Quite a number of The People's good friends have shown their appreciation of our efforts to give them a readable newspaper by renewing their subscriptions during the past week. A list of these good friends will be published from week to week. Those who have paid since the last issue of The People are as follows:

Six Weeks More of Winter.

Friday of last week was "ground hog day" and judging from the cold weather that has swept over this section since that date there is no doubt whatever that the little animal saw his shadow and returned to his lair for another six weeks' nap, indicating that Spring is that far in the future. According to the old tradition, the ground hog comes out on that day and if the weather is fair, he becomes frightened and returns to his lair for six weeks; if the weather is cloudy and he does not see his shadow it is a sign that winter is over. There was enough sunshine last Friday to give him quite a fright and winter returned forthwith.

ASH WEDNESDAY FALLS ON FEB. 14TH THIS YEAR

Lent Is Generally Associated With Beginning of Spring.

Ash Wednesday, when most gardeners begin their operations, falls on February 14th this year. It marks the beginning of the Lenten season and carries the reminder that the best and worst of winter has passed and springtime approaches. Religiously considered, Ash Wednesday takes its name from the ceremonial use of ashes as a symbol of penitence, which is traced back to the penance of sackcloth and ashes spoken of by the Old Testament prophets.

By common acceptance among all Christian Communions, the forty-day period of Lent is now observed, and not without reason since "forty" is a scriptural number. For forty years, for illustration, the children of Israel were under discipline in the Wilderness; Moses fasted forty days on the Mount. Elijah was forty days in the Wilderness. For forty days Christ fasted before entering upon his public ministry. Beginning with Ash Wednesday the Lenten Season really covers a period of 46 days, but as Sunday has always been regarded as a Feast, these six Sundays are not counted as belonging to the Fast.

The word Lent is derived from the old Anglo-Saxon word Lencten, meaning Spring, and, as the fast falls in the early part of the year, by common usage Lent is now generally associated with the beginning of Spring, which comes to full flower with the Easter Festival of the Resurrection and the reawakening of life. The first mention of Lent is found in a Canon of the Council of Nicea, 325 A. D., and in the Christian Church is known as the period of fasting preparatory to this Easter Festival.

As with all these ancient festivals many quaint and curious customs attaching to Lent have been handed down through the ages. In medieval times meat, eggs and milk were forbidden in Lent, not only by ecclesiastical but by statute law. It is from this prohibition of the eating of eggs that the Easter egg custom of modern times grew. The chief Lenten food from the earliest days was fish and in the England of Edward III herring pies were so great a delicacy that charters granted to seaports often stipulated that the town should send so many herrings or other fish to the King during the Lenten Season. The strictest abstinence was enforced, and to such an extent that during the Siege of Orleans in 1429 the besieging army was reduced to starvation through lack of Lenten food, though in full possession of meat and other supplies. A writer in the Encyclopedia Britannica states that the Battle of the Herrings, February, 1429, was fought to cover the march of the convoy of Lenten food to the British Army before the beleaguered city.

This strict observance of Lent has gradually been softened, though it continued to be inculcated by such earnest Churchmen as William Law and John Wesley; and the custom of women wearing mourning in Lent, which had been followed by Queen Elizabeth and her Court, survived well into the 19th century. Here, in America, in the Episcopal and Lutheran Churches, as well as in the Roman Catholic Church, while conformation to the rules laid down for fasting is urged, a tolerant policy is observed and the devout are neither required nor expected to engage in such fasting as might be deleterious to health.

PEOPLE SUBSCRIBERS TO GET GARDEN SEED

Government to Send Bag at Request of Congressman Byrnes.

In about two weeks time The People will have a bag of free garden seed to distribute among the people of Barnwell County, according to a letter received Monday morning from Congressman James F. Byrnes. There will be no free seed next year, as Congress failed to appropriate any money for this purpose. When the seed are received at this office notice will be given in The People and those desiring a free package may obtain same by calling in person or sending a written request. Mr. Byrnes' letter is as follows:

"I am requesting the Department of Agriculture to forward you a bag of garden seed in order that you may give them to those people of the county who desire them, and will call at your office for them. The seed should reach you within the course of about two weeks, but in case they are not received by that time, I wish you would advise me. As you doubtless noticed, there will be no Congressional seed next year, as the Congress failed to appropriate money for the purchase and distribution of such seed. I will appreciate your giving these seed to those who may call for them."

DAN HALFORD, FORMERLY OF BARNWELL, IS DEAD

Was Beloved by All Who Knew His Great Character, Says Chronicle.

The many Barnwell friends of Mr. Daniel G. Halford, formerly of this city but for many years a resident of Augusta, were grieved Thursday to learn of his death, which occurred the previous afternoon at his home there. The Augusta Chronicle, in its issue of Feb. 1st, published the following account of his death:

The death of Daniel Garrison Halford, which occurred at his home on Washington Road yesterday afternoon, has been heard with much sorrow here. He has been ill since early in December, though for several years he had not been strong, spending most of the time in Asheville. Until recently he held a position with one of the government hospitals for soldiers near Asheville, doing welfare work with the men. He was to have engaged in the same work here in the Lenwood Hospital had his health permitted.

"Dan" as he was known by his wide circle of friends, or "Uncle Dan" as many of the small boys used to call him while he was with the Y. M. C. A., was born at Barnwell, S. C., August 4, 1883. He came to Augusta and was associated with his brother in the furniture business until he became Boy's Work Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., which position he held for several years.

Few men were so splendidly fitted for the task of working with boys. They all loved him, and he had a fine influence for good over them.

Splendid Character.
His genial and sunny temperament, his faculty for making and keeping friends, his straightforward Christian faith and life, his patience and kindness with all marked him as a man of unusual character. His work with the Y. M. C. A. exemplified its threefold principles of ministering to the body, mind and spirit. He was athletic, intelligent, and good. He engaged in the sports with the boys, always leading them to be manly and fair. He stimulated the ambition of the young people with whom he worked, and he was an exemplary Christian. Augusta has lost a life of great value.

Mr. Halford was married in April 1912 to Miss Hannah Morton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Morton. Two daughters, Agnes and Edith, and his wife survive him; also his brother W. C. Halford.

The funeral service will take place this afternoon from the residence on Washington Road at four o'clock Rev. M. M. MacPerrin, pastor of the Greene Street Presbyterian Church, officiating. The pall bearers will be Messrs. G. R. Coffin, W. W. Zealey, W. C. Lyeth, R. G. Maxwell and Thos. Y. Rabb. The interment will take place in Westover Cemetery.

Long Branch Philosophy

A few days before the execution in Columbia, which took place on Dec. 22nd 1922 we wrote Gov. Harvey and Supt. Sanders of the penitentiary asking for permits to see Jeffords executed the superintendent sent them on time one each for ourself and R. B. Kennedy and Fred L. Hair we left Barnwell at 3:15 and never found a hundred yards that we didn't get a bump, but we arrived very early in the morning and waited in the superintendent's office till the hour arrived for the execution of Jeffords when we were conducted into the Death House and witnessed the execution which we believe will do us for all time to come or at least we are not planning to go such distance to see the sight again.

While at the capital city we visited the headquarters of our old friend W. H. Jones he was absent but after looking around at his headquarters for school things we concluded that a little one-horse town like Columbia will soon be too small for him. Then we went over to see Lawyer Hammond and have concluded Jim is the cleverest and busiest and biggest hearted man in the city or anywhere else. He urged us to make our self at home and that he would be back directly which was true but he reminded us of the Irish section foreman who had been urged to be short with his reports. A car ran off and he wrote to the head boss, "Off again on again, gone again. Finegan."

YOUNG WHITE MAN MUST FACE CHARGE OF MURDER

Sidney Sanders Charged With Death of Henry Sanders.

Henry Sanders, a young white man who lived several miles from Barnwell, died at an Augusta hospital Thursday of last week, and Sidney Sanders, a son of J. O. Sanders, of Olar, was arrested and lodged in the Barnwell County jail charged with his murder. It is alleged that the cause of the former's death was a blow on the side of the head, said to have been struck by Sidney Sanders a couple of weeks ago. The inquest was held at the Court House here Friday afternoon. Only one witness was examined, he testifying that, in company with several other young men, he attended a party at the Sidney Sanders' home on Thursday night, January 25th, up on the invitation of Mrs. Paul Sanders, the defendant's sister-in-law. Henry Sanders was also present, although according to the testimony of the witness he had not been invited. The witness alleged that several of the guests were drinking and that the trouble occurred when Herman Lee, Henry and Roscoe Sanders were leaving. Sidney Sanders having ordered them off the premises; that Sidney drew his pistol, and told Roscoe Sanders he would kill him if he didn't leave and that a young lady stepped between the two men to keep Sidney from shooting Roscoe. Words were passed between Henry and Sidney Sanders, the witness stated, and the latter hit Henry with his fist, drew his pistol and struck him with that, knocking him to the ground, and then shot at him one time. He further testified that Paul Sanders drew a pistol and threatened to kill Mack Creech if the latter approached Sidney. He knew nothing, he said, of any difficulty that occurred inside of the house.

The defendant claims that he was on friendly terms with the young men involved in the unfortunate difficulty, and that while it was apparent that they were drinking, he told them they were welcome to stay at the party as long as they behaved themselves; that during the evening Roscoe Sanders became noisy and that the defendant asked him to behave himself "if you are going to stay here"; that the latter stated he would leave when he got ready and that the defendant couldn't put him out, whereupon the defendant slapped his face and pushed him out of the house, following him into the yard. Mrs. Paul Sanders and another young lady tried to act as peacemakers. It is claimed that Roscoe Sanders had an open knife in his hand, and that Henry Sanders, telling him that he would attend to Sidney, ran to the back of an automobile standing in the yard, secured a blunt instrument from the tool box and attempted to strike the defendant on the head, whereupon the latter drew his pistol, warned off the blow with one hand and with the other struck Henry Sanders over the head with the pistol; that upon being struck the latter dropped the blunt instrument, fell to the ground and immediately got up again, saying that he didn't think he was hurt; that he walked to the automobile, got in and drove away with his friends. The defendant disavows any desire or intention to kill him, stating that he could have shot him with his pistol had he so desired, and denies that he shot at him. It is alleged that the blunt instrument was a spark plug wrench. Affidavits of several witnesses substantiate the claims of the defendant in his motion for bail.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was that "Henry Sanders came to his death from a blow on the head struck by Sidney Sanders." Harley & Blatt have been retained to assist the prosecution of the case and Brown & Bush will defend Sidney Sanders.
