J. O. Patterson & Son,
November 21, 1911.

MR. LUNSFORD HARLEY.

On Saturday last at his home in Williston the last call came to another Confederate Veteran and his brave spirit crossed the river to rest in the eternal peace with the comrades gone before. He was the son of Dr. J. W. Harley, a distinguished physician of the old South, and inherited the courage and devotion to family and friends that so well distinguished his even life.
As a Confederate soldier he gave four years of service to his country, so brave and unflinching as to win the lasting confidence and affection of those with whom he stood on the battle line or bore the privations of army life during those years that so tried men's souls. Ill health resulting from the hardships of that service prevented his larger activity in later years, but added to his devotion to his family and his love for his friends. He passed through life making no enemies and winning many friends and giving wherever he could the sunshine of his heart to make better the lives with which he came in touch.
He is survived by his devoted wife, three sons and four daughters, who have in their bereavement the warmest sympathies of a host of friends.
His body rests in the village cemetery, while his memory shall live in the loving hearts of his wife and children and friends that so miss him from their lives.

MISS AUGUSTA C. HAGOOD.

On Thursday last, in the 69th year of age, at the residence of her nephew, Mr. Daniel H. Means, in Columbia, where she had her home since she married Miss Augusta C. Hagood departed this life, and on that fair morning there was Thanksgiving among the spirits of her loved ones gone before as her beautiful soul passed through the gates of pearl to find again and forever the happiness of her home. No touch of pain or sting of sorrow and parting in the Father's everlasting keeping.
Her parents were the late Dr. James O. Hagood and Mrs. Indiana Allen Hagood, names honored and loved in the best years of the mother State. Of her brothers, F. O. Hagood, one of the best and greatest Carolinians of all the State's greatest centuries, Col. James R. Hagood, the gallant boy Colonel of the Confederacy, and Col. Lee Hagood of well loved memory have passed over the last river, as have her four sisters, Mrs. J. H. Hagood of Barnwell, Mrs. Caroline Dunwoody of Walterboro, Mrs. Alice Means of Fair and Mrs. Sarah Anne Oakman of Barnwell.
The memories of her life, so beautiful in its every period from childhood to the first moment, so tender and gentle in its service humanity, will be cherished until God gives them reunion again in the city of His saints by her only surviving brother, Mr. Gordon A. Hagood, and her nephews and nieces, Col. Butler and Johnson Hagood, Dr. D. H. and J. H. Means, Mr. Lee Hagood, Mrs. C. A. Savage, and Mrs. Dozier Lee.

CAPT. L. F. DICKS.

After a long illness commencing in February of last year, Capt. Leonard Frank Dicks of Edisto departed this life on Sunday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Homer C. Cassels in Augusta, aged 66 years.
He was a native of Barnwell District, being the eldest son of Capt James Dicks and Mrs. Sarah Drummond Dicks. When of sufficient age he laid down his school books in the Land Academy and entered the Confederate army, serving first in artillery on James Island and afterward in the Third, Colonel's Regiment of Cavalry until the end of the conflict. He acted with conspicuous gallantry at the battle of Honey Hill and in the famous charge during the closing days of the Confederacy's struggle for independence and the later restoration and redemption of the prostrate State—no son of the State was truer than he. He followed planting with signal success through all the years of peace and with the passing years grew larger in the love and confidence of all that knew the goodness of his true heart and the wisdom of his sound judgment.
He is survived by one brother, Mr. J. J. Dicks and two brothers and four sisters of his own blood, and a wife, Mrs. D. H. Dicks, his only daughter. His body was laid to rest in the Augusta cemetery on Monday after funeral services conducted by the Rev. Howard T. Cree. The pall bearers were: Dr. R. C. Brabham and A. R. Wallen and Messrs. Chas. T. Bailey, J. B. Bush, F. A. Thibault, E. L. Thibault and Mr. Black and Mr. He had never married but he had the love of a multitude of friends to brighten his life. Peace to you forever, good friend.

NOTICE.

The Barnwell County Farmers Union will have a called meeting on Friday before the third Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m. at the Home Bank. All Unions are requested to send in their delegates as we will have important business to attend to.
R. E. Woodward,
President.

A SENSIBLE TALK

Christmas is coming! So is cold weather! Now is the sensible time to begin thinking of what you are going to give Him or Her. Molair's is the sensible place to buy sensible goods at all seasons of the year, but now we are especially well fixed to supply all your wants, large or small.

Nothing could be better or more appropriate for the coming season than a nice suit or overcoat, a serviceable and stylish dress or coat suit, a pair of those "nifty," long-wearing shoes, a stove or a range than which there is no better made, chinaware, crockery, etc., etc.

Our space prevents a full enumeration of all the goods that we have for your inspection. A visit to our stores will convince you that nowhere else will a dollar do fuller duty.

E. F. MOLAIR

Bank the Proceeds.

WHEN you market your cotton you should bank the proceeds—open an account with our bank—instead of carrying the money in your pocket or keeping it in your house.

Money kept at home or in your pockets is subject to loss from fire or theft.
If you should get checks or drafts for cotton or anything else drawn on other banks, you do not have to present them in person to the bank on which drawn, to get them cashed. Bring or mail them to us and we will collect the money and place it to your credit on our books subject to check.

Come and see us or write us.
