The head office of the Bank of Western Carolina at Aiken is publishing weekly advertisements embracing each letter of the alphabet and the letter "B" was devoted to the Barnwell branch. Being of local interest, it is reproduced elsewhere in this issue, as published in the Aiken Journal and Review of October 1st.

Mr. T. A. Church, of Blacksburg, called at the People office Monday morning to renew his subscription and that of his wife. He is a subscriber to The People for many years and has been a very loyal and generous contributor to the paper.

Alphabet of The Bank of Western Carolina

B Stands for Barnwell,
And Buckingham too:
They make a strong team,
And always pull through.

The people of Barnwell county have given a splendid support to the BANK OF WESTERN CAROLINA. Having lost in former years by trusting to weak banks, the great STRENGTH of this bank has appealed to them.

The Barnwell branch is now the largest branch of the Bank of Western Carolina.

Its Deposits amount to $234,292.45.

Reproduced from Aiken Journal and Review of Oct. 31.

Protection vs. Sentiment

Bank of Western Carolina	Protection
Total of the Nine Other	$841,500
Banks in Barnwell County	$183,500
Excess in favor Bank of W. C.	$458,000

It is a fact that the Bank of Western Carolina has a larger capital and its surplus than all the other banks in Barnwell County as a whole.
