A Record-Breaking Success.

With the prestige of having broken all records for theatrical business, both in the large cities and "on the road," "The Clansman" comes to the Folk opera house on Monday evening, October 12th.

Everywhere "The Clansman" has stood out distinctly from other plays. For example, its success in Chicago eclipsed anything that had gone before. The critics received it with acclaim, and the best evidence of its popularity was the long list of ticket buyers, which, reaching as it did, for many blocks, was so unusual, that every newspaper in Chicago commented on the fact. What happened in Chicago was but a duplicate of "The Clansman's" extraordinary vogue in New York, Washington, Baltimore, St. Louis, Kansas City, and other great towns. Both company and production are identical with the original ones in the East. In the company are such sterling actors as Arthur DeVoy, Evelyn Faber, Abner H. Symmons, Edward B. McGuinness, M. A. Carpenter, Irving L. Quimby, Joseph R. Garry, John F. Carleton, Jas. R. Lorraine, William Lewis, James O. Sanders, Willard Tracy Flanagan, Georgie Lester Woods and Jessamine Woods. The dashing Ku Klux Klan cavalry of uniformed mounted men and horses forms one of the most thrilling features of the show.

Death of Mr. T. W. Hayden.

Mr. T. W. Hayden, a well known resident of this community, died at his home near town Tuesday morning, after an illness of a few weeks. He was fifty-five years old, and leaves a wife and three children. The burial took place Wednesday morning at Springtown church, the services being conducted by Rev. Thos. G. Herbert, pastor of Trinity Methodist church in this city.

Is a Wonderful Remedy.

A. M. Wilson, of Marinette, Wis., writes: "A friend gave me a box of Tetterine which I used with such satisfactory results that I want half dozen boxes by express. Have used everything for Tetter, but nothing benefited me until I used your Tetterine. It is a wonderful remedy; wish everyone afflicted with this terrible skin disease could know its merits." SOUTH CAROLINA IN CONGRESS.

Has Men of Influence in Washington. All Re-elected.

There is genuine satisfaction among the thousand or more Carolinians domiciled in the national capital over the fact that the South Carolina delegation in congress is to be returned for another term intact. There are many reasons for such satisfaction aside from the question of personal friendship, although it is generally admitted that the defeated candidates are not without a following, and had they been successful in defeating some of the other men they would not have been entirely among strangers here.

In returning her old men to congress for another term, the people of South Carolina have shown a deal of wisdom and are apparently beginning to turn some "Yankee" tricks, of which the Palmetto State has been in sore need in the past, and one of these is keeping her men in congress at least until they have proved their unworthiness and not dropping them after a trial of one or two terms. This fact alone accounts for much that the North has been getting, while the South has been sitting idly by and wondering; and now that the delegation from South Carolina is to be returned, it is decidedly up to the people of the State to give the seven members of the House their undivided help. The two Senators will probably be able to take care of themselves.

Taking a bird's eye view of some of the things that will likely happen this winter when congress meets, all signs point to the coming session as being one of the most important in the history of that body. From a local standpoint it will be more than ordinarily interesting and important for South Carolina.

The really big thing during the coming session will be a general rivers and harbors bill, carrying with it appropriations amounting to possibly $75,000,000 or $100,000,000, and it is well to remember that South Carolina has a man on the rivers and harbors committee of the House—Representative Ellerbe.

Before congress meets the annual rivers and harbors congress is to be held in ship-shape for the national law-makers when they get down to business after the Christmas holidays. There is every reason to believe that with Mr. Ellerbe on the committee South Carolina will get her part of whatever appropriations are to be made. Charleston harbor and the various rivers throughout the State that are navigable will all come in for a share of the distribution.

The river and harbor appropriation, while possibly the largest money bill that will be passed this winter, will not be the only important thing that will be considered. South Carolina has men on all the big committees, and they will undoubtedly be heard from, as they have in the past.

George Legare is in high favor in the House and is likely to accomplish a considerable amount of good for Charleston and the First District generally. The big Charleston Navy Yard is just now nearing completion and will need his hand to add the finishing touches in the way of appropriations. In addition to this many other First District matters will come under his watchful eye.

Representative Patterson, "Judge" Patterson, as he is known here—good fat and jolly—is coming back to Washington and his friends are right proud to hear it. The "Judge" has made good in more ways than one. It would have been a mistake to leave him at home now.

"Big Man" Aiken will also come again, and that's something to the credit to the Third District. Mr. Aiken is on the District Committee and knows every by-path and alley in Washington as well as he knows the people and stations on the old Columbia and Greenville railroad from Hodges to Alston. It was said last winter that if the form of government was ever changed here and the commission system abolished for a governor, Wyatt Aiken would be that man if it were left to Congress to decide.

When the time comes around for another public building appropriation bill, Representative Johnson will probably be heard from. There will be no bill of that kind this winter for Mr. Johnson to look after, but he will find plenty to do.

In sending Representative Finley back to the House for another term the people of his district may be sure that the trust will not be misplaced. Mr. Finley is the dean of the South Carolina delegation in the House, and his long service makes him well acquainted with every crook and turn in national legislation. He has done excellent work for the people of the rural districts in helping to extend the rural delivery mail service, and offices and post roads will no doubt be heard from again when congress meets. He has had good seasoning as a member of the House committee on post-legislative timber, and already the benefits of long continued service have become apparent when his record is examined.

If Representative Lever keeps up his past record he will be heard from before congress has been in session for many days. The farmers of the State have in Mr. Lever a true friend and a hard fighter. The Committee on Agriculture, of which he is a member, will undoubtedly tackle big propositions during the coming session, but none of them will be too big for the Seventh District Congressman.

The fact that Mr. Lever will return this winter without having opposition is good news to his friends here, and they will gladly welcome him again, with the other members of the South Carolina delegation.

There will be work a plenty for the South Carolinians representing the different districts to do before the next session of Congress ends, and the best results can only be accomplished by the solid backing and co-operation of the people generally.—Washington correspondence News and Courier.

An old judge of a New York court of record says that, if the law requiring an attorney of the courts to be of good moral character was strictly enforced, about ninety-two members of the bar out of each hundred would have to go into some other business.

SITES TO BE INSPECTED.

Government Agent to be Sent to Towns that will Get Buildings.

Washington, September 22.—The News and Courier correspondent was informed by the supervising architect of the treasury to-day that some time between the 10th of October and the 1st of November an agent of the treasury would be sent to South Carolina to inspect and report upon the acceptance of sites for public buildings, proposals for which were opened in July.

At the last session of Congress appropriations were made with which to purchase sites in Abbeville, Newberry, Laurens, Union, Gaffney, Darlington and Orangeburg; and, as just stated, proposals were opened early in the summer.

It is the custom of the treasury department to send out its agent to make a personal inspection of the sites that have been offered for sale to the Government. The bids that are sent in are only the preliminary steps by which the Government is guided in the purchases it subsequently makes.

It was stated to-day that such action would have been taken earlier but for the fact that Secretary Cortelyou has been away on his summer vacation and that such matters are always given his individual attention. The sending of the agents to South Carolina at this time is a very important matter. As soon as the locations for the different buildings that are to be constructed are decided upon the big force of men in the supervising architect's office will begin the plans for the buildings, and inside of a year and a half or two years the towns in South Carolina just named will have first-class Federal buildings.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Branch Office Established.

The law firm of Hendersons, composed of Messrs. D. S., E. P., and P. F. Henderson, has established a branch law office in Bamberg, which is in charge of Mr. E. P. Henderson. The office has already been opened and is now doing business. Mr. Henderson is a young attorney of ability, and we predict that he will not be long in making himself widely known in the legal fraternity.

He is the son of Mr. E. P. Henderson, was born and raised in Aiken, and received his early training at the Aiken Institute. He entered Davidson college, and graduated from that school with high distinction and then entered the law school of the University of South Carolina, where he graduated with the highest honors. He has had considerable experience in the law offices of Hendersons and goes to Bamberg well equipped to take charge of the new firm. All business will be transacted in the Bamberg office through the firm name of Hendersons, which in itself is quite a distinguished trust to be reposed in a young attorney.—Aiken Journal and Review.

School Children Draw Color Lin.

Topeka, Kans., Sept. 25.—Because they had to go to school with negro children, 60 white pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of the Lincoln street school walked out on a strike yesterday afternoon.

Under the board of education rules negroes and whites are segregated in the first six grades, but from the seventh grade upward they are together.

The receipts of cotton at this place bid fair to be larger than last season by several thousand bales. Last year the crop was short, and while it is not much better this year in this immediate section, still the high prices paid by Bamberg's buyers has brought much cotton here this season from a distance.
