Thursday evening, April 17th, was the scene of a delightful social affair in Williston. The occasion was the reception tendered by the Juniors of the Williston High School to the Senior Class at the home of Mrs. A. M. Kennedy.

There were about forty guests. The girls looked lovely in their evening dresses. Various contests were engaged in during the first part of the evening. Clifford Cave won the prize in the contest. During this punch was served on the porch. After traveling to the end of the rainbow, where a pot of gold was found which bought a gift for each, the happy young folks gathered under the oaks. The tables looked lovely with pink candles and pink sweet peas, carrying out the class colors—pink and white.

Miss Kate Odierne, president of the Junior Class, toasted the Senior Class, which was answered by Miss Nina Bell, president and valedictorian of the Senior Class.

The Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club was charmingly entertained at the attractive home of Mrs. W. T. Willis, Jr. last Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

The Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club met last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. G. Thompson, Jr. This was the last meeting of the season and Mrs. J. E. Kennedy was elected president for the ensuing year. After the games, the hostess served delightful refreshments.

In Memory of Our Dear Father

Mr. O. B. Bennett.

As the shadows of the night with its dismal gloom had passed over and the dawn of a new day was dawning, the Death Angel visited the room of our dear father on Tuesday, April 22, 1924, bringing the divine message, and as he took him in his loving arms and kissed his feverish brow he lulled him into that peaceful slumber of which no mortal can be aroused. For many years Daddy's health had been failing, his mind grew weaker and weaker, and at last the "home ties" were broken and on March 15, 1919, he was taken to the State hospital in Columbia for treatment. He suffered gradually for four years with Bright's disease and a weak heart. His mental condition improved wonderfully but never enough to warrant his return home. He never failed to recognize his family who constantly visited him and his letters were sometimes very encouraging. Two weeks before his death he took his bed with a severe attack of asthma, and in spite of all the medical attention he received from his family, doctors and nurses, our Heavenly Father thought his earthly journey complete and so He called him home.

His body was shipped to Cave on Wednesday morning, April 23, 1924, where it was met by the family, relatives and a host of friends, and was interred in the cemetery at Cave's Methodist Church. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Abkinson, pastor of the Barnwell Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. Jones, pastor of Cave's Church. He leaves to mourn his departure, a loving wife, Mrs. O. B. Bennett, of Barnwell, seven daughters, Mrs. W. D. Stone and Mr. H. A. Stalligs, of Albany, Ga., Mrs. D. I. Fenters, of Plemis, S. C., Mrs. Clyde Vickery, Misses Belle, Estelle and Reba Bennett, and one son, Brooks Bennett, Jr., of Barnwell, eight grand children, one sister and three brothers. To make the occasion doubly sad it had been only ten days since the body of his brother, Mr. W. H. Bennett, of the Old Soldier's Home in Columbia was shipped from Columbia and laid to rest in the Concord cemetery near his old home. Daddy was 74 years old, and was a noble character. He had a mild, peaceful disposition which was seldom disturbed, and was a dear, loving father, always ready and willing to do for others. He always looked for the better day, for his motto was "Live for others." With these thoughts in mind and with the blessed assurance from his own lips that he was safe in the arms of Jesus, we laid him to rest until that resurrection morn when he shall come and take us all in his folds to his eternal home, for with an eternal attraction like that will we all not prepare for that eternal home?

Dearest father, we have laid thee, In the peaceful grave's embrace, But thy memory shall be cherished, 'Till we see your heavenly face. Like a flower you passed away, Destroyed in all your bloom, You left this world and all your loved ones, To moulder in the tomb. As we saw you floating down the stream of time, We knew you could not much longer stay, For breath was growing weaker, But you would return on that great Judgment day. A face we loved to see is gone, A voice we loved is still, A place is vacant in our home, Which never has or can be filled. Safe in the arms of Jesus, Safe on His gentle breast, Sweetly his soul overshadowed, Gently it now rests. Dear father, how we loved you, No pen can write, no tongue can tell, But the gentle Shepherd calls you, So we must bid you farewell. Farewell, dear father, You have only gone before, And if we are just as faithful, We'll meet you on that golden shore.

By his daughters,
Reba and Estelle.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM

Our Day's Work

THE Southern Railway System is producing more than 100,000 ton-miles of freight transportation in the five minutes you spend reading this advertisement.

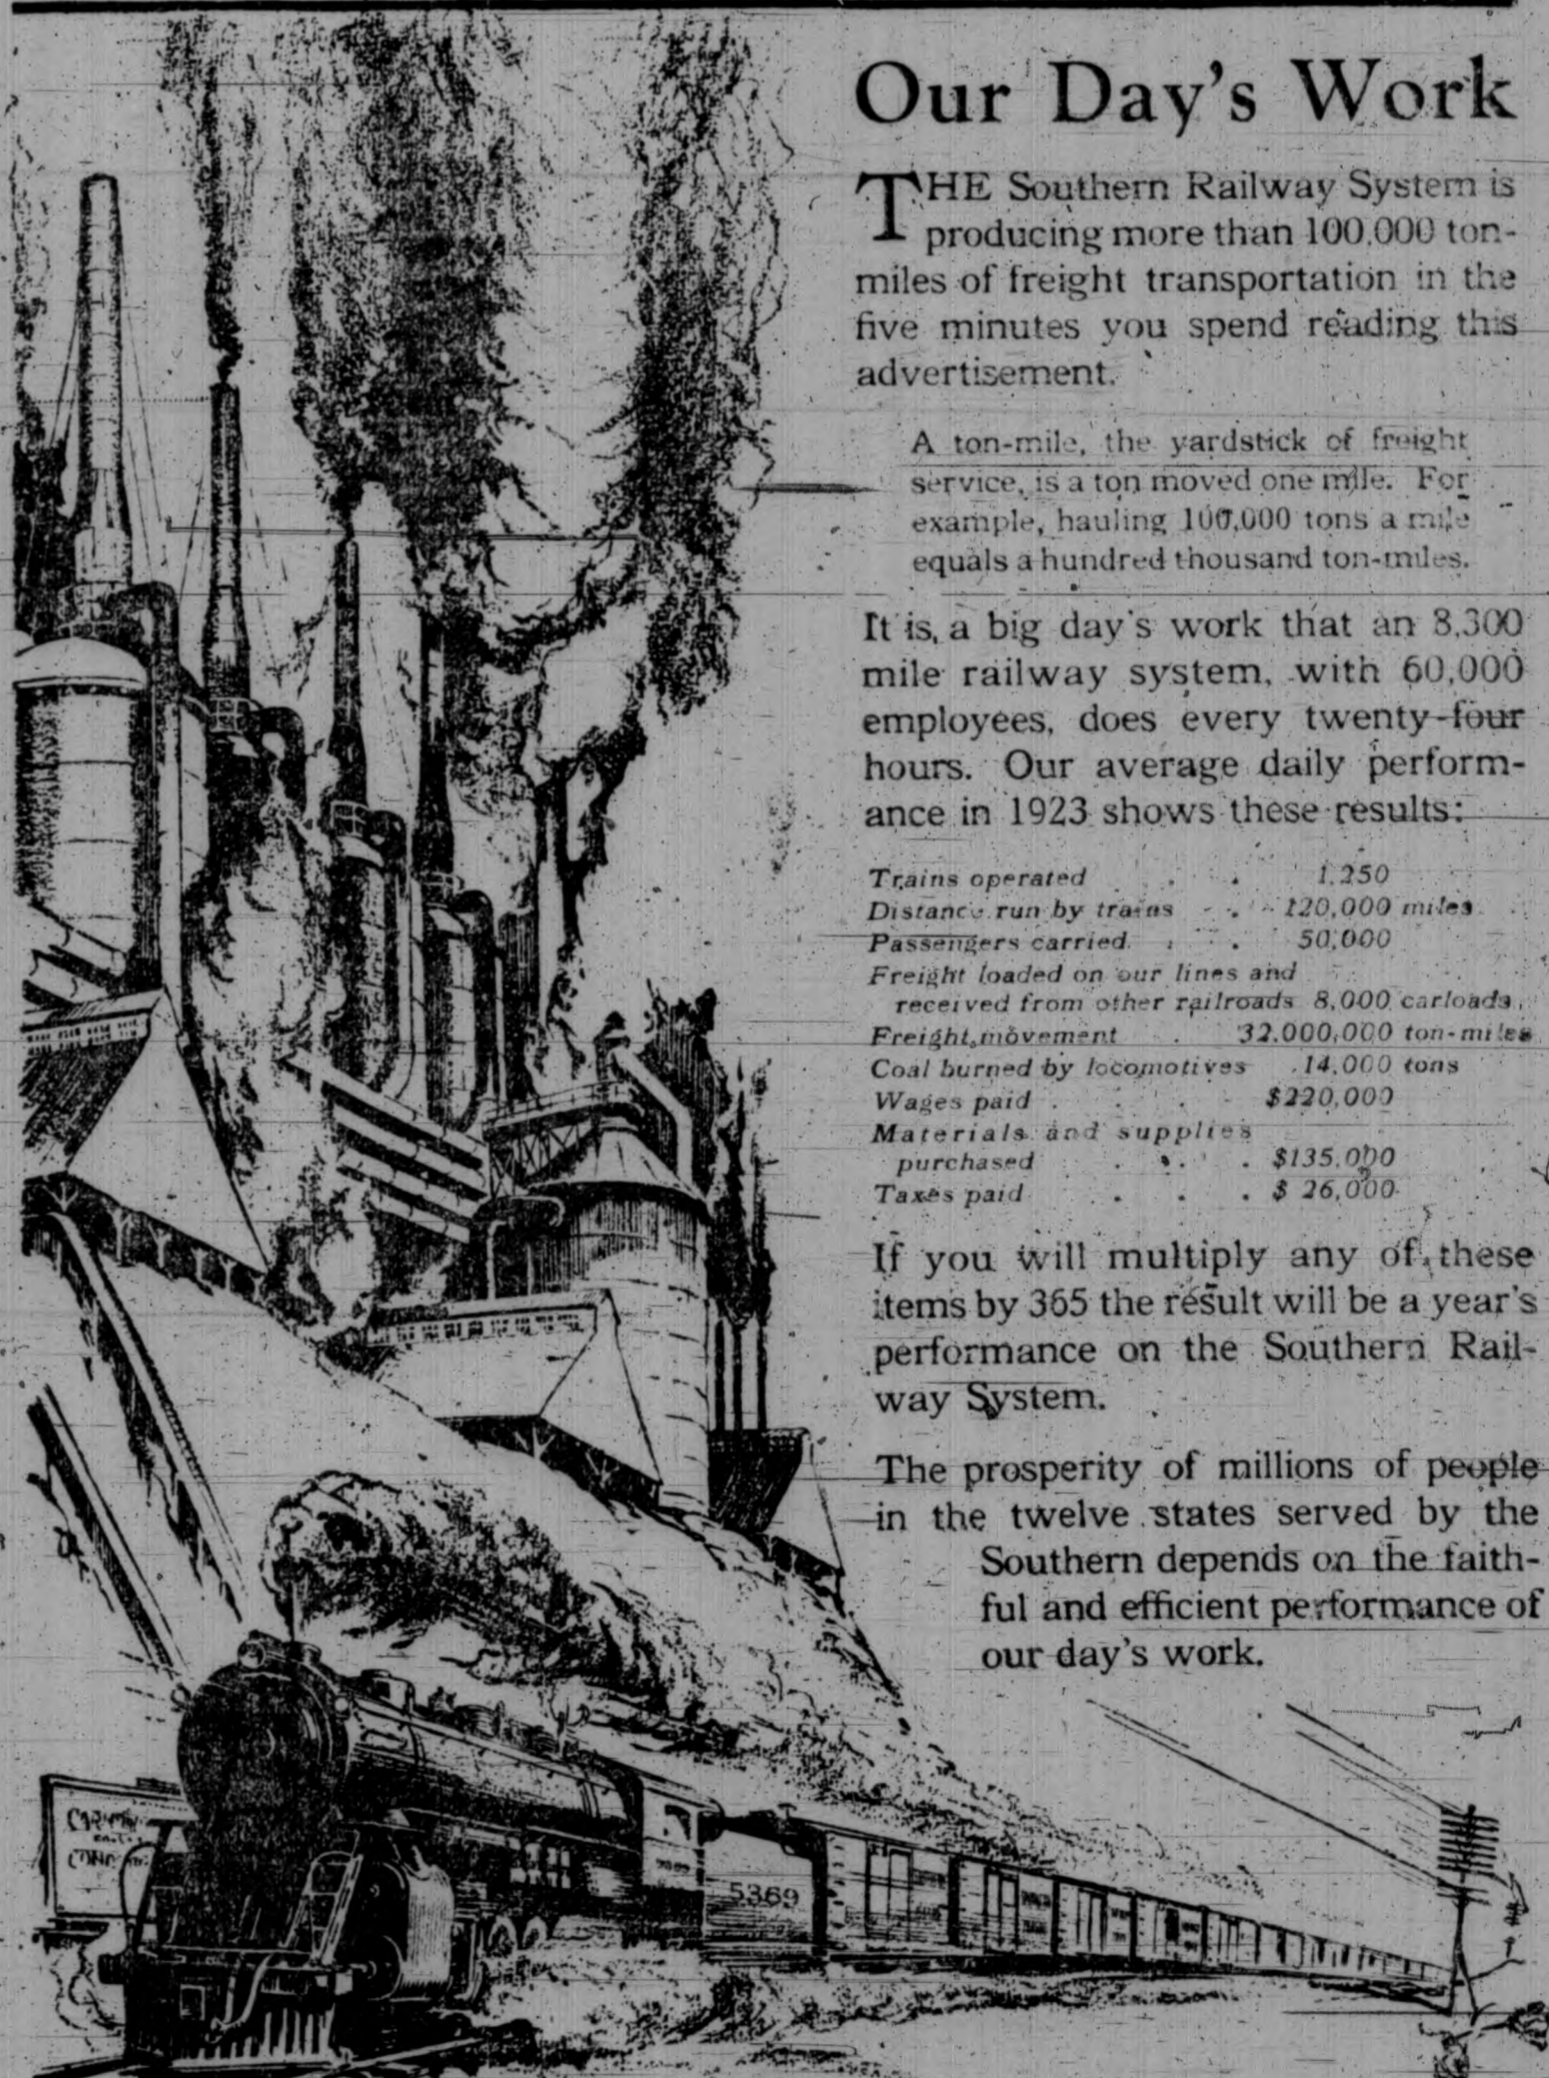

A ton-mile, the yardstick of freight service, is a ton moved one mile. For example, hauling 100,000 tons a mile equals a hundred thousand ton-miles.

It is a big day's work that an 8,300 mile railway system, with 60,000 employees, does every twenty-four hours. Our average daily performance in 1923 shows these results:

Trains operated	1,250
Distance run by trains	120,000 miles
Passengers carried	50,000
Freight loaded on our lines and received from other railroads	8,000 carloads
Freight movement	32,000,000 ton-miles
Coal burned by locomotives	14,000 tons
Wages paid	$220,000
Materials and supplies purchased	$135,000
Taxes paid	$26,000

If you will multiply any of these items by 365 the result will be a year's performance on the Southern Railway System.

The prosperity of millions of people in the twelve states served by the Southern depends on the faithful and efficient performance of our day's work.
