

THE BARNWELL PEOPLE

Entered at the post office at Barnwell, S. C., as second-class matter.

JOHN W. HOLMES 1840-1912

B. P. DAVIES, Editor and Proprietor.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One Year $1.50
Six Months .90
Three Months .50
(Strictly in Advance.)

THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 1925.

"School Buildings Continue Popular."—Headline. But not with the pupils.

Many a man would settle down and take a wife if he only knew whose wife to take.

Well, we have said all along that bad weather would follow the convening of the General Assembly.

It isn't much use to broaden some people's minds unless we also do something in the matter of their depth.

A scientist says that some day we will live on air. Our observation is that quite a number of people have managed to exist so far on hot air.

That amendment prohibiting persons under 18 years of age from working wouldn't be so bad if we had one that made everybody over 13 years old go to work.

Every member of the Indian Congress is required to spin 2,000 yards of yarn monthly. Spinning yarn seems to be about all a lot of our Congressmen ever do.

The rainfall in 1924 broke all records in the 38 years that the Columbia weather bureau has been in existence. Looks like 1925 has started out to hang up a new one.

A student has been discovered at Johns Hopkins Medical School whose name is Mr. I. That's nothing. Lot's of people around here never refer to themselves in any other way.

Nothing so quickly increases the needs of Government Departments as a Treasury Surplus.—Buffalo Evening News. Unless it is the possibility of tacking another tax on the automobile.

An optimist, according to the Asheville Times, is a man who believes his coal bill can be paid out of what he saves on his ice bill. Yes, and another is the guy who believes that two can live as cheaply as one.

MISS EMILY AND HER HAPPINESS By DOROTHY W. SPEAR

GOING TO THE DANCE?

"Fine. See you later." "Sure." "And Messrs. White and Ridgely escorted as they came out of the office building of Phillips & Company and set out for their respective homes. Behind them faded forth Emily Glenny, a fellow worker, who had overheard their friendly remarks.

"Why is it?" she thought, as she walked along. "Why is it that everybody is going to that dance but me? I'll stick home with a book and go to bed at half past nine, bored with life." Emily's thoughts grew more and more rebellious as she trudged homeward. She lived in a small town and she was decidedly "out of things." Reserved and shy, she had not put herself out to be lonely when she had come with her family to live in Sperry. So people had finally left her alone.

Picture family, then, one week later, on the train speeding to New York. She had asked a surprised employer for a winter vacation, and he had granted it. Emily had decided to visit a young married friend in New York, one Louise Andem. Louise was very charming and, being happily married, was eager to see her friends as happy. "I shall tell her everything," decided Emily—"that my diffidence is merely a shield for embarrassment, that I love dancing and pretty clothes and that men don't bore as I pretend. I shall spend all my money on clothes, and maybe Louise can help me. At least, I'll have had my fling?"

Louise's reception of the confession was all that could be desired. "Honestly, Em," she said, "I never did see where the old You had gone." And she laughed. "But we'll show 'em, Em; old girl—we'll show 'em!" And, seizing Emily's hands, she whirled her round the room. The next day the girls spent shopping and returned home happily tired. "Now I'll ask some people in to play mah jong; you wear that new dinner gown—remember you're attractive and prepare to do your darndest," said Louise.

And Emily obeyed. The guests came—another young married couple, an engaged couple and an odd man for Emily. Now Emily didn't blossom out astonishingly beautiful, nor decidedly brilliant. But she did look sweet in a new pale green gown.

These looks combined with a new determination to play the game of being socially successful, lent courage to Emily's shy reserve. Always she had had something to say, but timidity had kept it back. This night she contributed a bit of it. She was an attractive girl, and the unattached man, a Mr. Wade, intimated as much when, on leaving, he asked if she and Louise and Louise's husband would go to the theater with him. Emily's eyes sparkled as she referred him to her hostess.

As she and Louise stood waiting for the train which was to take her home, she said, "I am crazy to see if the folks at home notice any difference. And if they don't, old dear, you've given me a vacation I'll never forget! Why, look who's coming!" she broke off, and Louise turned to greet Mr. Wade, who came up breathless, suitcase in hand.

"Gosh, I'm glad I spotted you," he said. "I heard you say you were going on this train. Miss Glenny. I have to go to Providence on business, so I fixed it to go on your train," and he beamed.

Louise gave Emily a knowing look and whispered, as they parted: "Be sure to write me about it."

Emily and Mr. Wade had a pleasant trip as far as Providence, and there he got off, coming back to drop a magazine and candy in the chair he had vacated.

Emily sat back as the train pulled out of Providence, and prepared to think over the past ten days. She was aroused by a man's voice.

"How'd you do, Miss Glenny?" She came to, to see Kenneth Chadwick, one of the few eligible bachelors in Sperry.

"Why, how'd you do?" said Emily. "I got on the train at New Haven," said Mr. Chadwick, "and I've been sitting across the aisle all the way up, but you never even saw me. May I sit here?" and as Emily assented, he moved his traps across the aisle and sat down in the chair just vacated by Mr. Wade.

Kenneth Chadwick was a personable looking man, about thirty-two years old, and Emily had always thought he looked worth knowing. She thanked a kind fate that she was wearing new clothes and that she had acquired a new ability to converse.

She felt she had passed a milestone when Mr. Chadwick said, as they neared Boston, "Let's go to the dance at home tonight, will you?" "I should love to," this from Emily.

Now if you think that Emily's newly required charm became commonplace in the old home surroundings, you are mistaken. A man in New York had found her attractive, and so she had found herself.

In fact, Mr. Wade looked rather blank when, at the wedding of Miss Emily Glenny and Mr. Kenneth Chadwick, the bride said to him: "Mr. Wade, I owe so much of my happiness to you."

Send Us Your Job Work.

Bruises

Stops pain—prevents blackening. Keep fresh blood moving swiftly through a bruise. Apply Sloan's gently—without rubbing. It relieves the pain at once, clears out the congestion that makes bruises turn black and blue. All druggists—35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment—kills pain!

IF YOU HAVE Malaria, Piles, Sick Headache, Costive Bowels, Dumb Azue, Sour Stomach, and Belching; your food does not assimilate, you have no appetite, Tutt's Pills will remedy these troubles.

Notice to Debtors and Creditors

Notice is hereby given that all persons holding claims against the estate of J. A. Porter will present them to the undersigned duly attested, and all persons indebted to the estate of J. A. Porter will make payment to the undersigned.

Mrs. Emily M. Porter, Administratrix of the Estate of J. A. Porter, deceased. Brown & Bush, Attorneys. Barnwell, S. C., Dec. 24, 1924.

Easy Way to Break Severest Cough

No matter how long you have had a persistent, weakening cough—no matter how many remedies you have tried without success—you can usually get relief instantly, and often relieve the entire cough condition in 24 hours, by a very simple method. The method is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The prompt relief seems almost magical, and the quickness with which the whole cough condition disappears is often simply amazing. There is nothing better for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, bronchial asthma, hoarseness, and almost every throat irritation. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. On sale at all good druggists. Ask for

McLAURIN D. BROOKER DENTIST Office Over J. G. Moody's Store Barnwell, S. C.

COUNTY TREASURER'S TAX NOTICE.

The Treasurer's office will be open for the collection of taxes for the fiscal year 1924 from Oct. 15th, 1924, to March 15th, 1925, inclusive. A penalty of 1 per cent. will be applied to all taxes not paid by Dec. 31st, 1924. A penalty of 2 per cent. will be applied to all taxes not paid by January 31st, 1925.

A penalty of 7 per cent. will be applied to all unpaid taxes from March 1st to March 15th, inclusive—after which the books close and Executions will be issued.

Tax Rate as Follows: 2 mills for County Roads, 6 mills for State purposes, 4 mills for State School—6-0-1 law, 11 mills for ordinary Co. purposes, 1 mill for maintenance of pub. rds, 2 mills for Int., etc. on road bds, 1 mill for Inst., etc. past indebted, 3 mills for Constitutional Schools. Total 20 mills for all purposes. Road tax of $3.00 for all who are liable.

Tax on all dogs except suckling pups $1.25, must be paid in January 1925.

Table with 2 columns: Special School Levy, and list of schools with millages (e.g., Ashleigh 4 mills, Big Fork 12, Blackville 19, etc.).

J. B. ARMSTRONG, County Tres. Barnwell, S. C., Oct. 7, 1924.

AUDITOR'S NOTICE.

I will be at the following places for the purpose of taking the returns for 1925. Only personal property will be returned. Fifty per cent. penalty added for not making returns on or before Feb. 20th.

- Blackville, Friday, January 2nd.
Dunbarton, Tuesday, Jan. 6th.
Elko, Thursday, Jan. 8th.
Hilda, Monday, January 12th.
Kline, Wednesday, January 14th.
Mercatus, Friday, January 16th.
Meyer's Mill, Monday, January 19th.
Robbins, Wednesday, January 21st.
Seven Pines, Friday, January 23rd.
Williston, Monday, January 26th.
W. H. Manning, Auditor, Barnwell County.

Furman Athletes Discharged. Greenville, Jan. 3.—Indefinite suspension for hazing of J. R. Bivens, captain-elect of the 1925 baseball squad, and J. V. Herlong, star of the football team, were announced today by Furman University authorities. At the same time, disciplinary steps affecting other athletes also were taken. F. H. Orr and E. S. Harrell, both of the football squad, were restricted to the campus for 30 days. E. P. Riley, also of the team, was suspended from living on the campus the remainder of the session. M. T. Shull, of the baseball and basketball teams, was suspended for two weeks. Other students have been summoned by the faculty discipline committee for questioning in regard to charges of hazing.

BOILER FLUES MILL CASTINGS AND SUPPLIES BELTING, PACKING AND LACING WOOD, IRON AND STEEL SHAFTS PULLEYS HANGERS

Hall's Catarrh Medicine Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE consists of an Ointment which quickly Relieves by local application, and the Internal Medicine, a Tonic, which assists in improving the General Health. Sold by druggists for over 40 Years. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Wm. McNAB Representing FIRE, HEALTH AND ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANIES. Personal attention given all business Office in Harrison Block, Main St BARNWELL, S. C.

LONG TERM MONEY TO LEND Farm Loans 6 per cent., large amounts. Town property in Barnwell, residential and business, 7 per cent. Loans procured promptly at lowest cost. Allendale, Bamberg and Barnwell Counties. THOMAS M. BOULWARE Attorney-at-law Barnwell, S. C.

LONG TERM MONEY TO LEND 6 per cent. interest on large amounts. Private funds for small loans. BROWN & BUSH LAWYERS BARNWELL, SOUTH CAROLINA.

Severe Pains in Side "I HAD had quite a bad spell and sickness," writes Mrs. Emma Patrick, of Caney, Ky. "and it was an effort for me to go about my home. I had a very severe pain in my left side that almost took my breath at times. I lost my appetite, I grew thin, pale and lifeless. I fell off till I only weighed about 115 pounds. Pain, in certain parts of the body, is a sure indication of female complications. The treatment needed is not the use of narcotic drugs, but— CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

PROGRAM Vamp Theatre Week of Jan. 21st to 24th WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21ST—"BLACK OXEN"— With Corrine Griffith and Conway Tearle. Deals with the rejuvenation of a noted Austrian woman, who comes to America and astounds everyone with her beauty. She falls in love with a young playwright and is about to marry him. THURSDAY, JANUARY 22ND—"HAPPINESS"— With Laurette Taylor of "Peg O'My Heart" fame. A Melodrama where a poor girl and her first lover, go from poverty to a position of comparative affluence. FRIDAY, JANUARY 23—"THE SHOOTING OF DAN MCGREW"— With Barbara LaMoc, Percy Marmont and Lew Cody. A very wonderful picture, the drama of the triangle founded upon Robert Service's poem, with the characters going through adventures as by scenarist prior to their experiences described in poem. SATURDAY, JANUARY 24—"FLIRTING WITH LOVE"— With Colleen Moore and Conway Tearle. A drama of the stage in which the heroine, after a long struggle and on the verge of success, has her hopes blasted by a noted advocate of clean plays. She starts to avenge the wrong done her, only to fall in love with and marry him.